Truman Urges U. S. Business To Cut Prices

Presidential Report Gets Varied Reception

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—(AP)—President Truman today called on business to cut prices, on Congress to maintain high taxes, and on labor to be moderate in wage demands.

He also asked extension of rent controls beyond June 30, the present expiration date.

The requests were contained in the President's first annual economic report to Congress. It met a varied reception. Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) called it "a policy for the preservation of the capitalistic system." Sen. Wherry (R-Neb) scoffed at it as "just a campaign statement."

Wherry and Sen. Moore (R-Okla) urged an end to rent ceilings and Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, told a reporter:

"I can't agree with the president's conclusion that we can't cut taxes, because we are going to adopt a budget that will enable us to cut taxes."

Mr. Truman said the courses he charted are essential to sustain jobs and production in a nation which, as 1947 opens, "has never been so strong or so prosperous."

Sees Danger Ahead

The danger ahead, he said, is that "consumer buying will falter" because price increases have cut into the public's purchasing power.

To prevent this from leading to factory layoffs and curtailed production, he urged prompt steps to bolster buying power. He emphasized price cuts more heavily than wage increases, as the way to do it.

And in a complete turn-about from the government's 1946 program of supporting nationwide "pattern" wage increases, the president said: Pay raises should be based on "individual situations throughout the economy."

The president also renewed his plea that high wartime taxes be allowed to stand. He wants them as a boost along the country's climb toward a balanced budget and national debt retirement.

The report, read separately in the two Houses of the Republican-controlled Congress, set these twin economic goals for the new year:

Employment maintained at the peacetime record level of 1946—about 58,000,000 civilians at work—"or slightly higher."

Production boosted to a total five per cent higher than last year.

Truman's Reasoning

He reasoned:

"If price and wage adjustments are not made—and made soon enough—there is danger that consumer buying will falter, orders to manufacturers will decline, production will drop, and unemployment will grow x x x."

An increase in wages alone could not solve the problem; therefore a "major approach" to bringing purchasing power into line with the nation's productive capacity "must be through reduced prices."

"Business should reduce prices wherever possible in order to bring about the necessary increase in consumer purchasing power to bolster their markets," said the report.

And labor, "for its own advantage as well as that of the country at large, x x x should refrain from excessive wage increases."

The message was sent to Capitol Hill 48 hours after President Truman's state of the union message. It was based on his reading of his state of the recommendations of the new three-man council of economic advisers, created by the Employment Act of 1946 and headed by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse.

A goal of 1,000,000 new dwellings started in 1947 was another recommendation, along with passage of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill in order to reduce the cost of housing.

Democratic Committee Warns GOP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee formally warned Republicans today that if they try to sabotage President Truman's program the responsibility will be "placed publicly where it belongs."

Oscar R. Ewing, acting committee chairman, said in a statement that "a great majority" in both parties share the President's views on labor, fiscal policy, foreign affairs and agriculture, but that Republican leaders appear to be ready to adopt revised policies in these fields.

GOP To Dine, Dance

His statement came from Democratic national headquarters as:

1—Republicans set the 10 days beginning February 6 for nationwide Lincoln Day celebrations at which the faithful will dine and dance in inaugurating a drive for the presidency in 1948.

2—Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee, admonished Republicans in Congress to concentrate on a positive legislative program free of any "pre-1948 maneuverings on the part of potential presidential candidates or the friends of such candidates."

Ewing noted what he called Republican efforts to "misinterpret" the President's message on the state of the union as a "partial acquiescence" in the intent of the Case bill which he vetoed last year. He also referred to GOP proposals to cut income taxes, oppose continuation of wartime excises, revise the international bank and monetary fund and change reciprocal trade policies.

Truman Sought "Co-operation"

He declared Republicans have avowed their intention to take other steps to "revert to isolationist foreign policy" and added:

"President Truman has made a sincere effort to seek the co-operation of both parties for the good of America. However, as the purposes of Republican leaders in Congress becomes clearer, the prospect of such co-operation becomes less and less clear.

"The Democratic Party most emphatically will refuse to co-operate in any isolationist program such as the Republican opponents of world economic co-operation now reveal. That course leads to World War III."

France Lowers Enlistment Age

PARIS, Jan. 8 (AP)—France lowered the enlistment age for volunteers to 18 years today in a move to raise military forces for a long-drawn military struggle with the Viet-Namese in Indo-China.

Announcement of the change from a minimum enlistment age of 19 "because of the situation in the Far East" was made by the Ministry of National Defense as dispatches from Indo-China told of new attempts of the Viet-Namese to infiltrate French positions in Hanoi, capital of Tonkin, and continued artillery duels there.

(In Calcutta, French Colonial Minister Marius Moutet told interviewers "I have reasons to think that extremist elements have captured all power and use President Ho Chi Minh's name to serve their needs." Ho is president of the Viet-Nam republic in Indo-China.)

A break in the encirclement of Hanoi was achieved, the French said in a communique, when a column advancing eastward from Hanoi linked up with another column driving westward from Haiphong on the coast.

Landing craft, which transported tanks and infantry up the Rouge river from Haiphong to Namdinh, successfully evacuated the besieged civilian population of that cotton mill town 50 miles southeast of Hanoi, the communique said.

Clash Is Unconfirmed

JERUSALEM, Jan. 8 (AP) — Police said they had received "as yet unconfirmed reports" that Jews and Arabs had clashed tonight in Tubas, a town of 10,000 population on the edge of the historic Esdraelon Plains.

Miss. Governor Would Reappoint Bilbo, Paper Says

Wright Reportedly Told Solons Of Plan

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 8—(AP)—The New Orleans Times Picayune, in a signed story from Edgar Poe, correspondent at Jackson, Miss., said tonight that Gov. Fielding Wright told members of the Mississippi Legislature today he definitely would reappoint Sen. Theo. G. Bilbo for an interim term if the Senate denies Bilbo a seat when he returns to Washington.

The legislators were not identified in the story which said several legislators who have conferred with the governor in the last few days have quoted the governor as saying he not only would reappoint Bilbo but would telegraph him his commission.

The story further quoted the solons as saying the governor had told them that despite his decision, "he did not intend to cross the appointive bridge until and if such a bridge arises."

Meanwhile, the story said, the Business and Professional Women's Club announced adoption of a resolution endorsing Mrs. Thomas L. Bailey, widow of the late governor, for the senatorial interim term, if one exists.

Under Mississippi law, should the Senate refuse to seat Sen. Bilbo, the governor would appoint a senator to serve until next November when one would be elected in a general election.

Bilbo Is "Grateful"

POPLARVILLE, Miss., Jan. 8—(AP)—Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo, commenting on a Times-Picayune story tonight saying Gov. Fielding Wright has said he will reapppoint him should the Senate deny Bilbo his Senate seat, said tonight he is "profoundly and inexpressibly grateful."

"I think the governor's decision is just recognition of the will of the great majority of the people of Mississippi," the senator said. "I feel honored," he added.

"When I get through with my operations and get well enough to fight to the finish I will return to the battle scene."

Byrnes To Deliver Radio Address Next Saturday

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said today he would speak before the Council on World Affairs here next Saturday and the National Broadcasting Company announced the speech would be carried over a nationwide hookup from 10 to 10:30 p. m. (EST).

Besides Byrnes, speakers on "Report from the World"—conducted by the council and Time Magazine—will include:

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Francis Cardinal Spellman; Alcide De Gasperi, premier of Italy, and Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to the United States.

Last Of Quads Dies

BRIDGEND, Wales, Jan. 8 (AP)—The last survivor of quadruplets born prematurely to Mrs. Peggy Thomas died tonight in Mid-Glamorgan Hospital. The baby girl's two brothers and sister died late last night, about 20 hours after their birth.

Period Of State Surpluses Nears End, Lane Says

Appeals For Harmony In Inaugural Address

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP) — Appealing for legislative harmony from both Democrats and Republicans, Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., said today in his inaugural address that the state was faced with a problem of finding additional revenue to submit a balanced budget.

Lane spoke to a large crowd which jammed the gaily-decorated House chamber and overflowed into the Statehouse corridors shortly after he was inaugurated Maryland's 56th governor at noon.

In the gayest inaugural ceremony since the first term of Gov. O'Conor in 1939, Lane nevertheless stressed the seriousness of the present when he briefly reviewed the fiscal problems facing the administration.

"The period of state surpluses, which were accumulated during the war period, is coming to an end," he said. "Anticipated surpluses for the next biennium will be absorbed in the next budget, and the problem we face is where to reduce budget requests and where to get additional income needed to submit a balanced budget."

Visitors Greet Governor

The Legislature, which convened its 1947 session a week ago today, gave all its attention to the inauguration and transacted no business other than the constitutional formalities necessary to install Gov. Lane. He had served five days of the term of Gov. O'Conor, who resigned last Friday to enter the United States Senate.

After the inauguration address, the Senate and House adjourned until 1 p. m. tomorrow. The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee was asked to meet at 11 a. m., and the Finance Committee after the Senate adjourns tomorrow.

Several thousand visitors who attended the colorful inaugural greeted the Governor and his family at a brief reception in the old Senate chamber after the inauguration ceremonies ended.

The Lanes then returned to the Government House where the official program had announced an open house from 2 until 4 p. m. It wasn't until 3:15, however, that the huge iron gates were swung open,

Group Named To Escort Lane Overlooks Duties

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—The usual little comedy of errors intruding into solemn state events was played today as Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., was sworn into office at the Statehouse.

Of the humor tinged incidents, the one that stood out was the fact that the new Governor waited ten minutes in his executive chamber while a joint Senate and House committee named to escort him to the House to make his inaugural address apparently overlooked its duties.

Finally House Speaker Sybert reminded the committee of the chore, but it was too late. The Governor, had waited long enough in his chambers, and deciding to come down, met the committee in the hall.

In the excitement of the moment, the Governor was announced as Governor-elect Lane, and Speaker Sybert banged down the gavel and made the same faux pas.

Earlier, the time element was also noticed when the Senate clock was four minutes fast. While the Governor was actually sworn in at 12 o'clock, the Senate clock showed 12:04. It was 12:06 when the ceremony ended—according to the Senate clock.

In the crowded Senate chamber, President Byrnes had difficulty in maintaining quiet and keeping the aisles cleared before the swearing in took place. In struggling to maintain quiet, Byrnes broke the handle of his gavel. He quickly picked up the head of the gavel and continued banging—quite unperturbed.

German Cruiser Sinks Six Months After Riding Out Two A-Bomb Tests

(Editor's note: Don Whitehead, Associated Press chief of bureau at Honolulu, headed the staff which covered last summer's atomic bomb tests at Bikini. Now touring Pacific island bases, he returned to the Marshall islands and reports for the first time this surprising aftermath).

By DON WHITEHEAD

KWAJALEIN, Jan. 8 (AP)—Disclosure was made by a naval officer today that the 10,000-ton Prinz Eugen, once proud cruiser of Adolf Hitler's navy, sank nearly six months after the Bikini atom bomb tests—suggesting the bomb is both slow and sudden death to big warships.

Apparently the cruiser was the fourth major victim of the second test of July 25. Other capital ships sunk by the underwater bomb were the 29,000-ton battleship Arkansas which went down almost instantly, the 33,000-ton carrier Saratoga which sank seven hours after the blast, and the 32,700-ton Japanese battleship Nagato which succumbed five days later.

The naval officer, who requested anonymity, said the Eugen, which helped sink the British battle cruiser Hood during the war, went down in Kwajalein lagoon December 16 despite frantic efforts to save her.

This is the naval officer's story:

The cruiser was brought to Kwajalein shortly after the "Crossroads" experiments—she was used in both tests—and anchored with other surviving target ships, most of them too radioactive for crews to go aboard.

The Eugen was at anchor with the Nevada, New York, Independence and Pennsylvania when she began settling by the stern and listing to port.

Tugs were rushed to her side. They towed her to a beach but at 10 a. m. on the morning of December 16, the sleek fighting ship, scarcely marked above the water line, capsized. Although damaged at the stern, she sank bow first because of the beaching operations.

"It was startling to everyone," the officer said, "because the ship appeared in such good condition."

Gen. Marshall Is Confirmed Unanimously

Unity Demonstration; Policy Review Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — In a swift and spectacular demonstration of unity on international affairs, the Senate today unanimously confirmed Gen. George C. Marshall as Secretary of State.

The Republican-inspired confirmation was followed immediately by a bipartisan move to call Marshall before a joint congressional session for a foreign policy review.

Marshall is now en route back to this country from China where he has spent the last 13 months as President Truman's special envoy to that nation.

Told by reporters at Guam that he had been named to succeed James F. Byrnes in the nation's top diplomatic post, the five-star General declined to discuss his plans or problems.

"Silent For Moment"

"I am sorry. I have to be silent for the moment," he explained.

On opposite sides of Capitol Hill in statements bridging party differences, the theme—continuation of an international policy free from political strife—dominated the public and private discussions over the surprise shift announced last night by the White House.

Sen, Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate that Marshall has the "total confidence" of the Republican-controlled Congress, and emphasized the need to demonstrate to the world this country's "continuing and effective bi-partisan foreign policy."

With these words, he won from the Senate permission to hold an immediate meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to act on Marshall's nomination, thus hurtling normal, time-consuming legislative procedure. The committee required only 12 minutes to approve the appointment.

Confirmed In 55 Minutes

Less than 55' minutes after the nomination reached Capitol Hill, the Senate had stamped it with its unanimous endorsement.

Chairman Eaton (N-NJ), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, told a reporter that it would be a "grand thing" if Marshall could appear before a joint session for a review of foreign policy in general, and of affairs in China in particular.

As did Vandenberg, he stressed the need for removing any doubt in the world on the direction and continuance of foreign policy, saying that "we can and must have an American policy without regard to breed or creed."

Sponsors of a Marshall personal appearance on Capitol Hill made it clear that he first should be given time to acquaint himself with the immediate problems within the State Department. The new Secretary must also make preparations for a momentous meeting of the Foreign Ministers in Moscow in March.

Troubles Besiege Londoner's "Wife"

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 8. (AP)—Mrs. Edith Christine Reynolds, 27-year-old brunette Londoner, today told of the troubles that came to her in posing as the wife of a man who was not her husband.

She and Harold Hall, 37, a London waiter who says he was prewar engineer there, are being held here by immigration authorities pending a deportation hearing.

They are charged with obtaining a false passport for Mrs. Reynolds in the name of Hall's divorced wife, Mabel Mary Hall, Whitechurch, Cardiff, Wales.

Mrs. Reynolds, at liberty under $500 bail, said she and Hall arrived in New York December 21 to take jobs as housekeeper and butler at the Greenwich home of Frank A. Morrow, salted nut dealer.

Her troubles, she told newsmen, started Christmas eve when Hall tried to choke her because she "continued to live as his wife in name only." She said she and Hall had separate cabins on the boat from England and separate bedrooms in the Morrow home.

PLEADS INNOCENT—Margaret Mildred Abney, 21, Conshohocken, Pa., brunette, is shown being taken to the Baltimore city jail after pleading innocent yesterday to a federal charge that she murdered her soldier husband, Jean Richard Abney. She was arrested at Fort Meade immediately after her husband fell with four gunshot wounds in his back and another in a leg.

Measure To Bar Closed Shop Introduced By Ball

Man Who Had Two Wives Kills Self To End Troubles

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 (AP) — The problems which arose when Norman Hart attempted to be a husband to two women prompted him to end his life, a coroner's jury decided today.

Hart's wives, Jean, 28, and Josephine, 42, gave this account of the 42-year-old truck driver's marital difficulties when they met for the first time today at an inquest into his death:

Hart married Jean two years ago without divorcing Josephine, who had seven children by him ranging from three to 16 years of age.

Six months later both women learned of Hart's dual marital status, so he maintained his home with wife No. 1, visiting wife No. 2 during the daytime.

Jean, who had urged Hart to return exclusively to wife No. 1, found his body slumped in a chair when she returned to her apartment late Tuesday.

Murray Raps Labor For Lack Of Unity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Sen. Ball (R-Minn) today introduced a bill that would abolish the closed shop, not only in the future but in existing contracts.

The Ball proposal would wreck any agreement—written or oral — that requires a person to be a union member in order to be hired or hold his job. It has strong support but not so much as some other current labor proposals—and a terrific fight is expected.

At the same time Sen. James Murray (D-Mont), long a fighter for unions, criticized labor for not getting together and working out a legislative program.

Murray, last year's chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, told an interviewer:

Labor Leaders Criticized

"I think it's unfortunate that labor leaders have been unable to sit down together, with their friends, to see what could be done to overcome some of these criticisms of labor, and to aid in the formulation of some of these things."

The Ball bill would abolish the following practices:

1. The closed shop, under which nobody can work in the plant unless he belongs to the union.
2. The union shop, under which a non-union man may be hired but must join right away.
3. Maintenance of membership, under which nobody is compelled to join the union but those who do join must stay members or be fired.
4. Preferential hiring, under which an employer must take union men ahead of non-union men for job vacancies.

Provides Fine, Jail

If Ball's plan is enacted, any person or labor union making such an agreement, or even seeking to obtain one, would be subject to a $5,000 fine, one year in jail, or both.

Furthermore it would be equally illegal to try to enforce an existing agreement more than 90 days after enactment.

Ball told a reporter: "Originally I had thought of exempting contracts

Burst Of Gunfire Ends Partnership

DETROIT, Jan. 8 (AP)—A three-way partnership was dissolved today in a burst of gunfire that left two men dead and one critically wounded.

The dead were Anthony Bonura, 61, and Peter Terwin, 55.

Harland D. Elwood, 48, the third partner, critically wounded, told Detective Sgt. John Cotter that Bonura shot him and Terwin in the office of their insecticide manufacturing firm.

The body of Bonura was found a short time later on the other side of the city. Police listed him as a suicide pending an official finding.

In a statement to police and representatives of the prosecutor's office, Elwood said he and Terwin planned to dissolve the partnership.

The conference was amicable, Elwood continued, with a secretary quietly taking notes.

"She left to go to lunch, and we were just walking out of the room when Bonura pulled out a pistol and shot us," police said Elwood related.

Police said they found in Bonura's pocket a letter addressed to his wife, Pearl. It read in part:

"It looked like the partners were trying to squeeze me."

Steamship Reported Sinking Reaches Port

KODIAK, Alaska, Jan. 8 (AP)—The steamship Lakina, which was reported in distress 20 miles off this port today, reached here safely this afternoon with a Navy vessel as escort.

The Lakina had reported water entering its engine room and its pumps "just holding their own."

Rent Ceilings On Transient Rooms Erased

Industry Planning No "Across Board" Hikes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—The government today ordered the removal of rent ceilings on transient rooms in hotels, motor courts and tourist homes, effective February 15.

The hotel industry promised immediately that the action will bring no "across the board" rate increases.

Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, head of the Office of Temporary Controls, said controls will be continued or non-transient rooms rented to weekly or monthly guests "under the present quota provisions of the rent regulations."

M. O. Ryan, Washington representative of the American Hotel Association, estimated there are 1,500,000 hotel rooms in the country. Of there, he said, 100,000 are in residential hotels, and "nearly every transient hotel has some permanent guest rooms."

Fleming said decontrol of transient rooms in individual hotels and motor courts will go into effect on or after February 15 "as each establishment applies for decontrol and supplies the Office of Price Administration with a list of its permanent rooms identified by room number or by location."

Ryan Issues Statement

Ryan issued a statement quoting executives of the hotel association as saying that decontrol of transient rooms "will result in hotel operators adjusting guest room rates in direct relation to increased operating costs, rather than making across the board rent increases."

J. E. Frawley, assiciation board chairman and managing director of the Fort Shelby Hotel, Detroit, Mich., said in the statement that "Despite the increase cost of doing business 'career' hotel men will maintain present minimum rates and make most of their adjustments in higher priced or luxury accommodations."

Glenwood J. Sherrard, president of the Parker House, Boston, defined a "career" hotel man as one who is in the business "to stay."

Fleming emphasized that no daily rates in hotels or motor courts will be decontrolled before Feb. 15 and that on that date the decontrol will be effective only where landlords have listed the specific rooms that from then on may be rented "for present weekly or monthly rates." He added:

Rooming Houses Not Affected

"It is as important to keep rent control on these permanent rooms as it is to continue or rent ceilings on apartments."

He added that these controls must continue "to protect the thousands of working couples, students, many of them veterans, and other persons of modest means who live in these accommodations. If these rooms were decontrolled and rents rose, the needs of these people would add to the already critically overcrowded housing situation," he said.

OPA said rooming houses are not affected by the decontrol order. The order also does not affect Washington, D. C., where rents are controlled by special statute, the agency added.

An OPA official said the order does provide, however, for decontrol of transient rooms in tourist homes as well as in hotels and motor courts, outside the Capital.

Mother, Three Sons Burn To Death In Farm Home

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 8 (AP) — A mother and her three small sons were burned to death and her husband was burned seriously today when their small farm home, about 20 miles southwest of here, was destroyed by fire.

A. B. Howard, 42, the father, was in serious condition in a hospital at Bessemernala, and had given no details of the blaze. The victims were Mrs. Mary Howard, 27, and her sons, Grady, 10; Paul, 8, and Malcolm, 5.

Howard rescued their baby daughter, Eunice, who was unhurt. He went back into the blazing structure but barely escaped himself.

Missions Council Is Told Church Must Abandon Class Distinction

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP) — The Christian church must abandon class distinction if it is to maintain "its traditional championship of human rights," a special committee of Protestant churchmen told the annual meeting of the Home Missions Council of North America tonight.

The committee, describing as "revolutionary" its 70-page document prepared for the council representing 23 major Protestant denominations, termed the problem of group and race relations "one of the great social and ethical issues of our day."

The statement listed these six considerations as "imperative" in developing the home missions enterprise here and in Canada:

1. "The full influence of the church shall be exerted to secure the eradication of racial segregation and discrimination, whether imposed by law or by social custom, and to fight against whatever implies for any group a 'ghetto pattern' of living.

2. "All religions or other missionary enterprises now organized on a basis of segregation should be reexamined with a view to removing as rapidly as possible all barriers to free intercourse without reference to race.

3. "The chuch at large should be summoned to accept the principle of ministry to all peoples on the basis of community, irrespective of race or social status.

4. "Wherever possible, experiments in inter-racial activities and associations should be promoted.

5 "Special study should be devoted to the strengthening of the ministry of the church among any groups or types of population now inadequately reached.

6. "Home mission forces should join with other forces, both inside and outside the church, in positive measures to relieve tensions and to promote mutual understanding and goodwill among all races and groups."

Truman Urges U. S. Business To Cut Prices

Presidential Report Gets Varied Reception

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—(AP)—President Truman today called on business to cut prices, on Congress to maintain high taxes, and on labor to be moderate in wage demands.

He also asked extension of rent controls beyond June 30, the present expiration date.

The requests were contained in the President's first annual economic report to Congress. It met a varied reception. Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) called it "a policy for the preservation of the capitalistic system." Sen. Wherry (R-Neb) scoffed at it as "just a campaign statement."

Wherry and Sen. Moore (R-Okla) urged an end to rent ceilings and Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, told a reporter:

"I can't agree with the president's conclusion that we can't cut taxes, because we are going to adopt a budget that will enable us to cut taxes."

Mr. Truman said the courses he charted are essential to sustain jobs and production in a nation which, as 1947 opens, "has never been so strong or so prosperous."

Sees Danger Ahead

The danger ahead, he said, is that "consumer buying will falter" because price increases have cut into the public's purchasing power.

To prevent this from leading to factory layoffs and curtailed production, he urged prompt steps to bolster buying power. He emphasized price cuts more heavily than wage increases, as the way to do it.

And in a complete turn-about from the government's 1946 program of supporting nationwide "pattern" wage increases, the president said: Pay raises should be based on "individual situations throughout the economy."

The president also renewed his plea that high wartime taxes be allowed to stand. He wants them as a boost along the country's climb toward a balanced budget and national debt retirement.

The report, read separately in the two Houses of the Republican-controlled Congress, set these twin economic goals for the new year:

Employment maintained at the peacetime record level of 1946—about 58,000,000 civilians at work—"or slightly higher."

Production boosted to a total five per cent higher than last year.

Truman's Reasoning

He reasoned:

"If price and wage adjustments are not made—and made soon enough—there is danger that consumer buying will falter, orders to manufacturers will decline, production will drop, and unemployment will grow x x x."

An increase in wages alone could not solve the problem; therefore a "major approach" to bringing purchasing power into line with the nation's productive capacity "must be through reduced prices."

"Business should reduce prices wherever possible in order to bring about the necessary increase in consumer purchasing power to bolster their markets," said the report.

And labor, "for its own advantage as well as that of the country at large, x x x should refrain from excessive wage increases."

The message was sent to Capitol Hill 48 hours after President Tru- union message. It was based on man's reading of his state of the recommendations of the new three-man council of economic advisers, created by the Employment Act of 1946 and headed by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse.

A goal of 1,000,000 new dwellings started in 1947 was another recommendation, along with passage of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill in order to reduce the cost of housing.

Democratic Committee Warns GOP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee formally warned Republicans today that if they try to sabotage President Truman's program the responsibility will be "placed publicly where it belongs."

Oscar R. Ewing, acting committee chairman, said in a statement that "a great majority" in both parties share the President's views on labor, fiscal policy, foreign affairs and agriculture, but that Republican leaders appear to be ready to adopt revised policies in these fields.

GOP To Dine, Dance

His statement came from Democratic national headquarters as:

1—Republicans set the 10 days beginning February 6 for nationwide Lincoln Day celebrations at which the faithful will dine and dance in inaugurating a drive for the presidency in 1948.

2—Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee, admonished Republicans in Congress to concentrate on a positive legislative program free of any "pre-1948 maneuverings on the part of potential presidential candidates or the friends of such candidates."

Ewing noted what he called Republican efforts to "misinterpret" the President's message on the state of the union as a "partial acquiescence" in the intent of the Case bill which he vetoed last year. He also referred to GOP proposals to cut income taxes, oppose continuation of wartime excises, revise the international bank and monetary fund and change reciprocal trade policies.

Truman Sought "Co-operation"

He declared Republicans have avowed their intention to take other steps to "revert to isolationist foreign policy" and added:

"President Truman has made a sincere effort to seek the co-operation of both parties for the good of America. However, as the purposes of Republican leaders in Congress becomes clearer, the prospect of such co-operation becomes less and less clear.

"The Democratic Party most emphatically will refuse to co-operate in any isolationist program such as the Republican opponents of world economic co-operation now reveal. That course leads to World War III."

France Lowers Enlistment Age

PARIS, Jan. 8 (AP)—France lowered the enlistment age for volunteers to 18 years today in a move to raise military forces for a long-drawn military struggle with the Viet-Namese in Indo-China.

Announcement of the change from a minimum enlistment age of 19 "because of the situation in the Far East" was made by the Ministry of National Defense as dispatches from Indo-China told of new attempts of the Viet-Namese to infiltrate French positions in Hanoi, capital of Tonkin, and continued artillery duels there.

(In Calcutta, French Colonial Minister Marius Moutet told interviewers "I have reasons to think that extremist elements have captured all power and use President Ho Chi Minh's name to serve their needs." Ho is president of the Viet-Nam republic in Indo-China.)

A break in the encirclement of Hanoi was achieved, the French said in a communique, when a column advancing eastward from Hanoi linked up with another column driving westward from Haiphong on the coast.

Landing craft, which transported tanks and infantry up the Rouge river from Haiphong to Namdinh, successfully evacuated the besieged civilian population of that cotton mill town 50 miles southeast of Hanoi, the communique said.

Clash Is Unconfirmed

JERUSALEM, Jan. 8 (AP) — Police said they had received "as yet unconfirmed reports" that Jews and Arabs had clashed tonight in Tubas, a town of 10,000 population on the edge of the historic Esdraelon Plains.

German Cruiser Sinks Six Months After Riding Out Two A-Bomb Tests

(Editor's note: Don Whitehead, Associated Press chief of bureau at Honolulu, headed the staff which covered last summer's atomic bomb tests at Bikini. Now touring Pacific island bases, he returned to the Marshall islands and reports for the first time this surprising aftermath).

By DON WHITEHEAD

KWAJALEIN, Jan. 8 (AP)—Disclosure was made by a naval officer today that the 10,000-ton Prinz Eugen, once proud cruiser of Adolf Hitler's navy, sank nearly six months after the Bikini atom bomb tests—suggesting the bomb is both slow and sudden death to big warships.

Apparently the cruiser was the fourth major victim of the second test of July 25. Other capital ships sunk by the underwater bomb were the 29,000-ton battleship Arkansas which went down almost instantly, the 33,000-ton carrier Saratoga which sank seven hours after the blast, and the 32,700-ton Japanese battleship Nagato which succumbed five days later.

The naval officer, who requested anonymity, said the Eugen, which helped sink the British battle cruiser Hood during the war, went down in Kwajalein lagoon December 16 despite frantic efforts to save her.

This is the naval officer's story:

The cruiser was brought to Kwajalein shortly after the "Crossroads" experiments—she was used in both tests—and anchored with other surviving target ships, most of them too radioactive for crews to go aboard.

The Eugen was at anchor with the Nevada, New York, Independence and Pennsylvania when she began settling by the stern and listing to port.

Tugs were rushed to her side. They towed her to a beach but at 10 a. m. on the morning of December 16, the sleek fighting ship, scarcely marked above the water line, capsized. Although damaged at the stern, she sank bow first because of the beaching operations.

"It was startling to everyone," the officer said, "because the ship appeared in such good condition."

Miss. Governor Would Reappoint Bilbo, Paper Says

Wright Reportedly Told Solons Of Plan

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 8—(AP)—The New Orleans Times Picayune, in a signed story from Edgar Poe, correspondent at Jackson, Miss., said tonight that Gov. Fielding Wright told members of the Mississippi Legislature today he definitely would reappoint Sen. Theo. G. Bilbo for an interim term if the Senate denies Bilbo a seat when he returns to Washington.

The legislators were not identified in the story which said several legislators who have conferred with the governor in the last few days have quoted the governor as saying he not only would reappoint Bilbo but would telegraph him his commission.

The story further quoted the solons as saying the governor had told them that despite his decision, "he did not intend to cross the appointive bridge until and if such a bridge arises."

Meanwhile, the story said, the Business and Professional Women's Club announced adoption of a resolution endorsing Mrs. Thomas L. Bailey, widow of the late governor, for the senatorial interim term, if one exists.

Under Mississippi law, should the Senate refuse to seat Sen. Bilbo, the governor would appoint a senator to serve until next November when one would be elected in a general election.

Bilbo Is "Grateful"

POPLARVILLE, Miss., Jan. 8—(AP)—Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo, commenting on a Times-Picayune story tonight saying Gov. Fielding Wright has said he will reapppoint him should the Senate deny Bilbo his Senate seat, said tonight he is "profoundly and inexpressibly grateful."

"I think the governor's decision is just recognition of the will of the great majority of the people of Mississippi," the senator said. "I feel honored," he added.

"When I get through with my operations and get well enough to fight to the finish I will return to the battle scene."

Byrnes To Deliver Radio Address Next Saturday

CLEVELAND, Jan. 8 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said today he would speak before the Council on World Affairs here next Saturday and the National Broadcasting Company announced the speech would be carried over a nationwide hookup from 10 to 10:30 p. m. (EST).

Besides Byrnes, speakers on "Report from the World"—conducted by the council and Time Magazine—will include:

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Francis Cardinal Spellman; Alcide De Gasperi, premier of Italy, and Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to the United States.

Last Of Quads Dies

BRIDGEND, Wales, Jan. 8 (AP)—The last survivor of quadruplets born prematurely to Mrs. Peggy Thomas died tonight in Mid-Glamorgan Hospital. The baby girl's two brothers and sister died late last night, about 20 hours after their birth.

Period Of State Surpluses Nears End, Lane Says

Appeals For Harmony In Inaugural Address

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP) — Appealing for legislative harmony from both Democrats and Republicans, Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., said today in his inaugural address that the state was faced with a problem of finding additional revenue to submit a balanced budget.

Lane spoke to a large crowd which jammed the gaily-decorated House chamber and overflowed into the Statehouse corridors shortly after he was inaugurated Maryland's 56th governor at noon.

In the gayest inaugural ceremony since the first term of Gov. O'Conor in 1939, Lane nevertheless stressed the seriousness of the present when he briefly reviewed the fiscal problems facing the administration.

"The period of state surpluses, which were accumulated during the war period, is coming to an end," he said. "Anticipated surpluses for the next biennium will be absorbed in the next budget, and the problem we face is where to reduce budget requests and where to get additional income needed to submit a balanced budget."

Visitors Greet Governor

The Legislature, which convened its 1947 session a week ago today, gave all its attention to the inauguration and transacted no business other than the constitutional formalities necessary to install Gov. Lane. He had served five days of the term of Gov. O'Conor, who resigned last Friday to enter the United States Senate.

After the inauguration address, the Senate and House adjourned until 1 p. m. tomorrow. The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee was asked to meet at 11 a. m., and the Finance Committee after the Senate adjourns tomorrow.

Several thousand visitors who attended the colorful inaugural greeted the Governor and his family at a brief reception in the old Senate chamber after the inauguration ceremonies ended.

The Lanes then returned to the Government House where the official program had announced an open house from 2 until 4 p. m. It wasn't until 3:15, however, that the huge iron gates were swung open,

Group Named To Escort Lane Overlooks Duties

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP)—The usual little comedy of errors intruding into solemn state events was played today as Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., was sworn into office at the Statehouse.

Of the humor tinged incidents, the one that stood out was the fact that the new Governor waited ten minutes in his executive chamber while a joint Senate and House committee named to escort him to the House to make his inaugural address apparently overlooked its duties.

Finally House Speaker Sybert reminded the committee of the chore, but it was too late. The Governor, had waited long enough in his chambers, and deciding to come down, met the committee in the hall.

In the excitement of the moment, the Governor was announced as Governor-elect Lane, and Speaker Sybert banged down the gavel and made the same faux pas.

Earlier, the time element was also noticed when the Senate clock was four minutes fast. While the Governor was actually sworn in at 12 o'clock, the Senate clock showed 12:04. It was 12:06 when the ceremony ended—according to the Senate clock.

In the crowded Senate chamber, President Byrnes had difficulty in maintaining quiet and keeping the aisles cleared before the swearing in took place. In struggling to maintain quiet, Byrnes broke the handle of his gavel. He quickly picked up the head of the gavel and continued banging—quite unperturbed.

Gen. Marshall Is Confirmed Unanimously

Unity Demonstration; Policy Review Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP) — In a swift and spectacular demonstration of unity on international affairs, the Senate today unanimously confirmed Gen. George C. Marshall as Secretary of State.

The Republican-inspired confirmation was followed immediately by a bipartisan move to call Marshall before a joint congressional session for a foreign policy review.

Marshall is now en route back to this country from China where he has spent the last 13 months as President Truman's special envoy to that nation.

Told by reporters at Guam that he had been named to succeed James F. Byrnes in the nation's top diplomatic post, the five-star General declined to discuss his plans or problems.

"Silent For Moment"

"I am sorry. I have to be silent for the moment," he explained.

On opposite sides of Capitol Hill in statements bridging party differences, the theme—continuation of an international policy free from political strife—dominated the public and private discussions over the surprise shift announced last night by the White House.

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate that Marshall has the "total confidence" of the Republican-controlled Congress, and emphasized the need to demonstrate to the world this country's "continuing and effective bi-partisan foreign policy."

With these words, he won from the Senate permission to hold an immediate meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to act on Marshall's nomination, thus hurtling normal, time-consuming legislative procedure. The committee required only 12 minutes to approve the appointment.

Confirmed In 55 Minutes

Less than 55 minutes after the nomination reached Capitol Hill, the Senate had stamped it with its unanimous endorsement.

Chairman Eaton (N-NJ), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, told a reporter that it would be a "grand thing" if Marshall could appear before a joint session for a review of foreign policy in general, and of affairs in China in particular.

As did Vandenberg, he stressed the need for removing any doubt in the world on the direction and continuance of foreign policy, saying that "we can and must have an American policy without regard to breed or creed."

Sponsors of a Marshall personal appearance on Capitol Hill made it clear that he first should be given time to acquaint himself with the immediate problems within the State Department. The new Secretary must also make preparations for a momentous meeting of the Foreign Ministers in Moscow in March.

Troubles Besiege Londoner's "Wife"

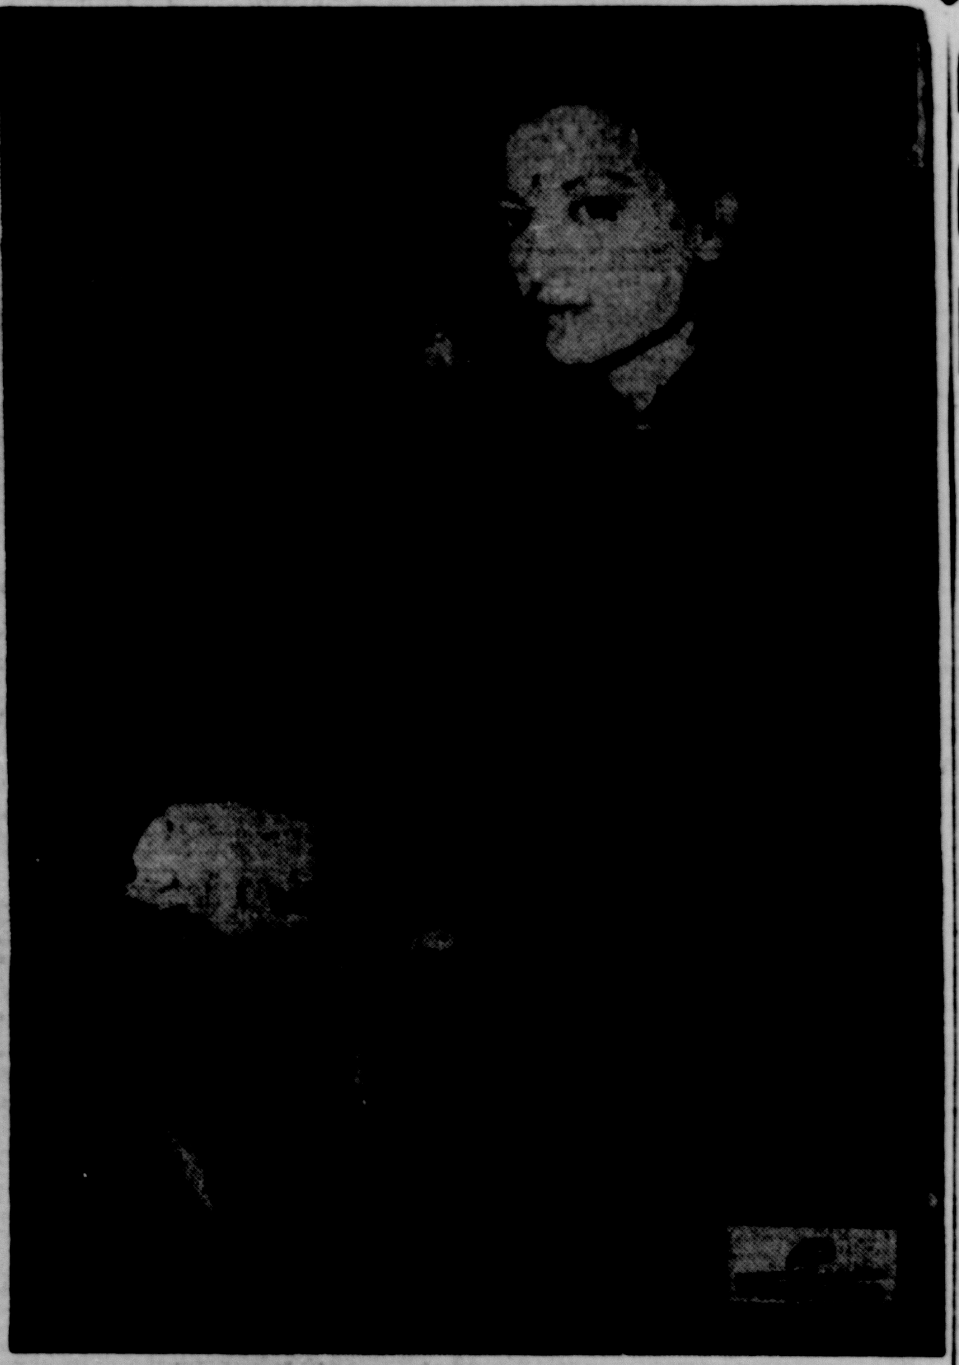
HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 8. (AP)—Mrs. Edith Christine Reynolds, 27-year-old brunette Londoner, today told of the troubles that came to her in posing as the wife of a man who was not her husband.

She and Harold Hall, 37, a London waiter who says he was prewar engineer there, are being held here by immigration authorities pending a deportation hearing.

They are charged with obtaining a false passport for Mrs. Reynolds in the name of Hall's divorced wife, Mabel Mary Hall, Whitechurch, Cardiff, Wales.

Mrs. Reynolds, at liberty under $500 bail, said she and Hall arrived in New York December 21 to take jobs as housekeeper and butler at the Greenwich home of Frank A. Morrow, salted nut dealer.

Her troubles, she told newsmen, started Christmas eve when Hall tried to choke her because she "continued to live as his wife in name only." She said she and Hall had separate cabins on the boat from England and separate bedrooms in the Morrow home.



PLEADS INNOCENT—Margaret Mildred Abney, 21, Conshohocken, Pa., brunette, is shown being taken to the Baltimore city jail after pleading innocent yesterday to a federal charge that she murdered her soldier husband, Jean Richard Abney. She was arrested at Fort Meade immediately after her husband fell with four gunshot wounds in his back and another in a leg.

Man Who Had Two Wives Kills Self To End Troubles

CHICAGO, Jan. 8 (AP) — The problems which arose when Norman Hart attempted to be a husband to two women prompted him to end his life, a coroner's jury decided today.

Hart's wives, Jean, 28, and Josephine, 42, gave this account of the 42-year-old truck driver's marital difficulties when they met for the first time today at an inquest into his death:

Hart married Jean two years ago without divorcing Josephine, who had seven children by him ranging from three to 16 years of age.

Six months later both women learned of Hart's dual marital status, so he maintained his home with wife No. 1, visiting wife No. 2 during the daytime.

Jean, who had urged Hart to return exclusively to wife No. 1, found his body slumped in a chair when she returned to her apartment late Tuesday.

Burst Of Gunfire Ends Partnership

DETROIT, Jan. 8 (AP)—A three-way partnership was dissolved today in a burst of gunfire that left two men dead and one critically wounded.

The dead were Anthony Bonura, 61, and Peter Terwin, 55.

Harland D. Elwood, 48, the third partner, critically wounded, told Detective Sgt. John Cotter that Bonura shot him and Terwin in the office of their insecticide manufacturing firm.

The body of Bonura was found a short time later on the other side of the city. Police listed him as a suicide pending an official finding.

In a statement to police and representatives of the prosecutor's office, Elwood said he and Terwin planned to dissolve the partnership.

The conference was amicable, Elwood continued, with a secretary quietly taking notes.

"She left to go to lunch, and we were just walking out of the room when Bonura pulled out a pistol and shot us," police said Elwood related.

Police said they found in Bonura's pocket a letter addressed to his wife, Pearl. It read in part:

"It looked like the partners were trying to squeeze me."

Steamship Reported Sinking Reaches Port

KODIAK, Alaska, Jan. 8 (AP)—The steamship Lakina, which was reported in distress 20 miles off this port today, reached here safely this afternoon with a Navy vessel as escort.

The Lakina had reported water entering its engine room and its pumps "just holding their own."

The ship, a 250-foot passenger-freight vessel of 2,059 gross tons, carried 13 passengers.

Murray Raps Labor For Lack Of Unity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 (AP)—Sen. Ball (R-Minn) today introduced a bill that would abolish the closed shop, not only in the future but in existing contracts.

The Ball proposal would wreck any agreement—written or oral — that requires a person to be a union member in order to be hired or hold his job. It has strong support but not so much as some other current labor proposals—and a terrific fight is expected.

At the same time Sen. James Murray (D-Mont), long a fighter for unions, criticized labor for not getting together and working out a legislative program.

Murray, last year's chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, told an interviewer:

Labor Leaders Criticized

"I think it's unfortunate that labor leaders have been unable to sit down together, with their friends, to see what could be done to overcome some of these criticisms of labor, and to aid in the formulation of some of these things."

The Ball bill would abolish the following practices:

1. The closed shop, under which nobody can work in the plant unless he belongs to the union.
2. The union shop, under which a non-union man may be hired but must join right away.
3. Maintenance of membership, under which nobody is compelled to join the union but those who do join must stay members or be fired.
4. Preferential hiring, under which an employer must take union men ahead of non-union men for job vacancies.

Provides Fine, Jail

If Ball's plan is enacted, any person or labor union making such an agreement, or even seeking to obtain one, would be subject to a $5,000 fine, one year in jail, or both.

Furthermore it would be equally illegal to try to enforce an existing agreement more than 90 days after enactment.

Ball told a reporter: "Originally I had thought of exempting contracts

Rent Ceilings On Transient Rooms Erased

Industry Planning No "Across Board" Hikes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—The government today ordered the removal of rent ceilings on transient rooms in hotels, motor courts and tourist homes, effective February 15.

The hotel industry promised immediately that the action will bring no "across the board" rate increases.

Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, head of the Office of Temporary Controls, said controls will be continued on non-transient rooms rented to weekly or monthly guests "under the present quota provisions of the rent regulations."

M. O. Ryan, Washington representative of the American Hotel Association, estimated there are 1,500,000 hotel rooms in the country. Of there, he said, 100,000 are in residential hotels, and "nearly every transient hotel has some permanent guest rooms."

Fleming said decontrol of transient rooms in individual hotels and motor courts will go into effect on or after February 15 "as each establishment applies for decontrol and supplies the Office of Price Administration with a list of its permanent rooms identified by room number or by location."

Ryan Issues Statement

Ryan issued a statement quoting executives of the hotel association as saying that decontrol of transient rooms "will result in hotel operators adjusting guest room rates in direct relation to increased operating costs, rather than making across the board rent increases."

J. E. Frawley, assiciation board chairman and managing director of the Fort Shelby Hotel, Detroit, Mich., said in the statement that "Despite the increase cost of doing business 'career' hotel men will maintain present minimum rates and make most of their adjustments in higher priced or luxury accommodations."

Glenwood J. Sherrard, president of the Parker House, Boston, defined a "career" hotel man as one who is in the business "to stay."

Fleming emphasized that no daily rates in hotels or motor courts will be decontrolled before Feb. 15 and that on that date the decontrol will be effective only where landlords have listed the specific rooms that from then on may be rented "for present weekly or monthly rates." He added:

Rooming Houses Not Affected

"It is as important to keep rent control on these permanent rooms as it is to continue or rent ceilings on apartments."

He added that these controls must continue "to protect the thousands of working couples, students, many of them veterans, and other persons of modest means who live in these accommodations. If these rooms were decontrolled and rents rose, the needs of these people would add to the already critically overcrowded housing situation," he said.

OPA said rooming houses are not affected by the decontrol order. The order also does not affect Washington, D. C., where rents are controlled by special statute, the agency added.

An OPA official said the order does provide, however, for decontrol of transient rooms in tourist homes as well as in hotels and motor courts, outside the Capital.

Mother, Three Sons Burn To Death In Farm Home

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 8 (AP) — A mother and her three small sons were burned to death and her husband was burned seriously today when their small farm home, about 20 miles southwest of here, was destroyed by fire.

A. B. Howard, 42, the father, was in serious condition in a hospital at Bessemernala, and had given no details of the blaze. The victims were Mrs. Mary Howard, 27, and her sons, Grady, 10; Paul, 8, and Malcolm, 5.

Howard rescued their baby daughter, Eunice, who was unhurt. He went back into the blazing structure but barely escaped himself.

Missions Council Is Told Church Must Abandon Class Distinction

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa., Jan. 8 (AP) — The Christian church must abandon class distinction if it is to maintain "its traditional championship of human rights," a special committee of Protestant churchmen told the annual meeting of the Home Missions Council of North America tonight.

The committee, describing as "revolutionary" its 70-page document prepared for the council representing 23 major Protestant denominations, termed the problem of group and race relations "one of the great social and ethical issues of our day."

The statement listed these six considerations as "imperative" in developing the home missions enterprise here and in Canada:

1. "The full influence of the church shall be exerted to secure the eradication of racial segregation and discrimination, whether imposed by law or by social custom, and to fight against whatever implies for any group a 'ghetto pattern' of living.

2. "All religions or other missionary enterprises now organized on a basis of segregation should be re-examined with a view to removing as rapidly as possible all barriers to free intercourse without reference to race.

3. "The chuch at large should be summoned to accept the principle of ministry to all peoples on the basis of community, irrespective of race or social status.

4. "Wherever possible, experiments in inter-racial activities and associations should be promoted.

5 "Special study should be devoted to the strengthening of the ministry of the church among any groups or types of population now inadequately reached.

6. "Home mission forces should join with other forces, both inside and outside the church, in positive measures to relieve tensions and to promote mutual understanding and goodwill among all races and groups."

British Cabinet Ready To Tackle Holy Land Issue

Officials Wind Up Series Of Meetings

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP) — British officials wound up tonight the last of a 10-day series of conferences in preparation for tomorrow's Cabinet meeting on Palestine, amid reports that the ministers had decided against imposing martial law on the Holy Land.

The Cabinet, called into special session, was expected to consider immediate measures for peace in Palestine, and to chart a long-range program probably calling for the creation of independent Arab and Jewish states.

More Power For Cunningham

Government sources said that broader powers already had been authorized for Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner, who is now in London for the discussions. These powers include the making of important, on-the-spot decisions in dealing with underground violence, the informants said.

However, the Cabinet reportedly has been swayed away from the opinion — said to have been held by some of its members — that martial law should be clamped over all of Palestine unless violence subsides.

The final conferences during the day were between Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones and David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive who will leave tomorrow for Palestine. Jones was reported to have urged the Jewish leader to press for an end to violence.

Underground Truce Reported

In Palestine itself, there were rumors that two extremist organizations—Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern Gang—had decided to forego violence for 60 days during the crucial negotiations on the Holy Land's future.

An Irgun broadcast said that "the fight will continue" if the Jewish Agency agrees to partition or federation.

Palestine officials announced that 18 Jews—12 of them said to be members of Irgun—had been arrested in screening operations in Rishon Lezion, a town of 12,000 in the center of Palestine's Jewish wine industry.

Man Sought In Killing Of Woman Found Dead

ESSEX, Md., Jan. 8—(AP)—A man identified as Lewis Godfrey Votta, 38, who Essex police said had been sought for questioning since the slaying of a Baltimore woman five days ago, was found dead in his automobile today, and a medical examiner listed the case as "probable suicide."

Patrolmen Lawrence Heinle and Lawrence Kahl said the automobile was parked in an abandoned gravel pit and that a rubber tube had been wired to the exhaust pipe and brought through the rear floorboard.

Dr. Walter Carmine, assistant medical examiner, said the death probably was "suicide from carbon monoxide poisoning."

Authorities said Botta had been sought since shortly after Mrs. Elizabeth Stein, 39, was found dead in her bed Saturday morning by her son, 13. She had been shot through the right eye.

and the crowd which had lined up for more than two blocks began filing into the Governor's home.

Flanked by his predecessor, now United States Sen. O'Conor, and followed by United States Sen. Tydings and others of the official party, Lane entered the Senate chamber promptly at noon.

He went to the president's rostrum and immediately took the oath of office which was administered by Chief Judge Ogle Marbury, of the Court of Appeals. Lane then returned with his escort to the executive office and sent the nomination of former State Sen. John B. Funk, of Brunswick, to the Senate for confirmation as Secretary of State.

Address Is Delayed

Senators and delegates then moved to the House chamber for the inaugural address, which was delayed five minutes by a mixup in the escort plans.

Without criticizing the Sherbow Commission directly, Lane declared with emphasis that:

"It is easy to make suggestions to give funds away, but it is much more difficult to accumulate the funds to distribute. The hard task will be ours."

The Sherbow Commission was appointed by Gov. O'Conor to study state finances and recommend equal distribution of income between the counties and Baltimore City.

The commission, he observed, had not yet "suggested how the state can do this and continue to function at anywhere near existing or proposed standards."

Lane said that departmental budget requests for the next biennium totalled approximately $36,000,000 more than the $66,000,000 budget for the past two years.

The Chief Executive said the state must discharge its obligations to war veterans; that additional hospital facilities must be made available to the needy, along with improvements in the state's welfare, program and mental hospitals; continued conservation and development of the state's seafood, game and other resources; expansion and scientific development of Maryland's agricultural resources.

already in existence. But we found that some contracts have no termination date and that led to complications. So we decided to outlaw them all 90 days after enactment of the bill."

The bill would apply only to those companies affecting interstate commerce. Most big companies do.

Unions have always fiercely fought any attempts to ban the closed shop. Five states, Arkansas, Florida, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Arizona, have put anti-closed shop clauses into the constitutions.

But the closed shop has not actually ceased in those states, and the question of whether the clauses are constitutional is still in the courts.

"Voice" Of Mankind United Is Indicted On Charge Of Fraud

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Arthur L. Bell, head of the Church of the Golden Rule and former "voice" of Mankind United, was indicted today by a United States grand jury on a charge of bankruptcy fraud.

He is accused of withholding records of contributions of church members within a two-year period preceding the bankruptcy of the organization.

State Attorney General Robert W. Kenny seized assets of the church in 1945 and Bell instituted bankruptcy proceedings in the federal court.

Bell contended the records were his personal property and that the donations were made to him rather than to the church.

State Republicans Present Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP) — The Maryland Federation of Republicans presented today to the party's minority leaders in the General Assembly an eight-point legislative program which a statement termed worthy of serious consideration.

The statement was signed by five Republicans, among them supporters of John Markey, defeated United States Senate candidate.

Listed as a legislative program were these:

Overhauling of state election machinery including provision for a recount and court nomination of election judges.

Elevating police magistrate courts, traffic courts and State Industrial Accident Commission posts to full-time jobs.

Revision of the workmen's compensation law to benefit "permanently partially disabled" persons.

Generalizing the right of lawyers of the state to practice in all jurisdictions of Maryland.

Providing for review of a judge's disturbance of a jury's verdict.

A study of Baltimore police pay to attract men "of the best caliber."

A new curb on election expenditures.

New minimum qualifications for public office.

A new uniform system of education in all counties.

Teen-Age Bride Flees From Mate

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Jan. 8 (AP)—Madeline Psaltis Grechis, pretty teen-age bride, said today she ran away from her husband and a scheduled church wedding in Albuquerque, N. M., "because I didn't love him."

The girl, detained by police here at the request of her parents, told a reporter that she had agreed, in a telephone conversation with her parents, to return home if they would not insist in proceeding with the church wedding plans.

The girl, who says she is 17, was married to Constantine (Gus) Grechis in a civil ceremony in Sandoval county, N. M., last September 2.

An aunt of the bridegroom said last night in Albuquerque that "the civil ceremony was merely a formality and the young couple would not be considered married unless the ceremony was performed in the Greek Orthodox Church."

Madeline said today that her parents had consented to dropping the church marriage plans. Police awaited further instructions from the father, Paul Psaltis.

Madeline came to Port Arthur by chance, she related. She went to the Albuquerque bus station intending to go to San Diego, Calif., where she has relatives, she said, but the bus was several hours late so she took an east-bound bus instead.

On the bus she met Ellen Borstick, 18, of Port Arthur, and accepted the girl's invitation to visit her there.

Coast Guard Reports No SOS From Transport

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—(AP)—The Coast Guard said tonight it had received no SOS from the Marine Shark, which left Naples December 30 with 500 passengers, bound for New York, despite an unconfirmed report that the transport had broadcast a call for help.

The unconfirmed report circulated in Naples, Italy, maritime circles.

A Coast Guard spokesman said that the Marine Shark passed Gibraltar six days ago and would be well within the radius of the guard's listening posts. Its schedule called for docking here January 10.

Meadows' Plans For Jail Reform Face Opposition

W. Va. Chief Would Raise Teachers' Pay

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—A rocky legislative road probably lies ahead for any system of jail reform that would disturb the sheriffs' present fee system, a change which Gov. Clarence C. Meadows proposed to the 48th West Virginia Legislature at its opening today.

Informal comment of the legislators after Meadows' 8,000-word biennial message all was to the effect that the subject could be regarded only as a "hot potato."

Adjourn Until Tuesday

Organizing with dispatch, both houses seated their incumbent officers, heard the Governor's address to a joint assembly, then adjourned until next Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Speaking for an hour in a broadcast address Meadows proposed raising the pay of school teachers and all other state employes, launching a broad road-building program with particular attention to farm-to-market routes, and improving facilities of state institutions and taking steps to improve the professional standards of their personnel.

On the subject of fees paid sheriffs for feeding prisoners, Meadows referred to an "uncomplimentary" report on West Virginia's jails by the United States Bureau of Prisons and described the present method as the "root of the present evil."

Piper's Reaction

Delegate William C. Piper (R-Ohio), one of the few willing to be quoted on his reactions to this phase of the Meadows speech, said the suggestion was a good one provided an equitable salary system could be devised for sheriffs that would compensate for their loss of fees under the present arrangement.

Of the Governor's recommendations generally, Minority Leader J. C. Powell (R-Pleasants) said the Republicans would "give serious consideration to the suggestions."

$6,000,000 Fire Rages Through Two Piers

WEEHAWKEN, N. J., Jan. 8. (AP)—A $6,000,000 waterfront fire raged through two piers of the sprawling New York Central yards early today, lighting up the Hudson river area and casting the ruddy glow of an artificial dawn over much of midtown Manhattan.

The blaze lasted for more than five hours before being brought under control by a fleet of three New York City fireboats and 20 railroad tugboats, aided by firemen from four New Jersey municipalities.

Eleven firemen and five railroad employes were injured, none seriously.

Viscose Strike Threat Averted Temporarily

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—A strike threat in seven plants of the American Viscose Corporation in Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia was averted temporarily tonight when company and union representatives agreed to an indefinite extension of the present contract.

United States Conciliator John Murray said the company had agreed with the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) to extend the contract until negotiations now going on before Murray were completed.

Negotiations in the regional conciliation offices here will be resumed at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow and indications were that they would be completed in several days. Murray said both company and union were

Cause Of Pioneer Woman Pilot's Death Is Sought

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Chemical tests are being made to determine the exact cause of the death of Helen Richey, 37, pioneer woman pilot found dead of a "general visceral congestion" last night.

Dr. Milton Helpern, assistant medical examiner, said following an autopsy this morning that results of further chemical tests would be made known in about five days.

Clad in pajamas, Miss Richey was found dead in bed in her modest Chelsea apartment by the building superintendent. He had been summoned by a friend of the aviatrix who had been unable to get an answer from the apartment.

"giving me 100 per cent co-operation."

Polio Victim Completes Journey By Wheel Chair

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Jan. 8 (AP)—Wesley Engquist, 26-year-old victim of infantile paralysis who made a circuitous 6,750-mile wheel chair trip to the infantile paralysis foundation here, was admitted today to the hospital for examination.

Officials said no decision on admitting Engquist for treatment could be made until after the examinations which normally require from two to three days.

Engquist said he wheeled himself 525 miles and hitched rides in 71 trucks for the remainder of the indirect journey from his home in Fremont, Neb. He travelled through 13 states in five months.

Tests with butterflies prove that the color, and not the odor, of flowers attracts them.

British Cabinet Ready To Tackle Holy Land Issue

Officials Wind Up Series Of Meetings

LONDON, Jan. 8 (AP) — British officials wound up tonight the last of a 10-day series of conferences in preparation for tomorrow's Cabinet meeting on Palestine, amid reports that the ministers had decided against imposing martial law on the Holy Land.

The Cabinet, called into special session, was expected to consider immediate measures for peace in Palestine, and to chart a long-range program probably calling for the creation of independent Arab and Jewish states.

More Power For Cunningham

Government sources said that broader powers already had been authorized for Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner, who is now in London for the discussions. These powers include the making of important, on-the-spot decisions in dealing with underground violence, the informants said.

However, the Cabinet reportedly has been swayed away from the opinion — said to have been held by some of its members — that martial law should be clamped over all of Palestine unless violence subsides.

The final conferences during the day were between Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones and David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive who will leave tomorrow for Palestine. Jones was reported to have urged the Jewish leader to press for an end to violence.

Underground Truce Reported

In Palestine itself, there were rumors that two extremist organizations—Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern Gang—had decided to forego violence for 60 days during the crucial negotiations on the Holy Land's future.

An Irgun broadcast said that "the fight will continue" if the Jewish Agency agrees to partition or federation.

Palestine officials announced that 18 Jews—12 of them said to be members of Irgun—had been arrested in screening operations in Rishon Lezion, a town of 12,000 in the center of Palestine's Jewish wine industry.

Man Sought In Killing Of Woman Found Dead

ESSEX, Md., Jan. 8—(AP)—A man identified as Lewis Godfrey Votta, 38, who Essex police said had been sought for questioning since the slaying of a Baltimore woman five days ago, was found dead in his automobile today, and a medical examiner listed the case as "probable suicide."

Patrolmen Lawrence Heinle and Lawrence Kahl said the automobile was parked in an abandoned gravel pit and that a rubber tube had been wired to the exhaust pipe and brought through the rear floorboard.

Dr. Walter Carmine, assistant medical examiner, said the death probably was "suicide from carbon monoxide poisoning."

Authorities said Botta had been sought since shortly after Mrs. Elizabeth Stein, 39, was found dead in her bed Saturday morning by her son, 13. She had been shot through the right eye.

and the crowd which had lined up for more than two blocks began filing into the Governor's home.

Flanked by his predecessor, now United States Sen. O'Conor, and followed by United States Sen. Tydings and others of the official party, Lane entered the Senate chamber promptly at noon.

He went to the president's rostrum and immediately took the oath of office which was administered by Chief Judge Ogle Marbury, of the Court of Appeals. Lane then returned with his escort to the executive office and sent the nomination of former State Sen. John B. Funk, of Brunswick, to the Senate for confirmation as Secretary of State.

Address Is Delayed

Senators and delegates then moved to the House chamber for the inaugural address, which was delayed five minutes by a mixup in the escort plans.

Without criticizing the Sherbow Commission directly, Lane declared with emphasis that:

"It is easy to make suggestions to give funds away, but it is much more difficult to accumulate the funds to distribute. The hard task will be ours."

The Sherbow Commission was appointed by Gov. O'Conor to study state finances and recommend equal distribution of income between the counties and Baltimore City.

The commission, he observed, had not yet "suggested how the state can do this and continue to function at anywhere near existing or proposed standards."

Lane said that departmental budget requests for the next biennium totalled approximately $36,000,000 more than the $66,000,000 budget for the past two years.

The Chief Executive said the state must discharge its obligations to war veterans; that additional hospital facilities must be made available to the needy, along with improvements in the state's welfare, program and mental hospitals; continued conservation and development of the state's seafood, game and other resources; expansion and scientific development of Maryland's agricultural resources.

already in existence. But we found that some contracts have no termination date and that led to complications. So we decided to outlaw them all 90 days after enactment of the bill."

The bill would apply only to those companies affecting interstate commerce. Most big companies do.

Unions have always fiercely fought any attempts to ban the closed shop. Five states, Arkansas, Florida, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Arizona, have put anti-closed shop clauses into the constitutions.

But the closed shop has not actually ceased in those states, and the question of whether the clauses are constitutional is still in the courts.

"Voice" Of Mankind United Is Indicted On Charge Of Fraud

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8 (AP)—Arthur L. Bell, head of the Church of the Golden Rule and former "voice" of Mankind United, was indicted today by a United States grand jury on a charge of bankruptcy fraud.

He is accused of withholding records of contributions of church members within a two-year period preceding the bankruptcy of the organization.

State Attorney General Robert W. Kenny seized assets of the church in 1945 and Bell instituted bankruptcy proceedings in the federal court.

Bell contended the records were his personal property and that the donations were made to him rather than to the church.

State Republicans Present Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP) — The Maryland Federation of Republicans presented today to the party's minority leaders in the General Assembly an eight-point legislative program which a statement termed worthy of serious consideration.

The statement was signed by five Republicans, among them supporters of John Markey, defeated United States Senate candidate.

Listed as a legislative program were these:

Overhauling of state election machinery including provision for a recount and court nomination of election judges.

Elevating police magistrate courts, traffic courts and State Industrial Accident Commission posts to full-time jobs.

Revision of the workmen's compensation law to benefit "permanently partially disabled" persons.

Generalizing the right of lawyers of the state to practice in all jurisdictions of Maryland.

Providing for review of a judge's disturbance of a jury's verdict.

A study of Baltimore police pay to attract men "of the best caliber."

A new curb on election expenditures.

New minimum qualifications for public office.

A new uniform system of education in all counties.

Teen-Age Bride Flees From Mate

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Jan. 8 (AP)—Madeline Psaltis Grechis, pretty teen-age bride, said today she ran away from her husband and a scheduled church wedding in Albuquerque, N. M., "because I didn't love him."

The girl, detained by police here at the request of her parents, told a reporter that she had agreed, in a telephone conversation with her parents, to return home if they would not insist in proceeding with the church wedding plans.

The girl, who says she is 17, was married to Constantine (Gus) Grechis in a civil ceremony in Sandoval county, N. M., last September 2.

An aunt of the bridegroom said last night in Albuquerque that "the civil ceremony was merely a formality and the young couple would not be considered married unless the ceremony was performed in the Greek Orthodox Church."

Madeline said today that her parents had consented to dropping the church marriage plans. Police awaited further instructions from the father, Paul Psaltis.

Madeline came to Port Arthur by chance, she related. She went to the Albuquerque bus station intending to go to San Diego, Calif., where she has relatives, she said, but the bus was several hours late so she took an east-bound bus instead.

On the bus she met Ellen Borstick, 18, of Port Arthur, and accepted the girl's invitation to visit her there.

Coast Guard Reports No SOS From Transport

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—(AP)—The Coast Guard said tonight it had received no SOS from the Marine Shark, which left Naples December 30 with 500 passengers, bound for New York, despite an unconfirmed report that the transport had broadcast a call for help.

The unconfirmed report circulated in Naples, Italy, maritime circles.

A Coast Guard spokesman said that the Marine Shark passed Gibraltar six days ago and would be well within the radius of the guard's listening posts. Its schedule called for docking here January 10.

Meadows' Plans For Jail Reform Face Opposition

W. Va. Chief Would Raise Teachers' Pay

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—A rocky legislative road probably lies ahead for any system of jail reform that would disturb the sheriffs' present fee system, a change which Gov. Clarence C. Meadows proposed to the 48th West Virginia Legislature at its opening today.

Informal comment of the legislators after Meadows' 8,000-word biennial message all was to the effect that the subject could be regarded only as a "hot potato."

Adjourn Until Tuesday

Organizing with dispatch, both houses seated their incumbent officers, heard the Governor's address to a joint assembly, then adjourned until next Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Speaking for an hour in a broadcast address Meadows proposed raising the pay of school teachers and all other state employes, launching a broad road-building program with particular attention to farm-to-market routes, and improving facilities of state institutions and taking steps to improve the professional standards of their personnel.

On the subject of fees paid sheriffs for feeding prisoners, Meadows referred to an "uncomplimentary" report on West Virginia's jails by the United States Bureau of Prisons and described the present method as the "root of the present evil."

Piper's Reaction

Delegate William C. Piper (R-Ohio), one of the few willing to be quoted on his reactions to this phase of the Meadows speech, said the suggestion was a good one provided an equitable salary system could be devised for sheriffs that would compensate for their loss of fees under the present arrangement.

Of the Governor's recommendations generally, Minority Leader J. C. Powell (R-Pleasants) said the Republicans would "give serious consideration to the suggestions."

$6,000,000 Fire Rages Through Two Piers

WEEHAWKEN, N. J., Jan. 8. (AP)—A $6,000,000 waterfront fire raged through two piers of the sprawling New York Central yards early today, lighting up the Hudson river area and casting the ruddy glow of an artificial dawn over much of midtown Manhattan.

The blaze lasted for more than five hours before being brought under control by a fleet of three New York City fireboats and 20 railroad tugboats, aided by firemen from four New Jersey municipalities.

Eleven firemen and five railroad employes were injured, none seriously.

Viscose Strike Threat Averted Temporarily

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—A strike threat in seven plants of the American Viscose Corporation in Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia was averted temporarily tonight when company and union representatives agreed to an indefinite extension of the present contract.

United States Conciliator John Murray said the company had agreed with the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) to extend the contract until negotiations now going on before Murray were completed.

Negotiations in the regional conciliation offices here will be resumed at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow and indications were that they would be completed in several days. Murray said both company and union were

Carpenters Move To Aid Home Building Welcome

Coming in the midst of a general nationwide clamor by many organized labor groups for increased wages, and which in some instances is accompanied by threats of strikes, it was indeed refreshing to learn a day or so ago that Local 1024, Carpenters Union of the American Federation of Labor, has decided to forego such demands.

The decision by members of this organization not to make requests for wage boosts for the present in order that home construction might be stimulated in the Cumberland area, and to cooperate with contractors in an effort to keep the cost of new dwellings within the reach of veterans, is not only a welcome, but patriotic move. Those who wield the saw, hammer, chisel and whatnot in their daily endeavor will undoubtedly feel somewhat repaid by the fact that because of their decision they will bring renewed hope to the veteran who had all but surrendered to the belief that he would be unable to realize the dream of a home for his family.

Of course, this gives no assurance in itself that home building costs will not increase, but it is a step that cannot be overlooked.

It can only be hoped that others in the building trade will find it possible to take similar action and thereby stabilize, for a period, costs of such building. It is also to be hoped that dealers in materials will find it feasible to join in such a move in holding prices to a reasonable profit. That would go a long way in assisting these craftsmen in their effort to encourage construction. It would mean steady employment throughout a season when weather brings a lull in building, and enable carpenters to compensate themselves for foregoing wage increase demands by an uninterrupted flow of pay envelopes.

The carpenters also have announced they will cooperate with contractors in an effort to secure a building inspector for the county, to protect the prospective home builder against inferior construction. That, too, is an aggressive step, and if realized will relieve that person of much of the responsibility of seeing to it that specifications for the home are adhered to.

Truman's "State of Union" Message Admirable In Tone

Generally speaking, President Truman's "state of the union" message was admirable in tone and content, but it left much to be desired. The appeal for joining hands with a Republican Congress would seem to ring true, but whether that will be borne out remains to be seen. When he said he and Congress probably would disagree on some issues, he stated the obvious. He added, however, men who differ can still work together sincerely for the common good.

It is to be desired that Congress and the President should settle their differences "without thoughts of partisan advantage" but to the general welfare of the nation. Mr. Truman endeavored to convince Congress that he was eager to do his part, and he offered his reasons why Congress should be equally willing. Given wisdom to find, and courage to take, the right course as each issue arises in the next two years, he said, "we shall achieve a state of well-being for our people without precedent in history. . . . We can, granting a will for peace on the part of our neighbors, make a lasting peace for the world."

Mr. Truman outlined his program of purpose, but it is doubtful he will see all of it realized. Some of it was merely a reiteration of that given many times before in recent months, such as a warning that rising prices might make it impossible for consumers to buy the huge volume of goods and services the country can produce in 1947; that industry should hold present prices down, and lower them whenever profits justify; up to labor to refrain from forcing price increases by demanding unjustified wage increases; up to the Government to encourage in every way it can, the high volume production that alone makes possible good wages, low prices and reasonable profits.

The Chief Executive suggested immediate labor legislation against certain "unjustifiable" practices, and stated jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts by minority unions seeking to compel employers to violate legal bargaining relations with majority unions should be prohibited. He would require peaceful determination of disputes between unions over which should control particular jobs; require compulsory arbitration of disputes arising, between employers and unions, under collective bargaining contracts, and favors extending mediation and conciliation facilities within the Labor Department.

It is the announced intention of many Republicans to go much further, and many of our people are hopeful they will, but it would be a mistake for Congress to enact punitive measures, to punish a few labor leaders, which would restrict the proper rights of the rank and file of labor.

We find it difficult to agree with President Truman that a commission to study the whole subject of industrial relations and recommend further legislation should be appointed. While we agree that need not long delay necessary action, we can not convince ourselves that much could be gained. This ground has been covered on many occasions. Situations arising from time to time have convinced most people that legislation is needed to protect the public interest against nationwide walkouts in vital industries as soon as possible.

The proposal to name a commission causes one to wonder whether Mr. Truman is not trying to avoid direct action with the issue, hoping probably, by the delay a study would occasion, that public feeling might cool by having its attention occupied by less important matters.

Mr. Truman struck an agreeable note when he said that, in the world as it is, strength of peace-loving nations is still the greatest deterrent to aggression. We will all agree that America must be strong enough to defeat, and thus to forestall, an attack that might come with unprecedented speed to a country unprepared. To that end he said if volunteer system fails to recruit enough troops to meet our obligations abroad, the War Department would seek extension of selective service. Plans for universal military training will be sent to Congress soon. Once more Mr. Truman urged unification of the armed services, under a single department of national defense, to reduce the cost and increase national security.

In addition, the President spoke on many other matters—broadening social security, new housing legislation, a fair minimum wage, vigorous enforcement of anti-trust laws and the welfare of veterans, but there is considerable doubt that he will get from Congress a socialized medical program he has proposed.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

DRESSING FOR ZERO TEMPERATURES

To keep comfortable when the mercury hits zero, we must wear suitable clothing. Man is no polar bear and, for protective purposes, can almost be considered hairless. It may be that he was meant to live in the tropics. But, after learning how to utilize the skins of other animals and discovering the benefits of housing, he was able to migrate farther and farther into the temperate and arctic regions.

The war stimulated research in the designing and manufacturing of apparel for service men so that gradually the process is becoming a science rather than an art. Our winter outfits no longer need be cumbersome and heavy. Newer lightweight materials afford warmth and allow more freedom of movement. Women will welcome this change for sportswear but it is doubtful whether they will accept a substitute for fine furs, so far as style is concerned.

On exposure to cold, many mechanisms go into action to conserve body heat. Sweat secretion ceases. The capillaries in the skin contract so that a minimum amount of blood reaches the surface, thus decreasing the dissipation of warmth. This is most noticeable in the extremities which are, in a sense, left bloodless. But the maneuver permits the vital organs to continue functioning because the blood is sent to these structures. Considerable heat is stored also in the tissues which will tide over the individual until metabolism increases to meet the current demands. The rate rises thru voluntary exercise, shivering, and the oxidation of food.

Clothing protects us in two ways. It surrounds the skin with warm air and reduces the degree of heat loss. But should the garments absorb much moisture, the good effects are nullified because heat escapes more easily. The same occurs when air flows between its meshes. If a hunting trip or long hike is contemplated, therefore, especially if the weather is bitter, the wardrobe should consist of three layers.

The underwear is most important. It slows down radiation and conducts moisture away from the body. The choice is a one piece woolen suit which is form-fitting, soft, lightweight, but moderately dense and absorbent. The next stratum is for insulation and comprises the usual jacket, sweater, and trousers. Wool is the most economical but when woven too loosely, is not as practical for a number of reasons. Sometimes more than one such garment is necessary, even a furlined coat. But overdressing is not wise, lest activity increase perspiration. The outer layer is for resistance to wind and wet, constituting a shell to hold back the elements. A long-staple cotton fabric, with a dense weave, is recommended by specialists in this field. For efficiency, it should be thin and of minimum weight. Water-repellent rather than absolute water-proof material is preferred, to permit the body moisture to escape.

Obviously, such gear is not for the man on the street going short distances, riding in a warm car, or visiting customers in nearby buildings. This individual does well even without long underwear as the ordinary suit and overcoat are sufficient. He should always shed his topcoat on going indoors so that he will not feel the cold so much when he returns to the outside.

WARM BRAINS

A. S. writes: What causes the brains to feel hot?

REPLY

Hotheadedness is usually an emotional reaction. Middle aged women frequently complain of this sensation when hot flashes occur. The forehead becomes warm and sometimes perspires after taking drugs or hot drinks. It would not be possible for you to feel your brain.

PHLEBITIS

R. V. writes: Will a person who has had an attack of phlebitis ever be able to take long hikes again?

REPLY

Many patients are cured completely. On the other hand, if involvement of one of the deeper veins has occurred (as in milkleg), the exercise is not advised inasmuch as the leg feels heavy and swelling may increase.

The 49th State

The official report in Alaska's general election showed a majority vote in favor of statehood for that territory.

It may be a good idea, but where are they going to get Eskimo congressmen who can stand all the hot air in Washington?

Just imagine campaigning for office Alaskan style; instead of kissing babies, the candidate will go around rubbing noses.

I don't know why I should worry. If rubbing noses should ever sweep the country, I would be a great lover.

Of course, I was up in Alaska, where Paramount made "The Road to Utopia." It's not a bad climate, but next time I will let Crosby be the lead dog.

The Republicans would have a tough time swinging the Eskimo vote. They must all be Democrats; after all, they are out in the cold too.

I understand the big slogan in Alaska is "Two dog sleds in every garage and mush in every plate."

And there is no housing shortage up there. They just give each vet an icepick and a pair of tongs.

Alaska will run into little opposition trying to become the 49th state, though. Senator Claghorn thinks they're too far north, and Brooklyn is claiming priority.

Truman Stand One For Regular Wing Democratic Party

By MARK SULLIVAN

What was most looked forward to in President Truman's message to the new Congress was the light it would throw on his conception of the relation between him and that body—the relation, that is, between a President belonging to one party and a Congress controlled by the other.

On that point the evidence was strong and sure, President Truman would not be party-minded, certainly not in any aggressive sense. His spirit was a part of what has gone on ever since the election, a spirit of cooperation. And the attitude of Congress, and of the majority party in Congress, was the same. Such comments on the President's message as came from important Republican leaders, while they contained clear dissents from some of Mr. Truman's legislative proposals, were expressed in a spirit of amity. There is not anticipated, during this session of Congress, anything comparable to what went on a year ago, between President Truman and a Congress controlled by his own party. A year ago, Mr. Truman was complaining of the failure of leaders of his own party in Congress to carry out a legislative program he had proposed, he was asking the public to bring pressure on them. Without doubt Mr. Truman felt he had a right to expect from a Democratic Congress an assent to his leadership which he would not expect from a Republican Congress.

Cooperation Is Facilitated

In the new Congress, with the Republican majority having the responsibility for legislation, and with Mr. Truman assenting to that condition, cooperation is facilitated. It is promoted in many ways. A Republican party which has a majority is by that fact less likely to take aggressive positions and express them aggressively, than when it is in the opposition. Most significant of all, there was similarity of thought between what Mr. Truman said about some proposals and a prevailing Republican point of view about them. What he said about health and housing was in accord with what such Republican leaders as Mr. Taft think.

Because the principal business of the new Congress is labor legislation, the greatest anticipatory interest was in what position Mr. Truman would take on that. In an important respect, he reversed a previous attitude. Six months ago, Mr. Truman was opposed to labor legislation, as of that time, and vetoed a comprehensive measure Congress had passed. That position is now over the dam, for Mr. Truman and everybody else. The number in Congress who will oppose labor legislation of the kind now in preparation is only a handful. The number who hope to succeed in opposing it is none at all.

True, Mr. Truman repeated a suggestion he made when he vetoed the Case bill. He proposed that, as to some aspects of labor, there should be a committee for study. But even in this he contemplated that legislation would take place in this Congress, for he suggested that the committee report by March 15th. This detail of Mr. Truman's program was promptly opposed by important Republican leaders. They think the time for legislation is now. And they think the foundation of information and views about what should be done is already in Congress, without need of any new committee.

Congress Undecided On Labor Bills

To find either distinction or similarity between what labor legislation Mr. Truman has in mind, and what Congress contemplates, would be impossible, for Congress is still undecided about the form and details of what it will do. But it is taken for granted that what Congress will do and what Mr. Truman has in mind, are paralled. There is no anticipation of any repetition of Mr. Truman's veto of the Case bill six months ago. Drawing Congress and the President together was his repeated and whole-hearted affirmation that the United States is to continue on the basis of private industry, and in general, is to take the conservative line. The quickest and heartiest applause during his whole speech came when he said that the budget must be balanced and that reduction of the public debt must begin promptly.

Drawing all together also is the return of the two-party system and of the integrity of the Democratic Party. Rejection by the Democrats of their left wing, through the election last November, gives as much satisfaction to Republicans as to Democrats. The feeling that Mr. Truman stands now with the regular wing of his party is pleasing to both parties. The whole condition makes for good feeling.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

General Clay Forced Change Of U. S. Command In Germany; U. S. Demands Lend-Lease Repayment From Russia; Good Neighbor Relations Cool In Latin America

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—Inside fact about the shift of U. S. commanders in Germany is that the stage was set for the change shortly after Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay visited the National Association of Manufacturers in New York six weeks ago.

Shortly before that, the Senate War Investigating Committee (the old Truman Committee) had sent its chief counsel, George Meader, to Germany and he had come back with a preliminary report highly critical of what went on in the U. S. occupation zone.

General Clay, then in the United States, was much upset by this report and talked to Secretary of State Byrnes about resigning. He felt that Gen. Joseph McNarney, top commander of U. S. troops in Germany, was the man really responsible, though he, Clay, as head of the Military Government for Germany, got the blame.

On top of the unfavorable Meader report, Gen. Clay addressed a meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers and afterwards sat down at an off-the-record meeting of NAM leaders including some of the top moguls of American industry. Their solution for the future of Germany was simple. They told Clay that they should be permitted to get in touch with their opposite numbers in German industry—the I. G. Farbens, the Opels and the other big industrialists who helped build up Hitler's war machine.

If allowed to do business with the German cartels, the U. S. industrialists told Clay, they would have Germany back on its feet in no time.

This shocked General Clay. Later he told Secretary Byrnes and his superiors in the War Department that he would retire from the Army immediately and go back to his old home in Atlanta if any such deal was carried out.

Furthermore Clay told the NAM members at their off-the-record meeting that the German people did not believe in or understand free enterprise and that Germany could only continue under strong government controls.

In the end, Secretary Byrnes strongly supported Clay and urged the War Department to relieve Gen. McNarney. The War Department agreed. It is significant, however, that before the change was finally agreed on, the State Department sounded out some of the GOP leaders on Capitol Hill. They agreed too.

Russian Lend-Lease

Secretary of State Byrnes has sent a third note to Russia demanding immediate settlement of Russia's eleven billion dollar lend-lease debt. And since the first two notes were completely ignored, this time Byrnes instructed Ambassador Bedell Smith to deliver the note personally either to Stalin or Molotov.

In the end, Smith saw Molotov, informed him he had received orders to hand the note personally to the Russian Foreign Minister because the first two notes were still unanswered.

Molotov replied that he was not aware of the previous failures to answer. This caused Ambassador Smith to state in rather blunt language that the lend-lease settlement had dragged on for six months and Secretary Byrnes wanted it given immediate attention.

Molotov said he would take it up with Premier Stalin, and that ended the interview. It is still too early to expect a reply.

Reorganization Stand Pat

It didn't leak out of the secret GOP caucus, but Speaker Joe Martin took a firm and decisive stand against any change in the LaFollette-Monroney reorganization of Congress.

"Republicans cannot afford to hack away at the reorganization setup," Martin warned when Representatives W. Sterling Cole of New York and George Bates of Massachusetts, ranking Republicans on the Naval Affairs Committee, wanted to hold out against amalgamation with the Military Affairs Committee.

"Even though you think there might be changes for the better," the Speaker continued, "you must remember that the bill was passed by Congress and has become law. If we go in there and try to tear away the consolidation of committees, the people of the country are going to think we wanted reorganization only in order to get ourselves bigger salaries and are ready to junk the rest of the bill." (The bill increased members' salaries from $10,000 to $15,000.)

Bates and Cole then took the floor, each delivering a grandiose eulogy on the great history of the Naval Affairs Committee though sadly agreeing not to carry their fight to the floor of the House.

Good Neighbors Cool

One of the best friends the USA ever had south of the border, ex-Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, arrived here this week in what to him may have seemed like a homecoming. For, as Brazilian Ambassador to the United States, Aranha knew this country better than any other recent Ambassador, perhaps better than many Americans.

He traveled from coast to coast by auto, visited U. S. cattle ranches (he is a cattle rancher himself), attended Republican and Democratic political conventions, never missed the Kentucky Derby, and coined this diagnosis of Democratic-GOP campaign tactics: "The Republicans promise Santa Claus to both the rich, and the poor; the Democrats promise Santa Claus to the poor with the rich man's money."

While Aranha's current visit to the USA may have seemed like a homecoming from a personal viewpoint, from a broader point of view it may not. For, in the years since he served as Ambassador and Brazilian Foreign Minister, the United States has largely reversed Roosevelt's keen interest in Latin American affairs. And while we have been arguing about Trieste and the Danube, our former good neighbors have started turning in other directions.

Aranha is scheduled to speak in Cleveland this week, and if he talks straight from the shoulder, he will disclose that the Communist vote in Latin American countries has jumped alarmingly, that the old wartime bond between the United States and Latin America has cooled, that the USA cannot buy friendship with Export-Import bank loans, and that we really will have to work at good neighborliness if we want to keep the best international asset we have—the Pan American bond of unity.

FCC Scramble

A terrific tug-of-war has developed behind-the-scenes for the one vacancy on the Federal Communications Commission. Though supposed to go to a Democrat, the Republicans are determined to grab it. Here are their candidates:

Marion Martin—Recently ousted by Taft forces from the Republican National Committee. A capable lady when it comes to women's problems, Miss Martin is being pushed by Guy Gannett, Portland, Maine, radio station operator and newspaper publisher; also by Senator White of Maine, new Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee which will pass on radio legislation.

Thad Brown, Jr.—Son of late Ohio GOP leader by that name who served under Hoover as an FCCommissioner. Brown is an expert radio attorney and knows the industry backwards and forward. He is being pushed by Senator Capehart of Indiana.

Note—Presideint Truman may fool GOP leaders and appoint a Democrat. He has in mind ex-Senator James Mead of New York or ex-Congresswoman Chase Going Woodhouse of Connecticut.

Marshall's Appointment May Hasten Presidential Succession Measure

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. — While there have been from time to time intimations that in the event of the resignation of Secretary of State Byrnes, General Marshall might be the man President Truman would pick to succeed him, nevertheless the actual announcement of the change took official Washington by surprise.

The idea that the task of secretary of state had proved so exacting to Secretary Byrnes as to jeopardize his health has long been prevalent here. After all, Mr. Byrnes has had a strenuous time in public life. Service such as he has had in the House, then the Senate, then on the Supreme Court, next as director of economic mobilization for the late President Roosevelt, and finally as secretary of state in these uncertain times would break down many a man less sturdy than Mr. Byrnes.

It has been known, of course, that President Truman had a very extreme admiration for General Marshall and considered him not only a great soldier but a tactful diplomat. But, while rumor had it that Marshall was the favorite for secretary of state in case of Byrnes' resignation, it was considered also that a younger man—possibly Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal—might be chosen.

Matter Of Presidential Succession

The matter of presidential succession comes up immediately, of course. If Mr. Forrestal had been named, he might have been talked of as a Democratic nominee to succeed Mr. Truman, for the navy secretary is regarded as one of the most efficient men of the younger group in public life and an especially capable negotiator.

By selecting General Marshall, the presidential succession could pass to a military man if fate took President Truman from the presidency through illness or sudden accident. When the presidential succession bill was discussed in 1945 at the time that Edward Stettinius was secretary of state, the Congress promptly ceased thinking much about the problem as James F. Byrnes became the head of the cabinet. Now with a military man as second to Mr. Truman, it seems probable that the passage of a presidential succession bill will be hastened.

As a matter of fact, General Marshall would make an excellent president. But labor union leaders have never felt kindly toward a military man in the White House or a governor's chair. They seem to feel that military men would use troops to break strikes or would have such a rigid attitude toward labor unions as to be potentially hostile.

General Marshall, it will be recalled, said something rather forceful about railroad unions in December 1944 when there was a threat of a railroad strike. He seemed to think that this thwarted some of our diplomatic plans to shorten the war in Europe.

General Marshall has been mentioned from time to time as a man who might be politically desirable for the Democrats to nominate in the event that President Truman chooses not to run in 1948. But the General is not likely to allow politics to bother him, as he has an exact sense of duty and, if a boom arises, he will dispose of it without hesitation. It seems a safe assumption that, if General Marshall is ever to become a candidate for high office, it will not be through his efforts or through the efforts of any group of friends seeking to gain the office for him. He would squelch that sort of thing promptly. It would have to be a real draft by a party convention.

Will Make Excellent Secretary

General Marshall will make an excellent secretary of state. He has patience and a broad familiarity with diplomatic questions growing out of the war. He also will bring to the Department of State a policy of cooperation with the military branches of the government, so that in a sense the often-urged blending of diplomatic and military policy may make greater progress through the coincidence of the appointment of a former chief of staff to the secretaryship of state than it could make through a formally chosen council. It may be, however, that General Marshall will insist on the formation of such a council because, it will be recalled, he was one of those who complained about the inability of the armed services to keep pace with diplomatic policy before Pearl Harbor.

The appointment of General Marshall will be interpreted abroad as indicating firmness rather than appeasement or softening of our attitude on the atomic bomb or anything else in the field of diplomacy.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

by Billy Rose

I generally take the papers to bed with me. I find certain editorials put me to sleep faster than a pill.

Billy Rose

Last night, the front pages were again full of labor news—portal-to-portal suits, the revised Case Bill, new wage demands. An editorial blaming labor for the decline of the Roman Empire made me decide to switch off the lamp.

"Morpheus, come and get your boy," I sighed. But an hour later I was still as wide-eyed as Greer Garson. Those newspaper stories kept jitterbugging around in my head. For a minute I thought sleep was creeping up on me—but it turned out to be my pajamas. I tried changing position, but all that happened was my left arm went to sleep. "You lucky stiff," I snarled, as I shook it awake.

I snapped on the light, went into the kitchen and heated up some milk. I drank it, turned over the pillow to get the cool side, and tried again. Still no sleep. I would have paid a fancy price for a shot of the stuff the little Dutchmen poured for Rip Van Winkle.

I decided to use the blackboard technique. You pretend you're writing your thoughts on the board, and keep erasing them as fast as you write them. I wrote them in longhand and then in shorthand. I played four games of tic-tac-toe with myself and lost all four. I gave up, wrote a naughty word on the blackboard, neglected to erase it, and started counting sheep.

The first fifty sheep went over the fence fine. The next one came up to the fence, stopped, turned around, and went back. "Get over that fence," I shouted, "or I'll make stew out of you."

"Just a minute, Jack," said Number 51. "Threats will get you nowhere."

"Who are you, muttonhead?" I snarled.

"You'll find out soon enough, Jack," said my woolly friend. He walked over to the fence, took a tape measure, and measured it. "Just as I thought," said the sheep. "It's six inches too high. Inhuman!"

"I don't get it," I said. "Since when are sheep dictating how high my fence is going to be?'

"Since a month ago," he said. "We organized, and Lewis took us in under District 50. I'm the delegate."

"Scram, lamb," I yelled, "and let a tired man get some sleep."

"No contract, no sheep, and no sheep, no sleep," he said.

I took a long look at him. He had the bushiest eyebrows I ever saw on a prospective lamb pie. "I don't need a contract," I said. "Nine nights out of ten I fall asleep easily."

"That's why we got a union," he said. "What are we supposed to do the nights you don't need us? You'll have to put on six standby sheep whether you have insomnia or not."

I thought he had a point there, and said, "OK. I'll buy that. Now start jumping."

"Not so fast, Jack," he said. "There are one or two other things to discuss. Jumping is pretty strenuous work. From now on, you're not to sleep over six hours a night."

This I couldn't go for. I told him to go curry himself.

He gave out a loud "Baa!" and suddenly sheep formed a picket line around my bed. They were carrying signs that read, "Are we sheep or are we goats?"—"Don't let Rose pull our wool over his eyes." Some of them wore buttons reading, "Don't fence me in." At the end of the line, one little sheep carried a sign reading, "Free Tom Mooney."

A ram jumped up on my stomach and began making a speech. His face reminded me of Willie Howard, the comedian. "Lambchops of the world, unite!" he hollered. "We have been clipped by the capitalist insomniacs long enough. The time has come to get more grass for ewe, and ewe, and especially ewe. Comes the revolution, we'll all eat clover."

"But I don't like clover," said one little lamb.

"Comes the revolution," thundered the speaker, "you'll eat clover and like it!"

Around five that morning I gave in. I signed a closed-sheep agreement, promised to lower the fence and remove all "Keep off the Grass" signs, said I wouldn't use black sheep or wolves in sheep's clothing. As a special concession, I agreed that ten minutes in every hour the sheep could count me.

The delegate smiled sheepishly, gave out another "Baa!" and jumped over the fence. The other sheep followed him and I started counting. By the time I reached a hundred, I was fast asleep.

Carpenters Move To Aid Home Building Welcome

Coming in the midst of a general nationwide clamor by many organized labor groups for increased wages, and which in some instances is accompanied by threats of strikes, it was indeed refreshing to learn a day or so ago that Local 1024, Carpenters Union of the American Federation of Labor, has decided to forego such demands.

The decision by members of this organization not to make requests for wage boosts for the present in order that home construction might be stimulated in the Cumberland area, and to cooperate with contractors in an effort to keep the cost of new dwellings within the reach of veterans, is not only a welcome, but patriotic move. Those who wield the saw, hammer, chisel and whatnot in their daily endeavor will undoubtedly feel somewhat repaid by the fact that because of their decision they will bring renewed hope to the veteran who had all but surrendered to the belief that he would be unable to realize the dream of a home for his family.

Of course, this gives no assurance in itself that home building costs will not increase, but it is a step that cannot be overlooked.

It can only be hoped that others in the building trade will find it possible to take similar action and thereby stabilize, for a period, costs of such building. It is also to be hoped that dealers in materials will find it feasible to join in such a move in holding prices to a reasonable profit. That would go a long way in assisting these craftsmen in their effort to encourage construction. It would mean steady employment throughout a season when weather brings a lull in building, and enable carpenters to compensate themselves for foregoing wage increase demands by an uninterrupted flow of pay envelopes.

The carpenters also have announced they will cooperate with contractors in an effort to secure a building inspector for the county, to protect the prospective home builder against inferior construction. That, too, is an aggressive step, and if realized will relieve that person of much of the responsibility of seeing to it that specifications for the home are adhered to.

Truman's "State of Union" Message Admirable In Tone

Generally speaking, President Truman's "state of the union" message was admirable in tone and content, but it left much to be desired. The appeal for joining hands with a Republican Congress would seem to ring true, but whether that will be borne out remains to be seen. When he said he and Congress probably would disagree on some issues, he stated the obvious. He added, however, men who differ can still work together sincerely for the common good.

It is to be desired that Congress and the President should settle their differences "without thoughts of partisan advantage" but to the general welfare of the nation. Mr. Truman endeavored to convince Congress that he was eager to do his part, and he offered his reasons why Congress should be equally willing. Given wisdom to find, and courage to take, the right course as each issue arises in the next two years, he said, "we shall achieve a state of well-being for our people without precedent in history. . . . We can, granting a will for peace on the part of our neighbors, make a lasting peace for the world."

Mr. Truman outlined his program of purpose, but it is doubtful he will see all of it realized. Some of it was merely a reiteration of that given many times before in recent months, such as a warning that rising prices might make it impossible for consumers to buy the huge volume of goods and services the country can produce in 1947; that industry should hold present prices down, and lower them whenever profits justify; up to labor to refrain from forcing price increases by demanding unjustified wage increases; up to the Government to encourage in every way it can, the high volume production that alone makes possible good wages, low prices and reasonable profits.

The Chief Executive suggested immediate labor legislation against certain "unjustifiable" practices, and stated jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts by minority unions seeking to compel employers to violate legal bargaining relations with majority unions should be prohibited. He would require peaceful determination of disputes between unions over, which should control particular jobs; require compulsory arbitration of disputes arising, between employers and unions, under collective bargaining contracts, and favors extending mediation and conciliation facilities within the Labor Department.

It is the announced intention of many Republicans to go much further, and many of our people are hopeful they will, but it would be a mistake for Congress to enact punitive measures, to punish a few labor leaders, which would restrict the proper rights of the rank and file of labor.

We find it difficult to agree with President Truman that a commission to study the whole subject of industrial relations and recommend further legislation should be appointed. While we agree that need not long delay necessary action, we can not convince ourselves that much could be gained. This ground has been covered on many occasions. Situations arising from time to time have convinced most people that legislation is needed to protect the public interest against nationwide walkouts in vital industries as soon as possible.

The proposal to name a commission causes one to wonder whether Mr. Truman is not trying to avoid direct action with the issue, hoping, probably, by the delay a study would occasion, that public feeling might cool by having its attention occupied by less important matters.

Mr. Truman struck an agreeable note when he said that, in the world as it is, strength of peace-loving nations is still the greatest deterrent to aggression. We will all agree that America must be strong enough to defeat, and thus to forestall, an attack that might come with unprecedented speed to a country unprepared. To that end he said if volunteer system fails to recruit enough troops to meet our obligations abroad, the War Department would seek extension of selective service. Plans for universal military training will be sent to Congress soon. Once more Mr. Truman urged unification of the armed services, under a single department of national defense, to reduce the cost and increase national security.

In addition, the President spoke on many other matters—broadening social security, new housing legislation, a fair minimum wage, vigorous enforcement of anti-trust laws and the welfare of veterans, but there is considerable doubt that he will get from Congress a socialized medical program he has proposed.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

DRESSING FOR ZERO TEMPERATURES

To keep comfortable when the mercury hits zero, we must wear suitable clothing. Man is no polar bear and, for protective purposes, can almost be considered hairless. It may be that he was meant to live in the tropics. But, after learning how to utilize the skins of other animals and discovering the benefits of housing, he was able to migrate farther and farther into the temperate and arctic regions.

The war stimulated research in the designing and manufacturing of apparel for service men so that gradually the process is becoming a science rather than an art. Our winter outfits no longer need be cumbersome and heavy. Newer lightweight materials afford warmth and allow more freedom of movement. Women will welcome this change for sportswear but it is doubtful whether they will accept a substitute for fine furs, so far as style is concerned.

On exposure to cold, many mechanisms go into action to conserve body heat. Sweat secretion ceases. The capillaries in the skin contract so that a minimum amount of blood reaches the surface, thus decreasing the dissipation of warmth. This is most noticeable in the extremities which are, in a sense, left bloodless. But the maneuver permits the vital organs to continue functioning because the blood is sent to these structures. Considerable heat is stored also in the tissues which will tide over the individual until metabolism increases to meet the current demands. The rate rises thru voluntary exercise, shivering, and the oxidation of food.

Clothing protects us in two ways. It surrounds the skin with warm air and reduces the degree of heat loss. But should the garments absorb much moisture, the good effects are nullified because heat escapes more easily. The same occurs when air flows between its meshes. If a hunting trip or long hike is contemplated, therefore, especially if the weather is bitter, the wardrobe should consist of three layers.

The underwear is most important. It slows down radiation and conducts moisture away from the body. The choice is a one piece woolen suit which is form-fitting, soft, lightweight, but moderately dense and absorbent. The next stratum is for insulation and comprises the usual jacket, sweater, and trousers. Wool is the most economical but when woven too loosely, is not as practical for a number of reasons. Sometimes more than one such garment is necessary, even a furlined coat. But overdressing is not wise, lest activity increase perspiration. The outer layer is for resistance to wind and wet, constituting a shell to hold back the elements. A long-staple cotton fabric, with a dense weave, is recommended by specialists in this field. For efficiency, it should be thin and of minimum weight. Water-repellent rather than absolute water-proof material is preferred, to permit the body moisture to escape.

Obviously, such gear is not for the man on the street going short distances, riding in a warm car, or visiting customers in nearby buildings. This individual does well even without long underwear as the ordinary suit and overcoat are sufficient. He should always shed his topcoat on going indoors so that he will not feel the cold so much when he returns to the outside.

Truman Stand One For Regular Wing Democratic Party

By MARK SULLIVAN

What was most looked forward to in President Truman's message to the new Congress was the light it would throw on his conception of the relation between him and that body—the relation, that is, between a President belonging to one party and a Congress controlled by the other.

On that point the evidence was strong and sure, President Truman would not be party-minded, certainly not in any aggressive sense. His spirit was a part of what has gone on ever since the election, a spirit of cooperation. And the attitude of Congress, and of the majority party in Congress, was the same. Such comments on the President's message as came from important Republican leaders, while they contained clear dissents from some of Mr. Truman's legislative proposals, were expressed in a spirit of amity. There is not anticipated, during this session of Congress, anything comparable to what went on a year ago, between President Truman and a Congress controlled by his own party. A year ago, Mr. Truman was complaining of the failure of leaders of his own party in Congress to carry out a legislative program he had proposed, he was asking the public to bring pressure on them. Without doubt Mr. Truman felt he had a right to expect from a Democratic Congress an assent to his leadership which he would not expect from a Republican Congress.

Cooperation Is Facilitated

In the new Congress, with the Republican majority having the responsibility for legislation, and with Mr. Truman assenting to that condition, cooperation is facilitated. It is promoted in many ways. A Republican party which has a majority is by that fact less likely to take aggressive positions and express them aggressively, than when it is in the opposition. Most significant of all, there was similarity of thought between what Mr. Truman said about some proposals and a prevailing Republican point of view about them. What he said about health and housing was in accord with what such Republican leaders as Mr. Taft think.

Because the principal business of the new Congress is labor legislation, the greatest anticipatory interest was in what position Mr. Truman would take on that. In an important respect, he reversed a previous attitude. Six months ago, Mr. Truman was opposed to labor legislation, as of that time, and vetoed a comprehensive measure Congress had passed. That position is now over the dam, for Mr. Truman and everybody else. The number in Congress who will oppose labor legislation of the kind now in preparation is only a handful. The number who hope to succeed in opposing it is none at all.

True, Mr. Truman repeated a suggestion he made when he vetoed the Case bill. He proposed that, as to some aspects of labor, there should be a committee for study. But even in this he contemplated that legislation would take place in this Congress, for he suggested that the committee report by March 15th. This detail of Mr. Truman's program was promptly opposed by important Republican leaders. They think the time for legislation is now. And they think the foundation of information and views about what should be done is already in Congress, without need of any new committee.

Congress Undecided On Labor Bills

To find either distinction or similarity between what labor legislation Mr. Truman has in mind, and what Congress contemplates, would be impossible, for Congress is still undecided about the form and details of what it will do. But it is taken for granted that what Congress will do and what Mr. Truman has in mind, are paralled. There is no anticipation of any repetition of Mr. Truman's veto of the Case bill six months ago. Drawing Congress and the President together was his repeated and whole-hearted affirmation that the United States is to continue on the basis of private industry, and in general, is to take the conservative line. The quickest and heartiest applause during his whole speech came when he said that the budget must be balanced and that reduction of the public debt must begin promptly.

Drawing all together also is the return of the two-party system and of the integrity of the Democratic Party. Rejection by the Democrats of their left wing, through the election last November, gives as much satisfaction to Republicans as to Democrats. The feeling that Mr. Truman stands now with the regular wing of his party is pleasing to both parties. The whole condition makes for good feeling.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

General Clay Forced Change Of U. S. Command In Germany; U. S. Demands Lend-Lease Repayment From Russia; Good Neighbor Relations Cool In Latin America

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—Inside fact about the shift of U. S. commanders in Germany is that the stage was set for the change shortly after Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay visited the National Association of Manufacturers in New York six weeks ago.

Shortly before that, the Senate War Investigating Committee (the old Truman Committee) had sent its chief counsel, George Meader, to Germany and he had come back with a preliminary report highly critical of what went on in the U. S. occupation zone.

General Clay, then in the United States, was much upset by this report and talked to Secretary of State Byrnes about resigning. He felt that Gen. Joseph McNarney, top commander of U. S. troops in Germany, was the man really responsible, though he, Clay, as head of the Military Government for Germany, got the blame.

On top of the unfavorable Meader report, Gen. Clay addressed a meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers and afterwards sat down at an off-the-record meeting of NAM leaders including some of the top moguls of American industry. Their solution for the future of Germany was simple. They told Clay that they should be permitted to get in touch with their opposite numbers in German industry—the I. G. Farbens, the Opels and the other big industrialists who helped build up Hitler's war machine.

If allowed to do business with the German cartels, the U. S. industrialists told Clay, they would have Germany back on its feet in no time.

This shocked General Clay. Later he told Secretary Byrnes and his superiors in the War Department that he would retire from the Army immediately and go back to his old home in Atlanta if any such deal was carried out.

Furthermore Clay told the NAM members at their off-the-record meeting that the German people did not believe in or understand free enterprise and that Germany could only continue under strong government controls.

In the end, Secretary Byrnes strongly supported Clay and urged the War Department to relieve Gen. McNarney. The War Department agreed. It is significant, however, that before the change was finally agreed on, the State Department sounded out some of the GOP leaders on Capitol Hill. They agreed too.

Russian Lend-Lease

Secretary of State Byrnes has sent a third note to Russia demanding immediate settlement of Russia's eleven billion dollar lend-lease debt. And since the first two notes were completely ignored, this time Byrnes instructed Ambassador Bedell Smith to deliver the note personally either to Stalin or Molotov.

In the end, Smith saw Molotov, informed him he had received orders to hand the note personally to the Russian Foreign Minister because the first two notes were still unanswered.

Molotov replied that he was not aware of the previous failures to answer. This caused Ambassador Smith to state in rather blunt language that the lend-lease settlement had dragged on for six months and Secretary Byrnes wanted it given immediate attention.

Molotov said he would take it up with Premier Stalin, and that ended the interview. It is still too early to expect a reply.

Reorganization Stand Pat

It didn't leak out of the secret GOP caucus, but Speaker Joe Martin took a firm and decisive stand against any change in the LaFollette-Monroney reorganization of Congress.

"Republicans cannot afford to hack away at the reorganization setup," Martin warned when Representatives W. Sterling Cole of New York and George Bates of Massachusetts, ranking Republicans on the Naval Affairs Committee, wanted to hold out against amalgamation with the Military Affairs Committee.

"Even though you think there might be changes for the better," the Speaker continued, "you must remember that the bill was passed by Congress and has become law. If we go in there and try to tear away the consolidation of committees, the people of the country are going to think we wanted reorganization only in order to get ourselves bigger salaries and are ready to junk the rest of the bill." (The bill increased members' salaries from $10,000 to $15,000.)

Bates and Cole then took the floor, each delivering a grandiose eulogy on the great history of the Naval Affairs Committee though sadly agreeing not to carry their fight to the floor of the House.

Good Neighbors Cool

One of the best friends the USA ever had south of the border, ex-Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, arrived here this week in what to him may have seemed like a homecoming. For, as Brazilian Ambassador to the United States, Aranha knew this country better than any other recent Ambassador, perhaps better than many Americans.

He traveled from coast to coast by auto, visited U. S. cattle ranches (he is a cattle rancher himself), attended Republican and Democratic political conventions, never missed the Kentucky Derby, and coined this diagnosis of Democratic-GOP campaign tactics: "The Republicans promise Santa Claus to both the rich, and the poor; the Democrats promise Santa Claus to the poor with the rich man's money."

While Aranha's current visit to the USA may have seemed like a homecoming from a personal viewpoint, from a broader point of view it may not. For, in the years since he served as Ambassador and Brazilian Foreign Minister, the United States has largely reversed Roosevelt's keen interest in Latin American affairs. And while we have been arguing about Trieste and the Danube, our former good neighbors have started turning in other directions.

Aranha is scheduled to speak in Cleveland this week, and if he talks straight from the shoulder, he will disclose that the Communist vote in Latin American countries has jumped alarmingly, that the old wartime bond between the United States and Latin America has cooled, that the USA cannot buy friendship with Export-Import bank loans, and that we really will have to work at good neighborliness if we want to keep the best international asset we have—the Pan American bond of unity.

FCC Scramble

A terrific tug-of-war has developed behind-the-scenes for the one vacancy on the Federal Communications Commission. Though supposed to go to a Democrat, the Republicans are determined to grab it. Here are their candidates:

Marion Martin—Recently ousted by Taft forces from the Republican National Committee. A capable lady when it comes to women's problems, Miss Martin is being pushed by Guy Gannett, Portland, Maine, radio station operator and newspaper publisher; also by Senator White of Maine, new Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee which will pass on radio legislation.

Thad Brown, Jr.—Son of late Ohio GOP leader by that name who served under Hoover as an FCCommissioner. Brown is an expert radio attorney and knows the industry backwards and forward. He is being pushed by Senator Capehart of Indiana.

Note—President Truman may fool GOP leaders and appoint a Democrat. He has in mind ex-Senator James Mead of New York or ex-Congresswoman Chase Going Woodhouse of Connecticut.

Marshall's Appointment May Hasten Presidential Succession Measure

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. — While there have been from time to time intimations that in the event of the resignation of Secretary of State Byrnes, General Marshall might be the man President Truman would pick to succeed him, nevertheless the actual announcement of the change took official Washington by surprise.

The idea that the task of secretary of state had proved so exacting to Secretary Byrnes as to jeopardize his health has long been prevalent here. After all, Mr. Byrnes has had a strenuous time in public life. Service such as he has had in the House, then the Senate, then on the Supreme Court, next as director of economic mobilization for the late President Roosevelt, and finally as secretary of state in these uncertain times would break down many a man less sturdy than Mr. Byrnes.

It has been known, of course, that President Truman had a very extreme admiration for General Marshall and considered him not only a great soldier but a tactful diplomat. But, while rumor had it that Marshall was the favorite for secretary of state in case of Byrnes' resignation, it was considered also that a younger man—possibly Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal—might be chosen.

Matter Of Presidential Succession

The matter of presidential succession comes up immediately, of course. If Mr. Forrestal had been named, he might have been talked of as a Democratic nominee to succeed Mr. Truman, for the navy secretary is regarded as one of the most efficient men of the younger group in public life and an especially capable negotiator.

By selecting General Marshall, the presidential succession could pass to a military man if fate took President Truman from the presidency through illness or sudden accident. When the presidential succession bill was discussed in 1945 at the time that Edward Stettinius was secretary of state, the Congress promptly ceased thinking much about the problem as James F. Byrnes became the head of the cabinet. Now with a military man as second to Mr. Truman, it seems probable that the passage of a presidential succession bill will be hastened.

As a matter of fact, General Marshall would make an excellent president. But labor union leaders have never felt kindly toward a military man in the White House or a governor's chair. They seem to feel that military men would use troops to break strikes or would have such a rigid attitude toward labor unions as to be potentially hostile.

General Marshall, it will be recalled, said something rather forceful about railroad unions in December 1944 when there was a threat of a railroad strike. He seemed to think that this thwarted some of our diplomatic plans to shorten the war in Europe.

General Marshall has been mentioned from time to time as a man who might be politically desirable for the Democrats to nominate in the event that President Truman chooses not to run in 1948. But the General is not likely to allow politics to bother him, as he has an exact sense of duty and, if a boom arises, he will dispose of it without hesitation. It seems a safe assumption that, if General Marshall is ever to become a candidate for high office, it will not be through his efforts or through the efforts of any group of friends seeking to gain the office for him. He would squelch that sort of thing promptly. It would have to be a real draft by a party convention.

Will Make Excellent Secretary

General Marshall will make an excellent secretary of state. He has patience and a broad familiarity with diplomatic questions growing out of the war. He also will bring to the Department of State a policy of cooperation with the military branches of the government, so that in a sense the often-urged blending of diplomatic and military policy may make greater progress through the coincidence of the appointment of a former chief of staff to the secretaryship of state than it could make through a formally chosen council. It may be, however, that General Marshall will insist on the formation of such a council because, it will be recalled, he was one of those who complained about the inability of the armed services to keep pace with diplomatic policy before Pearl Harbor.

The appointment of General Marshall will be interpreted abroad as indicating firmness rather than appeasement or softening of our attitude on the atomic bomb or anything else in the field of diplomacy.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I generally take the papers to bed with me. I find certain editorials put me to sleep faster than a pill.

Billy Rose

Last night, the front pages were again full of labor news—portal-to-portal suits, the revised Case Bill, new wage demands. An editorial blaming labor for the decline of the Roman Empire made me decide to switch off the lamp.

"Morpheus, come and get your boy," I sighed. But an hour later I was still as wide-eyed as Greer Garson. Those newspaper stories kept jitterbugging around in my head. For a minute I thought sleep was creeping up on me—but it turned out to be my pajamas. I tried changing position, but all that happened was my left arm went to sleep. "You lucky stiff," I snarled, as I shook it awake.

I snapped on the light, went into the kitchen and heated up some milk. I drank it, turned over the pillow to get the cool side, and tried again. Still no sleep. I would have paid a fancy price for a shot of the stuff the little Dutchmen poured for Rip Van Winkle.

I decided to use the blackboard technique. You pretend you're writing your thoughts on the board, and keep erasing them as fast as you write them. I wrote them in longhand and then in shorthand. I played four games of tic-tac-toe with myself and lost all four. I gave up, wrote a naughty word on the blackboard, neglected to erase it, and started counting sheep.

The first fifty sheep went over the fence fine. The next one came up to the fence, stopped, turned around, and went back. "Get over that fence," I shouted, "or I'll make stew out of you."

"Just a minute, Jack," said Number 51. "Threats will get you nowhere."

"Who are you, muttonhead?" I snarled.

"You'll find out soon enough, Jack," said my woolly friend. He walked over to the fence, took a tape measure and measured it. "Just as I thought," said the sheep. "It's six inches too high. Inhuman!"

"I don't get it," I said. "Since when are sheep dictating how high my fence is going to be?"

"Since a month ago," he said. "We organized, and Lewis took us in under District 50. I'm the delegate."

"Scram, lamb," I yelled, "and let a tired man get some sleep."

"No contract, no sheep, and no sheep, no sleep," he said.

I took a long look at him. He had the bushiest eyebrows I ever saw on a prospective lamb pie. "I don't need a contract," I said. "Nine nights out of ten I fall asleep easily."

"That's why we got a union," he said. "What are we supposed to do the nights you don't need us? You'll have to put on six standby sheep whether you have insomnia or not."

I thought he had a point there, and said, "OK. I'll buy that. Now start jumping."

"Not so fast, Jack," he said. "There are one or two other things to discuss. Jumping is pretty strenuous work. From now on, you're not to sleep over six hours a night."

This I couldn't go for. I told him to go curry himself.

He gave out a loud "Baa!" and suddenly sheep formed a picket line around my bed. They were carrying signs that read, "Are we sheep or are we goats?"—"Don't let Rose pull our wool over his eyes." Some of them wore buttons reading, "Don't fence me in." At the end of the line, one little sheep carried a sign reading, "Free Tom Mooney."

A ram jumped up on my stomach and began making a speech. His face reminded me of Willie Howard, the comedian. "Lambchops of the world, unite!" he hollered. "We have been clipped by the capitalist insomniacs long enough. The time has come to get more grass for ewe, and ewe, and especially ewe. Comes the revolution, we'll all eat clover."

"But I don't like clover," said one little lamb.

"Comes the revolution," thundered the speaker, "you'll eat clover and like it!"

Around five that morning I gave in. I signed a closed-sheep agreement, promised to lower the fence and remove all "Keep off the Grass" signs, said I wouldn't use black sheep or wolves in sheep's clothing. As a special concession, I agreed that ten minutes in every hour the sheep could count me.

The delegate smiled sheepishly, gave out another "Baa!" and jumped over the fence. The other sheep followed him and I started counting. By the time I reached a hundred, I was fast asleep.

Federal Agents Assist In Probe Of Drug Robbery

The theft of a large amount of drugs at both Cumberland Hospitals early Wednesday morning is being investigated by narcotic agents of the United States Treasury Department in addition to work of local police, officers said last night.

No arrests had been made late last night in the case, but police said the investigation was being pushed to learn who entered Memorial and Allegany Hospitals and stole large amounts of drugs from both pharmacies.

Officials at the hospitals surmised that the thefts were committed by "experts" who took only narcotics after forcing windows leading to the pharmacies. At Allegany hospital, the intruders apparently became frightened and fled without taking other drugs in a cabinet which was pried open.

Identical methods were employed at both hospitals by the robbers, police said.

Benjamin J. Wright, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, reported this morning that he had notified the Bureau of Narcotics as required by law. He added that an inventory to determine the amount of drugs stolen is still in progress.

Wright praised police for arriving at the hospital soon after the robbery was discovered about 1 a. m. Tuesday. He said officers spent a considerable amount of time there checking for clues.

Police said last night that they believe both robberies were staged by out-of-town persons connected with a ring of narcotic thieves. They also said there is a possibility that the thieves had inside connections, since it would be difficult for out-of-town persons to know just where to go in the hispitals to get the narcotics.

Teamsters Union Heads Are Installed Here

Charles E. Bramble was installed as president of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL, at a meeting in Allegany Trade's Council hall Tuesday night. Other officers of the 900 member local, all elected for five year terms are:

C. E. Stutzman, vice president and business manager; B. A. Harris, secretary-treasurer; and Leo Fike, recording secretary.

Trustees are Harry May, three year term; O. A. Swan, two years and Leo Adams, one year term.

Bramble has headed the local since 1937, Stutzman has been business manager since 1940, and Harris has held his present post since 1939.

Suit Filed Asking Sale Of 278 Acres

A suit asking a decree for the sale of real estate in Barton estimated at 278 acres of land and involving 49 heirs was filed yesterday in Circuit Court by James Alfred Avirett, counsel for the plaintiffs.

The bill states that the land was originally owned by the late Nelson H. Messe, who died in 1908 leaving the estate to his wife during her life and then to his 11 children.

Delayed action on the part of the heirs created some difficulty in locating a deed to the land which has separate rights for timber, mineral and surface on the estate.

Many of the children have married and now there are several grandchildren and great grandchildren legally entitled to some share of the estate, according to the bill.

The counsel declared that some of the divisions of the estate will be as small as 5-1188 of a share, while the living children of the original owner will receive 5-33 shares of the estate if the sale is ordered by the court.

Deaths

His parents were the late John and Virginia Tucker Carmichael.

Col. Carmichael attended school in Lexington and was graduated from Washington and Lee University. During World War I he served in the engineer corps with the rank of captain and spent one year overseas. He retired from the Army with the rank of colonel.

A former member of the Hagerstown Board of Street Commissioners, Col. Carmichael held membership in the Masons, Sigma Nu fraternity and the Boy Scouts Council. He also took an active part in affairs of the American Legion.

His wife, Mrs. Pricilla Williams Bridges Carmichael, died in March, 1945. A son, Jack Carmichael, was killed in 1924 while serving as a cadet at West Point.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Virginia Tucker Carmichael, at home; a sister, Mrs. Oliver Perry Alford, of Queenstown, a brother, Henry St. George Tucker Carmichael, of Kyrock, Ky.

RICE B. CHAMBERS

Word of the death of Rice B. Chambers, Birmingham, Ala., husband of Mrs. Hattie Baker Wolfe Chambers, formerly of Frostburg, has been received here by Walter H. Baker, 1001 Shade's lane, brother of Mrs. Chambers.

Mr. Chambers died January 3 at his home in Alabama, after an illness of approximately two years. Besides his widow he is survived by two children, Margaret and Harold, at home.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon.

Service Is Life's Test, Brake Says

Service is the one great test of life, Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church and past district governor of Lions International, said yesterday in addressing the local Lions club as it marked the birthday of Melvin Jones, founder of the international, and honored its 10 charter members.

Rev. Mr. Brake said that when the local club was formed 17 years ago it was marked for service, not only then but in the years to come.

Ten of the charter members still are active and continuing to carry out service to their fellow man, Rev. Mr. Brake stated.

He pointed out that service is the one great test of life, and added that man's greatest hour has been when he has given himself freely for someone else.

Charter members of the club who are still active are Gordon L. Bowie, Dr. J. Russell Cook, Paul Heuer, Samuel W. Kaplon, Franklin W. Cramer, Lynn C. Lashley, George W. Martin, Frank C. Myers, Robert T. Powell and John K. Snyder. Snyder introduced other charter members who were present.

The first directors' meeting for 1947 will be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday in Central YMCA.

Zoning Board Grants Two Permit Appeals

E. L. Keefer, 723 Fairmont avenue, was granted his appeal last night by the Board of Zoning Appeals for an occupancy permit to use a room in a two-story frame building at 901 Maryland avenue as a shoe repair shop. The premises were formerly occupied by a confectionery.

Mrs. J. Donald Stillwagon, 330 North Mechanic street, was granted her appeal for a permit to use part of the first floor in the two-story brick building at 215 South Lee street for a gift and art shop.

Mrs. Stillwagon testified that she plans to supply materials to women interested in knitting and crocheting, and that she and her husband plan to move to the South Lee address in the near future.

Additional YMCA Boy Delegates Listed

Additional delegates to the YMCA Older Boys' Conference to be held at Catonsville this weekend were announced yesterday by Robert L. Sisson, general secretary of Central YMCA.

William Dailey, Donald Sensabaugh and Lawrence Hansrote will represent the Fort Hill High School Hi-Y group. Clifton Van Roby, physical director at the "Y", will be in charge of the county delegation.

The Hi-Y Council will meet this coming Monday at 7:15 p. m. at the "Y", and at that time it is expected that the local delegates will report on the conference.

Dr. R. Floyd Cromwell, supervisor of educational and vocational guidance for the State Department of Education, will be chairman of the discussion groups.

Dixon Is Honored By Church Board

Edwin T. Dixon, 650 Fayette street, a member of the official board of Centre Street Methodist Church, who celebrated his 84th birthday Tuesday, was guest of honor at a special dinner held by the board prior to its monthly business session last night in the clubroom at the church.

Dr. Walter Marion Michael, pastor, presided as president of the board. Harry Simpson presented Mr. Dixon with a pen and pencil set as a gift from the board. Forty-five persons attended.

Mr. Dixon, a native of Frederick county, came to Cumberland in August, 1896. He retired in 1944 after serving as auditor and assistant treasurer of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad for 48 years.

Army Recruiters Enlist 12 Men

Twelve more men have enlisted in the Army at the local recruiting station, according to Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow, officer in charge. They are:

Federal Agents Assist In Probe Of Drug Robbery

The theft of a large amount of drugs at both Cumberland Hospitals early Wednesday morning is being investigated by narcotic agents of the United States Treasury Department in addition to work of local police, officers said last night.

No arrests had been made late last night in the case, but police said the investigation was being pushed to learn who entered Memorial and Allegany Hospitals and stole large amounts of drugs from both pharmacies.

Officials at the hospitals surmised that the thefts were committed by "experts" who took only narcotics after forcing windows leading to the pharmacies. At Allegany hospital, the intruders apparently became frightened and fled without taking other drugs in a cabinet which was pried open.

Identical methods were employed at both hospitals by the robbers, police said.

Benjamin J. Wright, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, reported this morning that he had notified the Bureau of Narcotics as required by law. He added that an inventory to determine the amount of drugs stolen is still in progress.

Wright praised police for arriving at the hospital soon after the robbery was discovered about 1 a. m. Tuesday. He said officers spent a considerable amount of time there checking for clues.

Police said last night that they believe both robberies were staged by out-of-town persons connected with a ring of narcotic thieves. They also said there is a possibility that the thieves had inside connections, since it would be difficult for out-of-town persons to know just where to go in the hispitals to get the narcotics.

Teamsters Union Heads Are Installed Here

Charles E. Bramble was installed as president of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL, at a meeting in Allegany Trade's Council hall Tuesday night. Other officers of the 900 member local, all elected for five year terms are:

C. E. Stutzman, vice president and business manager; B. A. Harris, secretary-treasurer; and Leo Fike, recording secretary.

Trustees are Harry May, three year term; O. A. Swan, two years and Leo Adams, one year term.

Bramble has headed the local since 1937, Stutzman has been business manager since 1940, and Harris has held his present post since 1939.

Suit Filed Asking Sale Of 278 Acres

A suit asking a decree for the sale of real estate in Barton estimated at 278 acres of land and involving 49 heirs was filed yesterday in Circuit Court by James Alfred Avirett, counsel for the plaintiffs.

The bill states that the land was originally owned by the late Nelson H. Messe, who died in 1908 leaving the estate to his wife during her life and then to his 11 children.

Delayed action on the part of the heirs created some difficulty in locating a deed to the land which has separate rights for timber, mineral and surface on the estate.

Many of the children have married and now there are several grandchildren and great grandchildren legally entitled to some share of the estate, according to the bill.

The counsel declared that some of the divisions of the estate will be as small as 5-1188 of a share, while the living children of the original owner will receive 5-33 shares of the estate if the sale is ordered by the court.

Deaths

His parents were the late John and Virginia Tucker Carmichael.

Col. Carmichael attended school in Lexington and was graduated from Washington and Lee University. During World War I he served in the engineer corps with the rank of captain and spent one year overseas. He retired from the Army with the rank of colonel.

A former member of the Hagerstown Board of Street Commissioners, Col. Carmichael held membership in the Masons, Sigma Nu fraternity and the Boy Scouts Council. He also took an active part in affairs of the American Legion.

His wife, Mrs. Pricilla Williams Bridges Carmichael, died in March, 1945. A son, Jack Carmichael, was killed in 1924 while serving as a cadet at West Point.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Virginia Tucker Carmichael, at home; a sister, Mrs. Oliver Perry Alford, of Queenstown, a brother, Henry St. George Tucker Carmichael, of Kyrock, Ky.

RICE B. CHAMBERS

Word of the death of Rice B. Chambers, Birmingham, Ala., husband of Mrs. Hattie Baker Wolfe Chambers, formerly of Frostburg, has been received here by Walter H. Baker, 1001 Shade's lane, brother of Mrs. Chambers.

Mr. Chambers died January 3 at his home in Alabama, after an illness of approximately two years. Besides his widow he is survived by two children, Margaret and Harold, at home.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon.

Two of the largest underground caves in the United States are in a single Kentucky county, Edmonson.

Service Is Life's Test, Brake Says

Service is the one great test of life, Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church and past district governor of Lions International, said yesterday in addressing the local Lions club as it marked the birthday of Melvin Jones, founder of the international, and honored its 10 charter members.

Rev. Mr. Brake said that when the local club was formed 17 years ago it was marked for service, not only then but in the years to come.

Ten of the charter members still are active and continuing to carry out service to their fellow man, Rev. Mr. Brake stated.

He pointed out that service is the one great test of life, and added that man's greatest hour has been when he has given himself freely for someone else.

Charter members of the club who are still active are Gordon L. Bowie, Dr. J. Russell Cook, Paul Heuer, Samuel W. Kaplon, Franklin W. Cramer, Lynn C. Lashley, George W. Martin, Frank C. Myers, Robert T. Powell and John K. Snyder. Snyder introduced other charter members who were present.

The first directors' meeting for 1947 will be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday in Central YMCA.

Zoning Board Grants Two Permit Appeals

E. L. Keefer, 723 Fairmont avenue, was granted his appeal last night by the Board of Zoning Appeals for an occupancy permit to use a room in a two-story frame building at 901 Maryland avenue as a shoe repair shop. The premises were formerly occupied by a confectionery.

Mrs. J. Donald Stillwagon, 330 North Mechanic street, was granted her appeal for a permit to use part of the first floor in the two-story brick building at 215 South Lee street for a gift and art shop.

Mrs. Stillwagon testified that she plans to supply materials to women interested in knitting and crocheting, and that she and her husband plan to move to the South Lee address in the near future.

Additional YMCA Boy Delegates Listed

Additional delegates to the YMCA Older Boys' Conference to be held at Catonsville this weekend were announced yesterday by Robert L. Sisson, general secretary of Central YMCA.

William Dailey, Donald Sensabaugh and Lawrence Hansrote will represent the Fort Hill High School Hi-Y group. Clifton Van Roby, physical director at the "Y", will be in charge of the county delegation.

The Hi-Y Council will meet this coming Monday at 7:15 p. m. at the "Y", and at that time it is expected that the local delegates will report on the conference.

Dr. R. Floyd Cromwell, supervisor of educational and vocational guidance for the State Department of Education, will be chairman of the discussion groups.

Dixon Is Honored By Church Board

Edwin T. Dixon, 650 Fayette street, a member of the official board of Centre Street Methodist Church, who celebrated his 84th birthday Tuesday, was guest of honor at a special dinner held by the board prior to its monthly business session last night in the clubroom at the church.

Dr. Walter Marion Michael, pastor, presided as president of the board. Harry Simpson presented Mr. Dixon with a pen and pencil set as a gift from the board. Forty-five persons attended.

Mr. Dixon, a native of Frederick county, came to Cumberland in August, 1896. He retired in 1944 after serving as auditor and assistant treasurer of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad for 48 years.

VFW Will Consider Athletic Program

The summer athletic program of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be discussed at a special meeting of the post membership called for 7:30 p. m. January 16, at the post home.

Softball, baseball and rifle teams are slated for consideration.

At the meeting of the post Tuesday night, Raymond Reynolds, commander, named Lester Mull chairman of the picnic committee. The picnic date was set as Sunday, July 6.

Eight new members joined the post last night, boosting the current year's membership to 1,300.

Marriage Permits Issued

Three marriage licenses were issued yesterday in the office of the clerk of court. They are:

Ernest R. Westfall, Jr., Piedmont, and Adeline A. Bell, Luke.

James Wolfe and Marie Emerick, Cumberland.

Kenneth Rice and Mary F. Rumer, Keyser.

Divorce Granted

An absolute divorce was granted Raymond F. James from Dorothy M. James yesterday in Circuit Court. The decree signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster, also gave the custody of a minor child to the mother and ordered the plaintiff to pay $30 a month for support.

Helen Campbell Heads Girl Scout Leaders

Mrs. Armstrong Talks On Designing

Miss Helen Campbell was elected president of the Girl Scout Leaders' Association last night at a meeting in the Girl Scout headquarters, Greene street. Miss Campbell succeeds Mrs. A. M. Spioch, who was in charge of last night's meeting.

Other officers elected include Mrs. O. J. Hale, vice president; Mrs. Charles Brode, secretary and Miss Jeannette Beal, treasurer.

Plans were made for a rummage sale to be sponsored by the association Saturday morning, January 18, beginning at 9 o'clock in the Scout headquarters. The committee in charge of the sale includes Mrs. Patrick Hogan, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Brode and Miss Beal.

Mrs. Hogan, who serves as leader's representative in the Girl Scout Council, will remain in that capacity until her term expires in April.

Mrs. Robert Armstrong, a member of the American Designers' Association, was guest speaker at the meeting. The designers' association includes men and women designers for manufacture and industry. In her talk, Mrs. Armstrong exhibited two types of designing, second deminsion and third deminsion. The first type includes flat work such as paper and cloth designing and in the second type there are such objects as pottery, glassware, etc.

Mrs. Althea M. Correll, executive Scout secretary, was present at the meeting.

Following the business session a social was held with refreshments being served by Mrs. Spioch.

GUEST SPEAKER—Mrs. Mary Hooper, Baltimore, grand regent of the College of Regents, will be honor guest of the Women of the Moose, Chapter 914, at the regular meeting tonight, at the home. She will also give a short talk following the business session, which will be held at 8 o'clock.

Centre Street Married Couples Club Plans Supper

The Young Married Couples Club of Centre Street Methodist Church will hold a covered dish supper and social tomorrow night in the church parlors. It will begin at 6:30 and each member is asked to bring a dish.

Mrs. Charles Nuzum will preside at the short business session, when plans for next month' meeting will be formulated. A special program will be presented during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Duff are chairmen of the committee in charge of arrangements. They are being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lehr, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. John Durst and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wagner.

B And P Women Have Program On Legislature

A program under the direction of the Legislative committee, Miss Mildred Willison, chairman, featured the dinner-meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night at the Y, with Miss Anna Nicht presiding.

Miss Blanch White was the first speaker on the program. She divided her topic, "The Legislative Program Endorsed by the National Business and Professional Women's Club," into two parts. The first, "How the National Organization Sets Up a Legislative Program," and second, the "Legislative Program of 1946-1947 adopted by Convention, which Consisted of 10 Legislative Items."

Those items she listed as first, extension and improvement of the merit system in the government, appointments and promotions without regard to sex; second, adequate appropriations for the Woman's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor; third, Equal Rights Amendment; fourth, Establishment and Preservation of the Principle that the right to work for compensation shall not be abridged or denied by reason of race, religion, sex, economics or marital status.

The fifth point was opposition to discrimination against women; sixth, federal aid in support of public education with state control of funds and policies guaranteed; seventh, jury service for women; eighth, state legislation in conformity with the federal food, drugs and cosmetics act; ninth, action on legislation regarding child labor and tenth, listed item amended by the international relations plank, which is amended to read, "Support of Participation of the United States of America in the United Nations and support of foreign policy embracing international social development, economic and financial stability and a peaceful settlement of international disputes.

A discussion period followed her talk.

Next on the program Miss Winifred Greene discussed two bills, one the Education Finance act and the other Education Development act.

Miss Jane Botsford gave a brief outline of how the Equal Pay and Equal Work bill was kept from being discussed in the 79th Congress. She pointed out that the bill had to be unanimously accepted to be discussed. It was brought up by Sen. Pepper of Florida, and Sen. Taft, Ohio, and Sen. Ball, Minn., halted the discussion.

The Co-ordinated Action for Legislation was discussed by Miss Ruby Adams, who chose as her points, the meaning of politics, study of politics and action taken on politics.

Cresap Chapter Reports Activities, Names Delegates

Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Paul Glime, 11 North Allegany street, with Mrs. William Rankin, co-hostess.

Miss Ella Carter Hodgson, regent, presided. The president general's message was read by Mrs. Marshall Miller and the report on the December board meeting was given by Miss Hodgson.

Committee reports included a skit, given in the form of a radio program, on the work of the DAR at Ellis Island, by Mrs. William Gulland and Mrs. A. M. Hutchenson; a report on the correct use of the flag, by Mrs. John Findlay; one on conservation, memorials and projects by Mrs. Lewis Wilson, who also read a letter from the woman in the Netherlands, thanking them for the two boxes she had received from the chapter. Mrs. Mason Hill, Red Cross chairman, reported that she had purchased playing cards to be sent to Aberdeen.

Mrs. Glime and Mrs. Rankin were appointed delegates to the state convention to be held in Baltimore, in March. The alternates are Mrs Marshall Miller and Mrs. Hutchenson.

Helen Campbell Heads Girl Scout Leaders

Mrs. Armstrong Talks On Designing

Miss Helen Campbell was elected president of the Girl Scout Leaders' Association last night at a meeting in the Girl Scout headquarters, Greene street. Miss Campbell succeeds Mrs. A. M. Spioch, who was in charge of last night's meeting.

Other officers elected include Mrs. O. J. Hale, vice president; Mrs. Charles Brode, secretary and Miss Jeannette Beal, treasurer.

Plans were made for a rummage sale to be sponsored by the association Saturday morning, January 18, beginning at 9 o'clock in the Scout headquarters. The committee in charge of the sale includes Mrs. Patrick Hogan, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Brode and Miss Beal.

Mrs. Hogan, who serves as leader's representative in the Girl Scout Council, will remain in that capacity until her term expires in April.

Mrs. Robert Armstrong, a member of the American Designers' Association, was guest speaker at the meeting. The designers' association includes men and women designers for manufacture and industry. In her talk, Mrs. Armstrong exhibited two types of designing, second deminsion and third deminsion. The first type includes flat work such as paper and cloth designing and in the second type there are such objects as pottery, glassware, etc.

Mrs. Althea M. Correll, executive Scout secretary, was present at the meeting.

Following the business session a social was held with refreshments being served by Mrs. Spioch.

GUEST SPEAKER—Mrs. Mary Hooper, Baltimore, grand regent of the College of Regents, will be honor guest of the Women of the Moose, Chapter 914, at the regular meeting tonight, at the home. She will also give a short talk following the business session, which will be held at 8 o'clock.

Centre Street Married Couples Club Plans Supper

The Young Married Couples Club of Centre Street Methodist Church will hold a covered dish supper and social tomorrow night in the church parlors. It will begin at 6:30 and each member is asked to bring a dish.

Mrs. Charles Nuzum will preside at the short business session, when plans for next month' meeting will be formulated. A special program will be presented during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Duff are chairmen of the committee in charge of arrangements. They are being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lehr, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. John Durst and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wagner.

B And P Women Have Program On Legislature

A program under the direction of the Legislative committee, Miss Mildred Willison, chairman, featured the dinner-meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night at the Y, with Miss Anna Nicht presiding.

Miss Blanch White was the first speaker on the program. She divided her topic, "The Legislative Program Endorsed by the National Business and Professional Women's Club," into two parts. The first, "How the National Organization Sets Up a Legislative Program," and second, the "Legislative Program of 1946-1947 adopted by Convention, which Consisted of 10 Legislative Items."

Those items she listed as first, extension and improvement of the merit system in the government, appointments and promotions without regard to sex; second, adequate appropriations for the Woman's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor; third, Equal Rights Amendment; fourth, Establishment and Preservation of the Principle that the right to work for compensation shall not be abridged or denied by reason of race, religion, sex, economics or marital status.

The fifth point was opposition to discrimination against women; sixth, federal aid in support of public education with state control of funds and policies guaranteed; seventh, jury service for women; eighth, state legislation in conformity with the federal food, drugs and cosmetics act; ninth, action on legislation regarding child labor and tenth, listed item amended by the international relations plank, which is amended to read, "Support of Participation of the United States of America in the United Nations and support of foreign policy embracing international social development, economic and financial stability and a peaceful settlement of international disputes.

A discussion period followed her talk.

Next on the program Miss Winifred Greene discussed two bills, one the Education Finance act and the other Education Development act.

Miss Jane Botsford gave a brief outline of how the Equal Pay and Equal Work bill was kept from being discussed in the 79th Congress. She pointed out that the bill had to be unanimously accepted to be discussed. It was brought up by Sen. Pepper of Florida, and Sen. Taft, Ohio, and Sen. Ball, Minn., halted the discussion.

The Co-ordinated Action for Legislation was discussed by Miss Ruby Adams, who chose as her points, the meaning of politics, study of politics and action taken on politics.

Cresap Chapter Reports Activities, Names Delegates

Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Paul Glime, 11 North Allegany street, with Mrs. William Rankin, co-hostess.

Miss Ella Carter Hodgson, regent, presided. The president general's message was read by Mrs. Marshall Miller and the report on the December board meeting was given by Miss Hodgson.

Committee reports included a skit, given in the form of a radio program, on the work of the DAR at Ellis Island, by Mrs. William Gulland and Mrs. A. M. Hutchenson; a report on the correct use of the flag, by Mrs. John Findlay; one on conservation, memorials and projects by Mrs. Lewis Wilson, who also read a letter from the woman in the Netherlands, thanking them for the two boxes she had received from the chapter. Mrs. Mason Hill, Red Cross chairman, reported that she had purchased playing cards to be sent to Aberdeen.

Mrs. Glime and Mrs. Rankin were appointed delegates to the state convention to be held in Baltimore, in March. The alternates are Mrs Marshall Miller and Mrs. Hutchenson.

Ursuline Auxiliary Will Hold Card Party, Feb. 12

Special Meeting Is Scheduled Jan. 28

The Ursuline Academy Auxiliary formulated plans for a card party at the meeting Tuesday night, at the school, with Mrs. Gilbert Rehbeck.

Mrs. Frederick Puderbaugh was named chairman for the party, which will be held February 12. Assisting her will be Mrs. William L. Keller, chairman of bridge, assisted by Mrs. Ann Russell and Mrs. William J. Logsdon; Mrs. Vincent Lindner, set back, assisted by Mrs. Paul Greise; Mrs. Frank Donahue, 500, assisted by Mrs. Robert Barnhill and Mrs. Morris Kirk.

Mrs. J. Homer Wilson is chairman of Refreshments, with her committee including Mrs. Frank Kelly, Mrs. Norman Sell, Mrs. Samuel Drubeck, Mrs. Richard Shireman and Mrs. Joseph Becker. The girls of the junior and senior classes will assist in serving.

Prizes will be under the joint chairmanship of Mrs. Joseph H. Rinehart, Jr., and Mrs. Rehbeck.

A special meeting will be held January 28 to make final arrangements for the card party. It will be held in the assembly room of the academy. Following Tuesday's meeting refreshments were served by the junior class mothers.

Events In Brief

The Western Maryland Motor Club will install officers at the dinner-meeting at 6:30 tonight at the Queen City Hotel.

The Bowling Green 4-H Girls will meet at 7 tonight at the home of Mrs. Glenn Johnson.

The Arts Group of the Woman's Civic Club has postponed its meeting from today until January 14, when it will be held at the public library at 2 o'clock.

Personals

Pfc. Thomas A. Geatz, son of Mrs. Emma Geatz, 177 North Mechanic street, and the late George (Sonny) Geatz, arrived in the states from the ETO, Tuesday. A LaSalle basketball and football star Geatz has been overseas since last November.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Grimm and daughter, Judith, are visiting Mrs. Grimm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Beeche, former residents, now making their home in Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Walsh, North Smallwood street, were among those from Allegany county who attended the inauguration of Gov. William Preston Lane, at Annapolis, yesterday.

Miss Mildred Ginevan, 316 Polk street, spent the holiday with her mother in Oldtown.

Heads Nurses Group

The Western Maryland-Memorial Hospital Alumnae Association held election of officers at a short business session last night in the nurses home.

Miss Ruth Cornwell was re-elected president for a third term. Other officers serving with her are Miss Dallas Nolan, first vice president; Miss Betty Sue Montgomery, second vice president; and Miss Frances Oler and Miss May Matlick were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Committees will be appointed at the February meeting.

Marks First Birthday

Margaret Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dawson, 315 Williams street, was honored on her first birthday, with a party, earlier in the week, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Davis, 613 Maryland avenue.

Guests attending were Mrs. William Dean and son, William Robert; Mrs. Howard Dorsey and son Howard Jr., Mrs. George Foster and Margaret Ann Davis.

WIFE PRESERVERS

When cleaning dirty, greasy work clothes, turn the pockets and trouser cuffs inside out and brush away the accumulated dirt. Moisten the heavily soiled spots and rub with soap, then roll the garment up for a short time while the soap loosens the dirt. Before tubbing scrub the spots with a stiff brush.

THERE IS NO "PEACE AT ANY PRICE"

Jim has been having a good hard cry on my shoulder. His name isn't really Jim but you'll recognize the type.

Jim is a sweet, lovable, spineless egg. He's 6-feet-2 in height and has a jaw like a sledge hammer. But he spends most of his time in the doghouse. All because his nagging little wife has Jim buffaloed.

So Jim does "anything for the sake of peace." He gives in even when he knows said wife is as wrong as a busted steering gear. He surrenders. He compromises. He crawls on his solar plexus. He smiles with his teeth when he's boiling inside.

"Anything for peace," says Jim. Which is the bunk.

A husband who does anything for peace against his principles and his intestinal fortitude invariably faces the same end—on the junk pile. He is despised by the little hellion who shoves him around. And quite rightly. She married him expecting to find a sturdy oak and when he turned out to be a bowl of mush she took it out on his hide and disposition.

This also applies to everyone, married or unmarried, who aims to agree with all sides at once. Whereupon he speedily and painfully discovers that every side will give him the foot for being a worm.

"Anything for peace" is probably the most spineless and cowardly policy that was ever put over on the human race. And it invariably ends in a hunk of grief. The man who will do anything for peace either in his domestic or business life or in his friendships will end by being despised by everyone concerned. Which is perfectly fair, because he has committed the ultimate sin—he has sold his self-respect.

If you have any personal standards, stick to them come hell or high water. Perhaps your standards may be cockeyed. But if you're sincerely sold on them and have been honestly willing to listen to constructive criticism without being convinced, hang on to what you believe. And don't let any wheedling boss or whimpering wife or nagging sweetheart or blustering friend shove you to the other side. For you please no one if you desert your own principles. You'll simply get a punch in the brisket which you will deserve. And be rated as one of the lowest one-celled forms of life.

Personally I believe that a nagging wife or a blustering boss deserves the same comeback when they take advantage of a shy and peace loving man. Meaning what? Meaning a swift kick in the shin or a black eye. and that applies to nagging females as well as to mean employers.

The man who sells himself out will always be sold out.

The man who doesn't respect his own principles will never be respected for surrendering to another's.

If you want to be respected, respect yourself first and all will follow after.

"Peace at any price" is never peace. It's just a racket. It's a racket in which the stronger will always trample on the weaker or more sensitive one. And if you end in the dog house you have only yourself to blame.

Cresaptown Firemen Install Officers

E. M. McKenzie was installed as president of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company last night.

Other officers installed are Kenneth L. Toohey, vice president; W. C. Scott, recording secretary; Edward Borgman, treasurer; J. L. McKenzie, financial secretary; H. A. Lasher, fire chief for his eighth term; and Arthur Winters, drill sergeant. Scott and Borgman were re-elected for a second term.

Joseph Wenrich is chairman of the board of trustees. Other members are Orel Nicholas, E. A. Faulkner, Bernard Hinds and Francis Nicholas.

A husband who does anything for peace against his principles and his intestinal fortitude invariably faces the same end—on the junk pile. He is despised by the little hellion who shoves him around. And quite rightly. She married him expecting to find a sturdy oak and when he turned out to be a bowl of mush she took it out on his hide and disposition.

This also applies to everyone, married or unmarried, who aims to agree with all sides at once. Whereupon he speedily and painfully discovers that every side will give him the foot for being a worm.

"Anything for peace" is probably the most spineless and cowardly policy that was ever put over on the human race. And it invariably ends in a hunk of grief. The man who will do anything for peace either in his domestic or business life or in his friendships will end by being despised by everyone concerned. Which is perfectly fair, because he has committed the ultimate sin—he has sold his self-respect.

If you have any personal standards, stick to them come hell or high water. Perhaps your standards may be cockeyed. But if you're sincerely sold on them and have been honestly willing to listen to constructive criticism without being convinced, hang on to what you believe. And don't let any wheedling boss or whimpering wife or nagging sweetheart or blustering friend shove you to the other side. For you please no one if you desert your own principles. You'll simply get a punch in the brisket which you will deserve. And be rated as one of the lowest one-celled forms of life.

Personally I believe that a nagging wife or a blustering boss deserves the same comeback when they take advantage of a shy and peace loving man. Meaning what? Meaning a swift kick in the shin or a black eye. and that applies to nagging females as well as to mean employers.

The man who sells himself out will always be sold out.

The man who doesn't respect his own principles will never be respected for surrendering to another's.

If you want to be respected, respect yourself first and all will follow after.

"Peace at any price" is never peace. It's just a racket. It's a racket in which the stronger will always trample on the weaker or more sensitive one. And if you end in the dog house you have only yourself to blame.

Cresaptown Firemen Install Officers

E. M. McKenzie was installed as president of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company last night.

Other officers installed are Kenneth L. Toohey, vice president; W. C. Scott, recording secretary; Edward Borgman, treasurer; J. L. McKenzie, financial secretary; H. A. Lasher, fire chief for his eighth term; and Arthur Winters, drill sergeant. Scott and Borgman were re-elected for a second term.

Joseph Wenrich is chairman of the board of trustees. Other members are Orel Nicholas, E. A. Faulkner, Bernard Hinds and Francis Nicholas.

Frostburg Legion Auxiliary Plans Meeting Monday

Plans Will Be Made For April Session

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Jan. 8 — Reports will be given by committee chairmen and plans for the district meeting in April will be discussed at a regular meeting of Farrady Unit No. 24, American Legion Auxiliary, at the Legion home Monday, January 13, at 8 p. m. Mrs. Sarah Davis, president, will preside.

Mrs. Alvenia Cole, membership chairman, has requested all former members and those eligible for membership to attend this meeting and become enrolled for 1947, so that they will be able to participate in the celebration planned by the post and auxiliary in honor of the visit of National Commander Paul Griffith, Uniontown, Pa., and department officials in May.

Following the business session, the annual jingle party will be held, and each member is requested to bring a gift. Refreshments will be served.

Bridges Rites Set

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Elliott Bridges, 79, wife of John L. Bridges, who died Monday night at her home, Slabtown, after a lingering illness, will be held Friday at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Mt. Savage. Interment will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery. The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg, until the time of the funeral.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Bridges is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Marshall Logsdon, Slabtown, and Mrs. Binona Hughes and Mrs. Blanche Ruby, Cumberland; three sons, Edgar and Lewis Bridges, both of Mt. Savage, and Robert B. Bridges, Elkins, W. Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Alma Boor, Cresaptown, and Mrs. Bessie Hardinger, a resident of Utah; three brothers, William Elliot, Dayton, Ohio; 35 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

Garrett WSCS Meets

The WSCS of Mt. Zion Church, Long Stretch, Garrett county, was entertained Sunday, at 2 p. m. by Mrs. Samuel Crowe and Mrs. Lloyd Morton, at the latter's home, near Guntertown.

Mrs. Herbert Pope was in charge of the meeting, the theme of which was "Stewardship of the Children of the World." Mrs. Edwin Robeson led the discussion and Mrs. Wilbur Durst was in charge of the devotions. Eighteen members attended and Mrs. Bruce Bowers, Long, was a guest. The birthdays of Miss Leanna Layman and Mrs. Herbert Pope was observed.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rella Emerson.

Officers Elected

The Sunday school of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, meeting recently, elected officers for the ensuing year, including Frank Carter, superintendent; John G. Pfaff, Sr., assistant; Lena Rizer, secretary; Llewella Carter, assistant; Rosella Youngeram, treasurer; Amelia Brode, assistant; Hazel Hill, librarian; Betty Ward, Joann Brode and Lorraine Martens, assistant librarians.

Superintendents for the various departments will be Mrs. Mary Carter, adults; Elsie Kroll, young people; Mrs. Pearl Mattingly, senior; Mrs. Betty Davis, intermediate; Miss Edith Skidmore, junior; Miss Estelle Williams, primary; Mrs. Ida Harbel, cradle roll; and Miss Lillie Wasmuth, home.

The officers were installed Sunday, January 5, at a service conducted by Rev. George L. Wehler. Following the installation, promotions were made and promotion certificates presented to groups transferred to higher classes.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. E. E. Jones, 120 Grant street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Nellie Lee Jones, to Seaman First Class Herbert Mullenax, son of Mrs. Frank McMillan, Baltimore Pike, near Cumberland.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. George E. Baughman, Methodist minister, at his home in La-Vale, December 30. The bride was attired in a street-length gown of light wool crepe in a shade of medium blue. Her accessories were black and she wore a corsage of red rose buds.

The bridegroom is stationed at Bainbridge with the Navy. His bride will reside at her home for the present.

Miss Hott Is Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred V. Hott, 279 East Main street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Susan Hott, to Edward Leslie Kreider, son of Police Officer and Mrs. Ronald Kreider, Beall street. The ceremony was performed Thursday evening at the rectory of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Cumberland, by Rev. Father Ervan Maisel.

The bride was attired in a traveling suit of brown wool and wore a corsage of gardenias. Following the ceremony they left for a trip to Washington, returning here yesterday.

The bride is a graduate of Beall High School and Frostburg State Teachers' College and has been teaching school the past three years at Hyattsville Elementary School, Hyattsville. The bridegroom, also a graduate of Beal High School, is a student at Potomac State School, Keyser, W. Va.

They are residing temporarily at 156 Green street, but plan to move to Keyser in the near future.

Frostburg Briefs

Donald Griffith, East Main street, who recently passed the civil service examination, was appointed to the Frostburg police force Monday evening at a regular meeting of the city council. He was recommended by Police Commissioner Arthur Thomas, who stated that present force of five officers was inadequate. Thomas said it is necessary to have an officer on duty all night at the fire station to answer police and fire calls and with a force of five men he could not assign a man for duty at the police station. Griffith's appointment will increase the number of city policemen on regular duty to six.

The mayor and city commissioners have granted $400 to the Frostburg Fire Department for the fund being raised to defray expenses in connection with the state convention of the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association to be held here in June.

The Frostburg Fire Department, in cooperation with the Ladies Auxiliary, will conduct an honorary membership drive to raise funds to finance the convention to be held here June 18, 19 and 20. The drive will be a house-to-house canvass of Frostburg and surrounding areas with solicitors selling honorary membership cards to residents. Preceding the canvass, a letter will be mailed out explaining the purpose of the campaign for funds and making inquiry as to available housing facilities to handle the firemen, their wives and others who will be here for the convention.

Calanthe Temple No. 3, Pythian Sisters, will hold their annual installation of officers Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Junior Order Hall, Broadway. The officers are asked to be present at 7 p. m. for rehearsal.

Frostburg Personals

Mrs. Gordon Taylor, Miss Winifred Green, Miss Agnes T. Howat, Miss Nellie Powell, Miss Margaret ice, Miss Sarah Wright and Miss belle Screen are home from Bermuda after spending a 10-day vacation. They returned on a British amphibian plane which was flown from Bermuda to Baltimore in five hours.

Mrs. Mollie Byrnes and Miss Annie Powers, Maple street, are home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mosley, Silver Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. William Footen, University Park, Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. George Engle, Charles street, are in Johnstown, N. Y., visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Waldo, and their infant granddaughter.

Central Students To Present Farce

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, Jan. 8—A New Year's farce, "Don't be Alarmed," will be enacted by students of 10C section, Room 204, as a feature of their class's assembly program to be presented at 9 a. m. Thursday, in Central High School auditorium to the high school department.

The play will be characterized by Ruth Lee Cuthbertson, Ruth Weir, Edythe Alexander, Carol Bradley, Sylvia Robertson, Edna Myers and Raymond Ralston.

A musical duet will be presented on the program by William Neff and Charles Duckworth. Lois Grindle and June Hershberger will give a dance duet, accompanied by George Grindle.

William Wilson will present a reading. Shirley Morton will lead in prayer and Scripture reading.

Past Chiefs To Meet

The Past Chiefs of the Pythian Sisters will meet Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Union street, it was announced today. Refreshments and social will follow the business meeting.

Undergoes Operation

Mrs. Emma Wilkes underwent an operation in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, on Monday, and is reported getting along fine.

Purnell's Observe 57th Wedding Anniversary

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, Jan. 8—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Purnell, Hambleton, held a dinner on New Year's Day at Sunset Inn, honoring the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Parks, Hambleton, on their 57th wedding anniversary.

Places at the dinner were laid for Mrs. Rose Arnold, Mrs. Priscilla Poling, Mrs. Paul Ketterman and son, Kenneth, and Miss Joan Arnold, al lof Porterwood; Mr. and Mrs. Murel Kennedy and James Bulla of Elkins; Dewey Purnell, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Purnell and sons, Jack and Russell, Jr., and Mrs. Sarah Webster, all of Hambleton; Misses Betty Joe and Barbara Newlon of Clarksburg, the host and hostesses and the honored guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks were married at the home of the bride's parents in Barbour county on January 1, 1890, with Rev. Mr. Lalaz officiating. Those living today who were at the wedding then include the brother and sister of Mr. Parks, Amos Parks of Philippi, and Mrs. Bertha Nutter of Clarksburg, and the bride's only brother, Jacob Zinn, of Borbour county.

Mrs. Parks, the former Laura Ann Zinn, was born in Barbour county, June 29, 1870, a daughter of th elate Riley and Amanda Simmons Zinn.

Mr. Parks was born in Barbour county, November 22, 1866, a son of the late Granville and Susan Hardman Parks. He came to Tucker county 52 years ago and while in Parsons, served two terms as city policeman there and also worked for the Armour Leather Company there for nine years, then moving to Shaffer's Fork where he operated a farm until 12 years ago when he came to Hambleton to reside, after retiring.

He is active for a man of his age, tending his own garden which is one of the nicest in that town.

They are the parents of four children, all of whom are living. They are: Mrs. Earl Purnell, owner of Sunset Inn; Otto Parks of Hambleton; Otis Parks, of Monaca, Pa., and Roscoe Parks of Parsons. They have six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Meeting Of Telephone Union Workers Postponed

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 8—(AP)—Inability of Washington and Baltimore groups to come here today caused postponement of a scheduled meeting of representatives of seven unions within the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company three-state system.

A. V. Atkinson, chairman of the Virginia Federation of Telephone Workers, announcing postponement of the meeting said a date is yet to be set.

Some 25 delegates, representing the telephone company employes, had been expected to discuss bargaining objectives and policies for new contract negotiations, expected to begin in February, according to union representatives.

Atkinson said the present contract expires March 31 and that union demands must be submitted to individual companies by February 1.

Barton Auxiliary Installs Officers

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON, Jan. 8 — Mrs. Jane Davis was installed as president of the Ladies Auxiliary of Barton Hose Company No. 1 at a meeting held last evening in the firemen's armory.

The installation service was held with Mrs. Bessie Wilkes giving the oath to the elected officers. Other officers installed were Mrs. Harmon Gannon, vice president; Mrs. Hugh Devlin, recording secretary; Mrs. Perry Ross, financial secretary, and Mrs. David Gowans, treasurer.

Mrs. Davis announced the following committee for the ensuring year Refreshments: Mesdames Louise Lamberson, Myrtle Saville, Hilda Broadwater, Bessie Wilkes and Nellie Howell. Sick: Laura Shuhart and Anna Johnson.

The group made plans for a benefit social to be held Monday, January 13, 8 o'clock, in the armory. Games will be played and prizes awarded, Mrs. Davis, stated.

Following the installation, refreshments were served and the evening entertainment was playing games.

Report On Convention

The Parent-Teachers Association of Barton High School met last evening at the school with Forrest Mowbray, president, presiding.

Mesdames Daisy Hyde and Helen Kroll, delegates to the convention held in Cumberland in November, reported on the meetings which was well received by the group.

A final report on the Miles of Pennies drive which is being sponsored by the group couldn't be made due to a number of envelope not being turned in. All citizens are asked to turned these envelopes in as soon as possible to any teachers, Mrs. Agnes McDonald, chairman of the drive, at Hyde's Grocery; or to Mr. Forrest Mowbray, at Mowbray's Grocery.

The secretary was ordered to write to Charles L. Kopp and the Board of Education in regard to securing additional seats for the auditorium.

A health committee for Mrs. Daisy Hyde, chairman; Mrs. Ruby Gattens and Mrs. Gerald Durhm, was named by the president.

Following the business session a short program of movies and group singing was held under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Footen, program chairman. The next meeting of the association will be held March 4.

Meeting Is Called

An important meeting of Star Council No. 37, Jr. O.U.A.M. will be held Friday evening, 7:30, in the Odd Fellow's hall, Hall street, Joseph Davis, councilor, stated.

Plans Will Be Made For April Session

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Jan. 8 — Reports will be given by committee chairmen and plans for the district meeting in April will be discussed at a regular meeting of Farrady Unit No. 24, American Legion Auxiliary, at the Legion home Monday, January 13, at 8 p. m. Mrs. Sarah Davis, president, will preside.

Mrs. Alvenia Cole, membership chairman, has requested all former members and those eligible for membership to attend this meeting and become enrolled for 1947, so that they will be able to participate in the celebration planned by the post and auxiliary in honor of the visit of National Commander Paul Griffith, Uniontown, Pa., and department officials in May.

Following the business session, the annual jingle party will be held, and each member is requested to bring a gift. Refreshments will be served.

Bridges Rites Set

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Elliott Bridges, 79, wife of John L. Bridges, who died Monday night at her home, Slabtown, after a lingering illness, will be held Friday at 9 a. m. in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Mt. Savage. Interment will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery. The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg, until the time of the funeral.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Bridges is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Marshall Logsdon, Slabtown, and Mrs. Binona Hughes and Mrs. Blanche Ruby, Cumberland; three sons, Edgar and Lewis Bridges, both of Mt. Savage, and Robert B. Bridges, Elkins, W. Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Alma Boor, Cresaptown, and Mrs. Bessie Hardinger, a resident of Utah; three brothers, William Elliot, Dayton, Ohio; 35 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

Garrett WSCS Meets

The WSCS of Mt. Zion Church, Long Stretch, Garrett county, was entertained Sunday, at 2 p. m. by Mrs. Samuel Crowe and Mrs. Lloyd Morton, at the latter's home, near Guntertown.

Mrs. Herbert Pope was in charge of the meeting, the theme of which was "Stewardship of the Children of the World." Mrs. Edwin Robeson led the discussion and Mrs. Wilbur Durst was in charge of the devotions. Eighteen members attended and Mrs. Bruce Bowers, Long, was a guest. The birthdays of Miss Leanna Layman and Mrs. Herbert Pope was observed.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rella Emerson.

Officers Elected

The Sunday school of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, meeting recently, elected officers for the ensuing year, including Frank Carter, superintendent; John G. Pfaff, Sr., assistant; Lena Rizer, secretary; Llewella Carter, assistant; Rosella Youngeram, treasurer; Amelia Brode, assistant; Hazel Hill, librarian; Betty Ward, Joann Brode and Lorraine Martens, assistant librarians.

Superintendents for the various departments will be Mrs. Mary Carter, adults; Elsie Kroll, young people; Mrs. Pearl Mattingly, senior; Mrs. Betty Davis, intermediate; Miss Edith Skidmore, junior; Miss Estelle Williams, primary; Mrs. Ida Harbel, cradle roll; and Miss Lillie Wasmuth, home.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. E. E. Jones, 120 Grant street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Nellie Lee Jones, to Seaman First Class Herbert Mullenax, son of Mrs. Frank McMillan, Baltimore Pike, near Cumberland.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. George E. Baughman, Methodist minister, at his home in LaVale, December 30. The bride was attired in a street-length gown of light wool crepe in a shade of medium blue. Her accessories were black and she wore a corsage of red rose buds.

The bridegroom is stationed at Bainbridge with the Navy. His bride will reside at her home for the present.

Miss Hott Is Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred V. Hott, 279 East Main street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Susan Hott, to Edward Leslie Kreider, son of Police Officer and Mrs. Ronald Kreider, Beall street. The ceremony was performed Thursday evening at the rectory of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Cumberland, by Rev. Father Ervan Maisel.

The bride was attired in a traveling suit of brown wool and wore a corsage of gardenias. Following the ceremony they left for a trip to Washington, returning here yesterday.

The bride is a graduate of Beall High School and Frostburg State Teachers' College and has been teaching school the past three years at Hyattsville Elementary School, Hyattsville. The bridegroom, also a graduate of Beal High School, is a student at Potomac State School, Keyser, W. Va.

They are residing temporarily at 156 Green street, but plan to move to Keyser in the near future.

Frostburg Briefs

Donald Griffith, East Main street, who recently passed the civil service examination, was appointed to the Frostburg police force Monday evening at a regular meeting of the city council. He was recommended by Police Commissioner Arthur Thomas, who stated that present force of five officers was inadequate. Thomas said it is necessary to have an officer on duty all night at the fire station to answer police and fire calls and with a force of five men he could not assign a man for duty at the police station. Griffith's appointment will increase the number of city policemen on regular duty to six.

The mayor and city commissioners have granted $400 to the Frostburg Fire Department for the fund being raised to defray expenses in connection with the state convention of the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association to be held here in June.

The Frostburg Fire Department, in cooperation with the Ladies Auxiliary, will conduct an honorary membership drive to raise funds to finance the convention to be held here June 18, 19 and 20. The drive will be a house-to-house canvass of Frostburg and surrounding areas with solicitors selling honorary membership cards to residents. Preceding the canvass, a letter will be mailed out explaining the purpose of the campaign for funds and making inquiry as to available housing facilities to handle the firemen, their wives and others who will be here for the convention.

Calanthe Temple No. 3, Pythian Sisters, will hold their annual installation of officers Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Junior Order Hall, Broadway. The officers are asked to be present at 7 p. m. for rehearsal.

Frostburg Personals

Mrs. Gordon Taylor, Miss Winifred Green, Miss Agnes T. Howat, Miss Nellie Powell, Miss Margaret [illegible]ice, Miss Sarah Wright and Miss [illegible]belle Screen are home from Bermuda after spending a 10-day vacation. They returned on a British amphibian plane which was flown from Bermuda to Baltimore in five hours.

Mrs. Mollie Byrnes and Miss Annie Powers, Maple street, are home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mosley, Silver Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. William Footen, University Park, Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. George Engle, Charles street, are in Johnstown, N. Y., visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Waldo, and their infant granddaughter.

Purnell's Observe 57th Wedding Anniversary

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, Jan. 8—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Purnell, Hambleton, held a dinner on New Year's Day at Sunset Inn, honoring the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Parks, Hambleton, on their 57th wedding anniversary.

Places at the dinner were laid for Mrs. Rose Arnold, Mrs. Priscilla Poling, Mrs. Paul Ketterman and son, Kenneth, and Miss Joan Arnold, al lof Porterwood; Mr. and Mrs. Murel Kennedy and James Bulla of Elkins; Dewey Purnell, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Purnell and sons, Jack and Russell, Jr., and Mrs. Sarah Webster, all of Hambleton; Misses Betty Joe and Barbara Newlon of Clarksburg, the host and hostesses and the honored guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks were married at the home of the bride's parents in Barbour county on January 1, 1890, with Rev. Mr. Lalaz officiating. Those living today who were at the wedding then include the brother and sister of Mr. Parks, Amos Parks of Philippi, and Mrs. Bertha Nutter of Clarksburg, and the bride's only brother, Jacob Zinn, of Borbour county.

Mrs. Parks, the former Laura Ann Zinn, was born in Barbour county, June 29, 1870, a daughter of th elate Riley and Amanda Simmons Zinn.

Mr. Parks was born in Barbour county, November 22, 1866, a son of the late Granville and Susan Hardman Parks. He came to Tucker county 52 years ago and while in Parsons, served two terms as city policeman there and also worked for the Armour Leather Company there for nine years, then moving to Shaffer's Fork where he operated a farm until 12 years ago when he came to Hambleton to reside, after retiring.

He is active for a man of his age, tending his own garden which is one of the nicest in that town.

They are the parents of four children, all of whom are living. They are: Mrs. Earl Purnell, owner of Sunset Inn; Otto Parks of Hambleton; Otis Parks, of Monaca, Pa., and Roscoe Parks of Parsons. They have six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Meeting Of Telephone Union Workers Postponed

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 8—(AP)—Inability of Washington and Baltimore groups to come here today caused postponement of a scheduled meeting of representatives of seven unions within the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company three-state system.

A. V. Atkinson, chairman of the Virginia Federation of Telephone Workers, announcing postponement of the meeting said a date is yet to be set.

Some 25 delegates, representing the telephone company employes, had been expected to discuss bargaining objectives and policies for new contract negotiations, expected to begin in February, according to union representatives.

Atkinson said the present contract expires March 31 and that union demands must be submitted to individual companies by February 1.

Barton Auxiliary Installs Officers

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON, Jan. 8 — Mrs. Jane Davis was installed as president of the Ladies Auxiliary of Barton Hose Company No. 1 at a meeting held last evening in the firemen's armory.

The installation service was held with Mrs. Bessie Wilkes giving the oath to the elected officers. Other officers installed were Mrs. Harmon Gannon, vice president; Mrs. Hugh Devlin, recording secretary; Mrs. Perry Ross, financial secretary, and Mrs. David Gowans, treasurer.

Mrs. Davis announced the following committee for the ensuring year Refreshments: Mesdames Louise Lamberson, Myrtle Saville, Hilda Broadwater, Bessie Wilkes and Nellie Howell. Sick: Laura Shuhart and Anna Johnson.

The group made plans for a benefit social to be held Monday, January 13, 8 o'clock, in the armory Games will be played and prizes awarded, Mrs. Davis, stated.

Following the installation, refreshments were served and the evening entertainment was playing games.

Report On Convention

The Parent-Teachers Association of Barton High School met last evening at the school with Forrest Mowbray, president, presiding.

Mesdames Daisy Hyde and Helen Kroll, delegates to the convention held in Cumberland in November, reported on the meetings which was well received by the group.

A final report on the Miles of Pennies drive which is being sponsored by the group couldn't be made due to a number of envelope not being turned in. All citizens are asked to turned these envelopes in as soon as possible to any teachers, Mrs. Agnes McDonald, chairman of the drive, at Hyde's Grocery; or to Mr. Forrest Mowbray, at Mowbray's Grocery.

The secretary was ordered to write to Charles L. Kopp and the Board of Education in regard to securing additional seats for the auditorium.

A health committee for Mrs. Daisy Hyde, chairman; Mrs. Ruby Gattens and Mrs. Gerald Durhm, was named by the president.

Following the business session a short program of movies and group singing was held under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Footen, program chairman. The next meeting of the association will be held March 4.

Meeting Is Called

An important meeting of Star Council No. 37, Jr. O.U.A.M. will be held Friday evening, 7:30, in the Odd Fellow's hall, Hall street, Joseph Davis, councilor, stated.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Miss Fairfax, Taking Shot In Dark, Advises Barrage Of Gifts

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

After going steady with a girl for about a month and a half, she broke off with me. The reason we broke up was that she didn't like my ways, and I can't say I blame her. I was very informal and as frank as I could be with her. I thought that she would understand me and realize that I was really in love with her, but she didn't, and took it for mistrust.

This is the girl I had always dreamed of, and I thought surely nothing would go wrong. I have promised her that if she will only give me another chance I would be different, but now I find it difficult even to talk to her. I think that she still cares about me, because she won't have anything to do with other fellows. I would like your advice on how I might get another chance with her.

"SNAFU"

Wel, "Snafu," I'm a little confused myself. I can't imagine what you mean when you say you were so informal and frank with this girl that she didn't understand and took it for mistrust. As far as I'm concerned, that just doesn't make any sense.

What did you do or say that was so disastrously frank and informal, and who mistrusted whom? I'm afraid you'll have to be more specific if you want me to advise you, because nothing you say gives me any clue as to why this girl should have been so offended, and hence I wouldn't know how to remedy the damage. It's just too vague.

If I must take a shot in the dark, I'd say to try sending a barrage of flowers, candy, etc., each gift accompanied by a note saying you're sorry in a different way each time. Maybe you might intrigue her into forgiving whatever it was you did or said.

She's Older Than Boy Friend

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 25, and very much in love with a boy four years younger. He has proposed to me and we have been going steady for one whole year. He has a very pleasing personality and acts and talks like an older and more experienced man than one of 21.

He insists that I marry him and says the difference in our ages doesn't matter. I can't turn him down, as he really wants to settle down and make me happy. Everybody says I don't look as old as 25. Would I be doing right to marry him?

UNDECIDED

It's not a matter of right or wrong, "Undecided," but rather one of his and your own happiness or unhappiness. And which you would have, if you married this young man, depends far more on whether you are congenial, have the same interests and standards, feel a sense of satisfying companionship when you are together, like much the same sort of people and all that, than it does upon your ages.

Conventionally, of course, a marriage is supposed to get off to a better start where the girl is younger than the man, the theory being that at 21, for instance, a girl is about as mature as a man of 23 or 24. If you reverse the thing it would mean that, at the ages of yourself and your young man, you are relatively much older than the mere four years between you.

But it doesn't always follow, by any means, and there have been many instances of happy and successful marriages between an older woman and a younger man. The main thing is, as I have already said, to be sure you have similar tastes, standards and interests, and I might add, that you do not feel maternal toward him, nor he look up to you as an older sister.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 7—An extremely interesting telephone conversation was the one Leo McCarey had a few days ago with Sinclair Lewis, who is in Boston. The upshot was that Lewis has promised to write "Adam and Eve" that unique idea that has been simmering in Leo's active brain for over a year.

Tony Martin

Getting Lewis is official and serious — but there have been some funny mishaps with "Adam and Eve"—and there will probably be others. Remember, Jimmy Stewart and Ingrid Bergman were originally cast in the two-role opus and suddenly Jimmy bowed out saying, "I'm too skinny for the part!"

But don't think it is entirely hopeless to get Ingrid for "Eve". She loved working for Leo in "The Bells of St. Mary's" and has said she would like to do another movie with him. If the lady says "yes", McCarey feels he can get along with an unknown in "Adam's" role.

Richard Ney, who is so much in demand these days at the studios, knew he was right when he decided to be independent. It really took a lot of courage for him to step out of MGM when he came back from the war, because he felt he wanted to be on his own and not handed jobs because of his famous wife, Greer Garson.

Now that Richard is on his own, he's been busy practically every day—so busy that he's doing two pictures at once. While he's working in "Ivy" at Universal-International, he's also agreed to play Miles in "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir" with Gene Tierney and Rex Harrison. Now that's not a bad assignment.

The thing that makes him happiest is that he was asked for by the same group who made "The Late George Apley" in which he appeared with Ronald Colman and Peggy Cummins.

One of my pet operators in New York send word to wait and watch for the advent of Delia Garcis, the beauty from Brazil, in the movie colony soon.

Apparently, Miss Garcis has been knocking them cold in New York not only in professional but in the social circles. She is married to a wealthy Argentinean named Alberto De Qavalia and before coming to this country she starred in Buenos Aires in "Claudia" and "The Constant Nymph" on the stage.

What particularly interested me is that Irene Selznick is supposed to have already signed her for stage shows and is giving her estranged husband, David, the first call on her movie career.

Mrs. Howard Hawks—"Slim" to us in Hollywood—is being discussed as the new west coast editor of Harper's Bazaar.

The former editor, Adele Dillingham O'Connor, resigned to give her full time to her new son Timothy and her husband, Bill O'Connor.

Slim, who was recently selected as America's best dressed woman, should be very good since she knows fashions and what the well dressed woman should wear. A lot of us depend upon Harper's Bazaar for the latest fashions.

Chatter in Hollywood: A tragic piece of Hollywood news is the complete loss of Ella Campbell's restaurant through the carelessness of someone who threw a lighted cigaret in a cushion.

Ella had all her treasures, some of the things she brought from Buckingham Palace when she was one of the housekeepers there, also rare liquors. Her meals were out of this world and she was always so nice to everyone who went there.

I do hope it is true, as Edith Gwynn said, that the British movie people will finance a new tavern. Not only should the British do it, but I think some of the rest of us should hold out a helping hand to a woman who deserves it. She is such a wonderful woman.

Xavier Cugat, the rhumba king, put over a very good deal for American musicians when he was the guest of Miguel Aleman, president of Mexico, a few weeks ago.

He has made it possible for American musicians to take their bands to Mexico and use 50 percent Americans and 50 percent Mexicans

This means that Harry James, Jerry Wald and some of the top-notch orchestra leaders, who have been hampered by the lack of enough places in which to play, can delight Mexican audiences.

Cugat, by the way, is marrying Lorraine Allen in Mexico City in a very short time.

The first person to rush into Darryl Zanuck's office when he got back from Sun Valley, was George Jessel.

Darryl must have thought a storm hit him, Jessel was so excited. He had just received word from the Copacabana Club in Miami Beach, offering him $15,000 for a week's engagement.

Georgie's all tied up in movie production with many pictures, but the chance to act again was just too much. A ham at heart, eh?

Seems that the Copacabana, which just filed suit against Milton Berle for $250,000, for failing to appear on schedule, wants George, and wants him badly.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Noreen Nash and Dr. Siegel's baby son fell off the hamper in the bathroom and suffered a concussion. Thank goodness, today he was much better. . . . Angela Lansbury and Hurd Hatfield have taken up where they left off before her unhappy marriage to Dick Cromwell. . . . The avalanche of social events continues. Connie Moore and Johnnie Maschio opened their new home today with a cocktail party. It's wonderful what they have done with the house they bought, it's so attractive. Connie has retired from the screen until the birth of her baby in April. . . . The N. Peter Rathvons had a gala dinner dance which honored Dore Schary, the new production head of RKO. Helen and Peter know the art of giving successful parties. . . . Eileen Howe, the allergic girl, is not allergic apparently to Dick Bare, the director who was Nancy Guild's boy friend before the advent of Edward Lasker. . . . Good news that Mrs. Walter Lang, known affectionately as Fieldsie, is much better. She has been very ill with virus pneumonia. . . . Tony Martin's telephone calls from Chicago are to Marguerite Chapman. She is his biggest heart throb since Rita Hayworth. . . . David May is enroute to New York. Over the holidays he saw Ann Rutherford to the exclusion of any other possible interest. Friends are still hoping these two will get together. Annie is doing over her house with Don Loper in charge. . . . H. D. Hover's new romance is Linda Dean, Conover model beauty. . . . The attractive gent with Mozelle Britton at the Kings was Saidi Ipar, cousin of Virginia Bruce's bridegroom. . . . The robbery of the Mocambo followed Charlie Morrison's cocktail party given at the Crillon in celegration of his seventh year. Everybody in town was there. All the weekend receipts were taken, and that's a considerable hunk. It was certainly a bold daylight robbery. . . . Jack Lait, editor of the New York Mirror, is in town. That's all today.

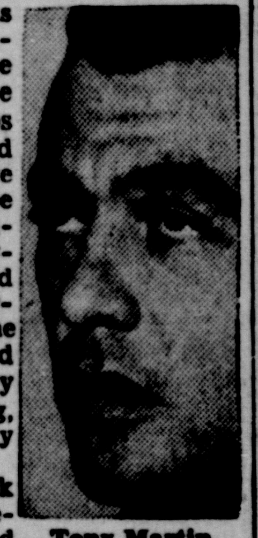
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 7—An extremely interesting telephone conversation was the one Leo McCarey had a few days ago with Sinclair Lewis, who is in Boston. The upshot was that Lewis has promised to write "Adam and Eve" that unique idea that has been simmering in Leo's active brain for over a year.



Tony Martin

Getting Lewis is official and serious — but there have been some funny mishaps with "Adam and Eve"—and there will probably be others. Remember, Jimmy Stewart and Ingrid Bergman were originally cast in the two-role opus and suddenly Jimmy bowed out saying, "I'm too skinny for the part!"

But don't think it is entirely hopeless to get Ingrid for "Eve". She loved working for Leo in "The Bells of St. Mary's" and has said she would like to do another movie with him. If the lady says "yes", McCarey feels he can get along with an unknown in "Adam's" role.

Richard Ney, who is so much in demand these days at the studios, knew he was right when he decided to be independent. It really took a lot of courage for him to step out of MGM when he came back from the war, because he felt he wanted to be on his own and not handed jobs because of his famous wife, Greer Garson.

Now that Richard is on his own, he's been busy practically every day—so busy that he's doing two pictures at once. While he's working in "Ivy" at Universal-International, he's also agreed to play Miles in "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir" with Gene Tierney and Rex Harrison. Now that's not a bad assignment.

The thing that makes him happiest is that he was asked for by the same group who made "The Late George Apley" in which he appeared with Ronald Colman and Peggy Cummins.

One of my pet operators in New York send word to wait and watch for the advent of Delia Garcis, the beauty from Brazil, in the movie colony soon.

Apparently, Miss Garcis has been knocking them cold in New York not only in professional but in the social circles. She is married to a wealthy Argentinean named Alberto De Qavalia and before coming to this country she starred in Buenos Aires in "Claudia" and "The Constant Nymph" on the stage.

What particularly interested me is that Irene Selznick is supposed to have already signed her for stage shows and is giving her estranged husband, David, the first call on her movie career.

Mrs. Howard Hawks—"Slim" to us in Hollywood—is being discussed as the new west coast editor of Harper's Bazaar.

The former editor, Adele Dillingham O'Connor, resigned to give her full time to her new son Timothy and her husband, Bill O'Connor.

Slim, who was recently selected as America's best dressed woman, should be very good since she knows fashions and what the well dressed woman should wear. A lot of us depend upon Harper's Bazaar for the latest fashions.

Chatter in Hollywood: A tragic piece of Hollywood news is the complete loss of Ella Campbell's restaurant through the carelessness of someone who threw a lighted cigaret in a cushion.

Ella had all her treasures, some of the things she brought from Buckingham Palace when she was one of the housekeepers there, also rare liquors. Her meals were out of this world and she was always so nice to everyone who went there.

I do hope it is true, as Edith Gwynn said, that the British movie people will finance a new tavern. Not only should the British do it, but I think some of the rest of us should hold out a helping hand to a woman who deserves it. She is such a wonderful woman.

Alvin Paris Is Convicted On Bribe Charge

Two New York Giants' Players Are Suspended

Night Club Figure Faces Prison, Fine

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Dapper Alvin J. Paris, 28-year-old Broadway and night club figure, was convicted speedily late today by a general sessions court jury of offering bribes to two key New York Giants' players to "lay down" in the December 15 championship game with the Chicago Bears.

Bert Bell, National Professional League football commissioner, announced at once that the two backs, Frank Filchock and Merle Hapes, were suspended and that an immediate hearing would be conducted to decide on possible league action against them.

The two women and 10 men deliberated only 65 minutes before returning the guilty verdict at 4:35 p. m. (EST) on the two counts of attempted bribery.

Paris, who took the verdict stoically, faces possible prison terms of five years and possible fines of $10,000 on each count of the alleged bribe offers.

Sentencing Set For Jan. 28

Judge Saul S. Streit, who set sentencing for January 28, indicated the investigation of the purported attempt to "fix" the National League title game was not ended. He told Paris after the verdict:

"My advice to you is: Co-operate with the district attorney if you expect any consideration from this court."

Assistant District Attorney George P. Monaghan, who prosecuted the case, had said that he considered Paris an agent of a gambling syndicate possibly centering in New Jersey.

Sidney Paris, father of the convicted man, said the verdict would be appealed. The quick-moving trial took only three days and Paris was convicted less than a month after the alleged bribe offers were made. A woman, Mrs. Gertrude Noble, was foreman of the jury.

After the verdict Paris told the court clerk he was single and gave his occupation as florist.

Filchock and Hapes, who testified yesterday as to the alleged bribe offers but declared they rejected them, were called to Bell's office for the closed hearing.

Bell said their suspension meant neither could participate in any league activity until he announced a decision in the case.

Both Filchock and Hapes admitted on the stand yesterday that they had not told police or Giants' officials of the alleged bribe offers. Filchock testified that he had informed Mayor William O'Dwyer a few hours before the game that he had not been offered a bribe, although he said this was untrue.

Judge Instructs Jury

Bell had said when the case first broke that he considered withholding of information conduct detrimental to football and that such an offense could be punishable by lifetime banishment from the National League.

Judge Streit told the jury to consider the following verdicts: Guilty of attempting to bribe either or both Frank Filchock or Merle Hapes, Giants' backfield stars, or acquittal.

The jury also was instructed to consider whether Hapes was an accomplice in the alleged bribe attempt.

"Filchock is not an accomplice," the judge said in his charge. "It is a question of fact for you to determine whether Hapes was an accomplice. If you conclude that Hapes was an accomplice a conviction cannot be had without corroborating evidence."

Before the judge's charge, the opposing attorneys had freely employed scorching epithets in describing the case's principals.

The defense surprised by resting without presenting a single witness.

OAKLAND HIGH CAGERS SCORE FIRST VICTORY

OAKLAND, Jan. 8 — Oakland High cagers, after suffering six consecutive defeats, tonight broke into the win column for the first time this season, turning back Grantsville High here, 23-13, in the opening game of the Garrett county championship series.

After a 4-4 tie at the quarter, Oakland surged to the front and was on top 10-5 at the half and 19-7 at the close of the third period. Kildow sparked Oakland with 18 of his team's points while Keister made half of Grantsville's four fielders. The lineups:

Joe Niland Suffers Burns To Left Hand

There is no possibility of Joe Niland and Jim Klosterman meeting in one of the three-round feature matches of a scheduled boxing show to be sponsored here on January 27 by the South Cumberland Athletic Club due to Niland suffering third degree burns to his left hand Tuesday night.

Niland told the News last night that a flap of matches he was holding in his hand caught fire, burning his hand severely, requiring treatment by a physician.

The News was informed that Niland will be unable to fight again until late winter or early spring.

LaSalle Defeats Beall 30-29 In Thrilling Game

Foul By Cloonan Is Margin Of Victory

A foul goal by Cloonan gave LaSalle High School a 30 to 29 victory over Beall High School in a game played at Frostburg last night before a crowd estimated at 1,000 persons.

The game was close and hard fought from start to finish with the lead changing several times and four or five times in the last quarter. Neither team was able to take a commanding lead at any stage of the game and the widest margin either had was about four points.

LaSalle held an 11 to 9 advantage at the end of the first quarter but Beall came back to outscore the locals in the second quarter and held a one point, 16 to 15, lead at half time.

The Cumberland boys spurted in the third quarter scoring 10 points to six for Beall and led 25 to 22 at the close of the third period. Beall came back in the final quarter to outscore LaSalle 7 to 5 and tied the score at 29 all shortly before the game ended. Nelson fouled Cloonan and the LaSalle forward stepped to the foul line and made the shot good to win the game.

Best and Murray were outstanding for Beall while Vanderhout, Cloonan and Stotler sparked for LaSalle.

Beall outscored LaSalle from the floor 12 to 11 but but inability to cash in at the foul line cost the Frostburgers the game. Beall made only 5 out of 17 foul shots while LaSalle cashed in on 8 out of 14.

In the preliminary game the LaSalle Jayvees defeated Beall Jayvees 32 to 25.

NCAA Adopts Six Rules To Govern Sports Programs

Action Is Deferred On Anti-Bowl Plan

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP) — To the accompaniment of occasional verbal fireworks, the National Collegiate A. A. today accepted a set of principles to govern the conduct of intercollegiate athletes, and deferred action on a surprise proposal to outlaw all "bowl" and post-season football games.

Concluding its annual convention, the N. C. A. A. accepted all six of the principles proposed by the Conference of Conferences, an offshoot of the main governing body, and took the first step toward making them effective by voting to appoint a committee on constitutional revision.

Before this set of general rules can become binding on the 252 colleges that compose the N. C. A. A., they must be written into the constitution, which cannot be done before the next annual meeting. Prof. Karl E. Leib, newly-elected president of the association, explained that in the meantime the acceptance of these principles gives them the effect of a moral obligation upon the membership.

Anti Bowl Proposal

Also referred to this new constitutional revision committee was a resolution offered by Col. William Couper, of Virginia Military Institute, which would limit colleges to 10 Varsity football games a season and prohibit participation in any post-season games.

Couper's anti-bowl proposal and the anti-recruiting provisions of the Conference of Conferences code resulted in lengthy debates on the convention floor. The other five principles, including one which limited financial aid to athletes to "tuition for instruction and or stated incidental institutional fees," were adopted by unanimous votes.

In referring the principles to the constitutional committee, which will be appointed within a few days, it was stipulated that the committee should take into consideration the divergence of opinion and the varied returns of a questionnaire distributed last summer by the Conference of Conferences when it considered the section on recruiting.

Section Is Quoted

This section says:

"No member of an athletic staff or other official representative of athletic interests shall, outside the boundaries of his own campus, solicit the attendance at his institution of any prospective student; nor shall he, whether on or off the campus, be permitted to offer financial aid or equivalent inducements to any prospective student. This principle shall not be construed as restricting the public appearance of a member of the athletic staff in the general interests of his institution, even though the occasions may be of an athletic nature."

Delegates from the South and Southwest raised vigorous objections that it "wouldn't work," that recruiting would be continued with alumni in charge and that it would give advantages to colleges with strong alumni organizations.

George Washington Turns Back Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP) — An alert George Washington University basketball team handed the Naval Academy its first defeat of the season today, winning from the Middies by a 43-38 score in Dahlgren Hall.

Navy was ahead 16 to 9 midway in the first half, but the Washingtonians' two-inch average height advantage began to tell. With Leonard Small, a substitute guard, leading the way with long shots, the visitors forged into the lead in the closing minutes of the half and were never headed.

Navy, hampered by a lack of reserves, fought back in the second period and at one time pulled to within a point of the George Washington quintet.

George Washington dominated the closing minutes of play and easily broke up the Middies' attempts to get set on desperation long shots.

Small, with eight field goals and a foul conversion for a total of 17 points, was the high scorer of the afternoon. Navy guard Dick Shugart was high for his team with 13.

It was George Washington's seventh win against one defeat. Navy has won two and lost one.

Frostburg State Seeks First Victory Tonight

FROSTBURG, Jan. 8 — Coach David H. Warner's Frostburg State Teachers College cage crew will endeavor to avenge a 50-42 defeat handed to them earlier in the season when they meet the Shepherd College five at Shepherdstown tomorrow night.

The Bobcats will be gunning for their first victory, having lost to Shepherd and California State Teachers, 96-32.

The starting lineup will probably be chosen from Nick Harris, Adrian Anderson, Bill Manges, Jim Donahue, Obrien Calhoun and Vic Cueva.

The Frostburgers will open the 1947 end of home games when they meet Mt. St. Mary's on the Beall

Kiddy Is Unable To Fight Jan. 20

Matchmaker Vic Ricker was advised yesterday that Tom Kiddy, Detroit middleweight, formerly of Westernport, suffered a hand injury in a bout at Chicago Tuesday night and will be unable to meet Pete Spotti, of Cecil, Pa., in the eight-round feature match of a professional show Monday, January 20 at the state armory.

Ricker had leased the armory for that date and was about ready to make announcement of the show when Merle Richards, Kiddy's manager, notified the local matchmaker yesterday that Tom came out of the Chicago match with a badly injured mitt. Kiddy suffered a similar injury early in December and was idle for about a month.

Kiddy, a former local amateur star, has won nine professional bouts and fought a draw in midwest rings since receiving his discharge from the United States Marine Corps.

The injury suffered by Kiddy will result in postponement of the show, Ricker said.

Richmond Defeats Maryland 41 To 39

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 8 (AP) —The University of Richmond barely won a hotly contested basketball game from the University of Maryland, 41-39, tonight before 3,000.

The Spiders took an early lead on a foul shot by Tony Diservio, but were tied a moment later on a foul by Bill Brown. With Diservio and Lou Miller scoring on almost impossible shots, the visitors ran up a 5-1 lead.

Shots from the foul line, however, kept the Maryland team in the game until late in the half which ended in a 27-20 count in the Virginians' favor.

The Terps came back fast in the second half with Don Schuerholz and John Edwards scoring to close the lead to 29-26.

Lou Miller kept the Sipders in front almost single handed as Edwards went on a scoring spree for the Terps with only three minutes remaining. Maryland pulled up to a 41-38 count, then the Terps muffed a chance to tie the score when Bill Brown and Don Schuerholz each failed to make a pair of foul shots good.

Time ran out as Miller scored a foul shot.

Ruth's Condition Is Reported As "Fair"

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—(AP)—Babe Ruth's condition was reported as "fair" late today at French Hospital where the home run king underwent a serious neck operation Monday.

The Bambino spent a "pretty comfortable night," hospital officials reported but said that Ruth complained of pain in the left side of his face and neck.

His temperature was about normal.

Only two visitors, his wife and an unidentified "close friend," have been permitted to see Ruth who earned baseball glory as a member of the New York Yankees in the golden twenties.

Hugh Stevenson Heads Beagle Club

Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie, was elected president of the Allegany Beagle Club at a meeting last night at the Central Y. M. C. A. Other officers who will serve during 1947 are W. R. Goebels, Frostburg, vice president, and T. James Stevenson, Cumberland, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Stevenson appointed Dr. H. C. Diehl, Frostburg, chairman of the field trial committee. Diehl will name his assistants.

John R. Armstrong, Triple Lakes, was named chairman of the grounds committee. Other members are Dean Broadwater, Cresaptown, and C. R. Deremer, Rawlings. Deremer was also appointed caretaker and patrolman of grounds.

H. M. Armstrong was chosen publicity secretary and after the meeting, he announced that the Tri-State Association of Beagle Clubs, of which the county organization is a member, had assigned March 16 as the date for the spring derby trial to be held on the club grounds on the McMullen Highway.

Armstrong also said that a series of trials are planned leading up to a club championship trial at the end of the year.

Erection of a clubhouse and kennels on the club grounds also was discussed.

Ed Barrow's 51 Year Baseball Career Closes

Terminates His Reign With Yanks

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP) — Another thread, perhaps the stoutest thread of all binding the New York Yankees of today with the mighty Bronx Bombers of yesteryear, has been severed, it was revealed today as Ed Barrow disclosed his contract as chairman of the board of directors had been terminated effective Dec. 31, 1946.

The parting was on amicable terms, the 79-year-old former president of the organization said. He had a five-year contract expiring in 1949, with a cancellation clause providing the pact could be terminated at the end of two years with the payment of a year's salary. This, he said, was done.

Thus apparently ended a 51-year baseball career and a 26-year association with a club which he largely was responsible for building into the mighty baseball empire it is today. Barrow said his plans were indefinite.

"I had several things in mind," he said, "but when a man reaches 79 years of age, well, he's pretty old."

Ed Barrow really personified the club of that glorious era when he and the late Col. Jake Ruppert ruled the vast empire and the bombers as a team—respected, admired, feared—were the symbol of all that was great in the game.

Barrow, more than anyone else, was responsible for the transition of Babe Ruth from a better than ordinary pitcher to the greatest of all sluggers. He brought the Bambino to the Yankees from the Red Sox shortly after he himself had been lured away from that club by Col. Til Huston and Ruppert to take over as general manager of Yankee baseball properties.

Keen of mind, cautious in every building move, but building with a painstaking thoroughness, he gradually blended a team which for sheer power and business efficiency probably surpassed any ever assembled. The club won pennants in 1921, 1922 and 1923, but it was not until three years later that it really began rolling in the manner which won the nickname of Bronx Bombers.

Four Interstate Loop Tilts On Tap Tonight

Ridgeley High School's basketball team, idle since December 17, when the Blackhawks opened the campaign with a 35-31 win over the Alumni, will swing into action against Allegany High School tonight at 8 o'clock on the Ridgeley court.

It's the opener of a home and home series between the schools, with the finale set for February 25 at Campobello.

Coach Walter L. Bowers' passers will be engaging in their sixth game of the season, having won three and lost two thus far.

In the preliminary game at 7 o'clock, the First Methodist Church Seniors, of Cumberland and the Ridgeley American Legion, of the Central YMCA Men's Senior League, will clash. These teams are tied for the runner up berth in the "Y" loop with records of three wins and one defeat.

Piedmont's high-stepping Lions, incative since December 23, will play hosts to Barton High School in Piedmont tonight. Coach "Huck" Miers' Mineral countians have copped six of their first seven games. Barton has won two games and lost three. Piedmont holds a 34-31 decision over the Braves.

In the third scholastic tilt of the evening, Dick McElwee's Romney High Pioneers will engage Fort Ashby in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Romney.

Frostburg State Teachers College resumes action tonight by playing Shepherd College at Shepherdstown, W. Va. It will be the Mountaineers third game of the season and their first since December 14. Coach Warner's team has dropped its first two tilts to California Teachers, 96-32, and Shepherd, 50-42.

Frostburg is at home Saturday, battling Mt. St. Mary's College, of Emmitsburg, Md.

Four Interstate League games are on tap tonight. At SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, commencing at 8 o'clock, the Cumberland Legion will play Fulton Myers Post, John Angellatta officiating, and the K. of C. will play host to the Paw Paw American Legion, with Gil Becker as the whistle tooter.

Lonaconing's pace-setting Legion quint will play the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose on the Central High floor, Herman Koegel and Ed Thompson officiating, while the Cumberland Amvets will test the Mt. Savage VFW at Mullaney's hall, Mt. Savage. Ken Gerard will handle the latter game.

Lapp's Plumbers and Cumberland Heights will collide at 8:30 o'clock on the "Y" court in a Central YMCA Senior Men's League contest. The Plumbers, undefeated, will be angling for their fifth straight victory. Cumberland Heights has failed to crash the win column in four starts.

Alvin Paris Is Convicted On Bribe Charge

Two New York Giants' Players Are Suspended

Night Club Figure Faces Prison, Fine

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP)—Dapper Alvin J. Paris, 28-year-old Broadway and night club figure, was convicted speedily late today by a general sessions court jury of offering bribes to two key New York Giants' players to "lay down" in the December 15 championship game with the Chicago Bears.

Bert Bell, National Professional League football commissioner, announced at once that the two backs, Frank Filchock and Merle Hapes, were suspended and that an immediate hearing would be conducted to decide on possible league action against them.

The two women and 10 men deliberated only 65 minutes before returning the guilty verdict at 4:35 p. m. (EST) on the two counts of attempted bribery.

Paris, who took the verdict stoically, faces possible prison terms of five years and possible fines of $10,000 on each count of the alleged bribe offers.

Sentencing Set For Jan. 28

Judge Saul S. Streit, who set sentencing for January 28, indicated the investigation of the purported attempt to "fix" the National League title game was not ended. He told Paris after the verdict:

"My advice to you is: Co-operate with the district attorney if you expect any consideration from this court."

Assistant District Attorney George P. Monaghan, who prosecuted the case, had said that he considered Paris an agent of a gambling syndicate possibly centering in New Jersey.

Sidney Paris, father of the convicted man, said the verdict would be appealed. The quick-moving trial took only three days and Paris was convicted less than a month after the alleged bribe offers were made. A woman, Mrs. Gertrude Noble, was foreman of the jury.

After the verdict Paris told the court clerk he was single and gave his occupation as florist.

Filchock and Hapes, who testified yesterday as to the alleged bribe offers but declared they rejected them, were called to Bell's office for the closed hearing.

Bell said their suspension meant neither could participate in any league activity until he announced a decision in the case.

Both Filchock and Hapes admitted on the stand yesterday that they had not told police or Giants' officials of the alleged bribe offers. Filchock testified that he had informed Mayor William O'Dwyer a few hours before the game that he had not been offered a bribe, although he said this was untrue.

Judge Instructs Jury

Bell had said when the case first broke that he considered withholding of information conduct detrimental to football and that such an offense could be punishable by lifetime banishment from the National League.

Judge Streit told the jury to consider the following verdicts: Guilty of attempting to bribe either or both Frank Filchock or Merle Hapes, Giants' backfield stars, or acquittal.

The jury also was instructed to consider whether Hapes was an accomplice in the alleged bribe attempt.

"Filchock is not an accomplice," the judge said in his charge. "It is a question of fact for you to determine whether Hapes was an accomplice. If you conclude that Hapes was an accomplice a conviction cannot be had without corroborating evidence."

Before the judge's charge, the opposing attorneys had freely employed scorching epithets in describing the case's principals.

The defense surprised by resting without presenting a single witness.

Joe Niland Suffers Burns To Left Hand

There is no possibility of Joe Niland and Jim Klosterman meeting in one of the three-round feature matches of a scheduled boxing show to be sponsored here on January 27 by the South Cumberland Athletic Club due to Niland suffering third degree burns to his left hand Tuesday night.

Niland told the News last night that a flap of matches he was holding in his hand caught fire, burning his hand severely, requiring treatment by a physician.

The News was informed that Niland will be unable to fight again until late winter or early spring.

LaSalle Defeats Beall 30-29 In Thrilling Game

Foul By Cloonan Is Margin Of Victory

A foul goal by Cloonan gave LaSalle High School a 30 to 29 victory over Beall High School in a game played at Frostburg last night before a crowd estimated at 1,000 persons.

The game was close and hard fought from start to finish with the lead changing several times and four or five times in the last quarter. Neither team was able to take a commanding lead at any stage of the game and the widest margin either had was about four points.

LaSalle held an 11 to 9 advantage at the end of the first quarter but Beall came back to outscore the locals in the second quarter and held a one point, 16 to 15, lead at half time.

The Cumberland boys spurted in the third quarter scoring 10 points to six for Beall and led 25 to 22 at the close of the third period. Beall came back in the final quarter to outscore LaSalle 7 to 5 and tied the score at 29 all shortly before the game ended. Nelson fouled Cloonan and the LaSalle forward stepped to the foul line and made the shot good to win the game.

Best and Murray were outstanding for Beall while Vanderhout, Cloonan and Stotler sparked for LaSalle.

Beall outscored LaSalle from the floor 12 to 11 but but inability to cash in at the foul line cost the Frostburgers the game. Beall made only 5 out of 17 foul shots while LaSalle cashed in on 8 out of 14.

In the preliminary game the LaSalle Jayvees defeated Beall Jayvees 32 to 25.

NCAA Adopts Six Rules To Govern Sports Programs

Action Is Deferred On Anti-Bowl Plan

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP) — To the accompaniment of occasional verbal fireworks, the National Collegiate A. A. today accepted a set of principles to govern the conduct of intercollegiate athletes, and deferred action on a surprise proposal to outlaw all "bowl" and post-season football games.

Concluding its annual convention, the N. C. A. A. accepted all six of the principles proposed by the Conference of Conferences, an offshoot of the main governing body, and took the first step toward making them effective by voting to appoint a committee on constitutional revision.

Before this set of general rules can become binding on the 252 colleges that compose the N. C. A. A., they must be written into the constitution, which cannot be done before the next annual meeting. Prof. Karl E. Leib, newly-elected president of the association, explained that in the meantime the acceptance of these principles gives them the effect of a moral obligation upon the membership.

Anti Bowl Proposal

Also referred to this new constitutional revision committee was a resolution offered by Col. William Couper, of Virginia Military Institute, which would limit colleges to 10 Varsity football games a season and prohibit participation in any post-season games.

Couper's anti-bowl proposal and the anti-recruiting provisions of the Conference of Conferences code resulted in lengthy debates on the convention floor. The other five principles, including one which limited financial aid to athletes to "tuition for instruction and or stated incidental institutional fees," were adopted by unanimous votes.

In referring the principles to the constitutional committee, which will be appointed within a few days, it was stipulated that the committee should take into consideration the divergence of opinion and the varied returns of a questionnaire distributed last summer by the Conference of Conferences when it considered the section on recruiting.

Section Is Quoted

This section says:

"No member of an athletic staff or other official representative of athletic interests shall, outside the boundaries of his own campus, solicit the attendance at his institution of any prospective student; nor shall he, whether on or off the campus, be permitted to offer financial aid or equivalent inducements to any prospective student. This principle shall not be construed as restricting the public appearance of a member of the athletic staff in the general interests of his institution, even though the occasions may be of an athletic nature."

Delegates from the South and Southwest raised vigorous objections that it "wouldn't work," that recruiting would be continued with alumni in charge and that it would give advantages to colleges with strong alumni organizations.

George Washington Turns Back Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 8 (AP) — An alert George Washington University basketball team handed the Naval Academy its first defeat of the season today, winning from the Middies by a 43-38 score in Dahlgren Hall.

Navy was ahead 16 to 9 midway in the first half, but the Washingtonians' two-inch average height advantage began to tell. With Leonard Small, a substitute guard, leading the way with long shots, the visitors forged into the lead in the closing minutes of the half and were never headed.

Navy, hampered by a lack of reserves, fought back in the second period and at one time pulled to within a point of the George Washington quintet.

George Washington dominated the closing minutes of play and easily broke up the Middies' attempts to get set on desperation long shots.

Small, with eight field goals and a foul conversion for a total of 17 points, was the high scorer of the afternoon. Navy guard Dick Shugart was high for his team with 13.

It was George Washington's seventh win against one defeat. Navy has won two and lost one.

Frostburg State Seeks First Victory Tonight

FROSTBURG, Jan. 8 — Coach David H. Warner's Frostburg State Teachers College cage crew will endeavor to avenge a 50-42 defeat handed to them earlier in the season when they meet the Shepherd College five at Shepherdstown tomorrow night.

The Bobcats will be gunning for their first victory, having lost to Shepherd and California State Teachers, 96-32.

The starting lineup will probably be chosen from Nick Harris, Adrian Anderson, Bill Manges, Jim Donahue, Obrien Calhoun and Vic Cueva.

The Frostburgers will open the 1947 end of home games when they meet Mt. St. Mary's on the Beall High court Saturday night.

Kiddy Is Unable To Fight Jan. 20

Matchmaker Vic Ricker was advised yesterday that Tom Kiddy, Detroit middleweight, formerly of Westernport, suffered a hand injury in a bout at Chicago Tuesday night and will be unable to meet Pete Spotti, of Cecil, Pa., in the eight-round feature match of a professional show Monday, January 20 at the state armory.

Ricker had leased the armory for that date and was about ready to make announcement of the show when Merle Richards, Kiddy's manager, notified the local matchmaker yesterday that Tom came out of the Chicago match with a badly injured mitt. Kiddy suffered a similar injury early in December and was idle for about a month.

Kiddy, a former local amateur star, has won nine professional bouts and fought a draw in midwest rings since receiving his discharge from the United States Marine Corps.

The injury suffered by Kiddy will result in postponement of the show, Ricker said.

Richmond Defeats Maryland 41 To 39

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 8 (AP) —The University of Richmond barely won a hotly contested basketball game from the University of Maryland, 41-39, tonight before 3,000.

The Spiders took an early lead on a foul shot by Tony Diservio, but were tied a moment later on a foul by Bill Brown. With Diservio and Lou Miller scoring on almost impossible shots, the visitors ran up a 5-1 lead.

Shots from the foul line, however, kept the Maryland team in the game until late in the half which ended in a 27-20 count in the Virginians' favor.

The Terps came back fast in the second half with Don Schuerholz and John Edwards scoring to close the lead to 29-26.

Lou Miller kept the Sipders in front almost single handed as Edwards went on a scoring spree for the Terps with only three minutes remaining. Maryland pulled up to a 41-38 count, then the Terps muffed a chance to tie the score when Bill Brown and Don Schuerholz each failed to make a pair of foul shots good.

Time ran out as Miller scored a foul shot.

Ruth's Condition Is Reported As "Fair"

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—(AP)—Babe Ruth's condition was reported as "fair" late today at French Hospital where the home run king underwent a serious neck operation Monday.

The Bambino spent a "pretty comfortable night," hospital officials reported but said that Ruth complained of pain in the left side of his face and neck.

His temperature was about normal.

Only two visitors, his wife and an unidentified "close friend," have been permitted to see Ruth who earned baseball glory as a member of the New York Yankees in the golden twenties.

Hugh Stevenson Heads Beagle Club

Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie, was elected president of the Allegany Beagle Club at a meeting last night at the Central Y. M. C. A. Other officers who will serve during 1947 are W. R. Goebels, Frostburg, vice president, and T. James Stevenson, Cumberland, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Stevenson appointed Dr. H. C. Diehl, Frostburg, chairman of the field trial committee. Diehl will name his assistants.

John R. Armstrong, Triple Lakes, was named chairman of the grounds committee. Other members are Dean Broadwater, Cresaptown, and C. R. Deremer, Rawlings. Deremer was also appointed caretaker and patrolman of grounds.

H. M. Armstrong was chosen publicity secretary and after the meeting, he announced that the Tri-State Association of Beagle Clubs, of which the county organization is a member, had assigned March 16 as the date for the spring derby trial to be held on the club grounds on the McMullen Highway.

Armstrong also said that a series of trials are planned leading up to a club championship trial at the end of the year.

Erection of a clubhouse and kennels on the club grounds also was discussed.

Ed Barrow's 51 Year Baseball Career Closes

Terminates His Reign With Yanks

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP) — Another thread, perhaps the stoutest thread of all binding the New York Yankees of today with the mighty Bronx Bombers of yesteryear, has been severed, it was revealed today as Ed Barrow disclosed his contract as chairman of the board of directors had been terminated effective Dec. 31, 1946.

The parting was on amicable terms, the 79-year-old former president of the organization said. He had a five-year contract expiring in 1949, with a cancellation clause providing the pact could be terminated at the end of two years with the payment of a year's salary. This, he said, was done.

Thus apparently ended a 51-year baseball career and a 26-year association with a club which he largely was responsible for building into the mighty baseball empire it is today. Barrow said his plans were indefinite.

"I had several things in mind," he said, "but when a man reaches 79 years of age, well, he's pretty old."

Ed Barrow really personified the club of that glorious era when he and the late Col. Jake Ruppert ruled the vast empire and the bombers as a team—respected, admired, feared—were the symbol of all that was great in the game.

Barrow, more than anyone else, was responsible for the transition of Babe Ruth from a better than ordinary pitcher to the greatest of all sluggers. He brought the Bambino to the Yankees from the Red Sox shortly after he himself had been lured away from that club by Col. Til Huston and Ruppert to take over as general manager of Yankee baseball properties.

Keen of mind, cautious in every building move, but building with a painstaking thoroughness, he gradually blended a team which for sheer power and business efficiency probably surpassed any ever assembled. The club won pennants in 1921, 1922 and 1923, but it was not until three years later that it really began rolling in the manner which won the nickname of Bronx Bombers.

Four Interstate Loop Tilts On Tap Tonight

Ridgeley High School's basketball team, idle since December 17, when the Blackhawks opened the campaign with a 35-31 win over the Alumni, will swing into action against Allegany High School tonight at 8 o'clock on the Ridgeley court.

It's the opener of a home and home series between the schools, with the finale set for February 25 at Campobello.

Coach Walter L. Bowers' passers will be engaging in their sixth game of the season, having won three and lost two thus far.

In the preliminary game at 7 o'clock, the First Methodist Church Seniors, of Cumberland and the Ridgeley American Legion, of the Central YMCA Men's Senior League, will clash. These teams are tied for the runner up berth in the "Y" loop with records of three wins and one defeat.

Piedmont's high-stepping Lions, incative since December 23, will play hosts to Barton High School in Piedmont tonight. Coach "Huck" Miers' Mineral countians have copped six of their first seven games. Barton has won two games and lost three. Piedmont holds a 34-31 decision over the Braves.

In the third scholastic tilt of the evening, Dick McElwee's Romney High Pioneers will engage Fort Ashby in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Romney.

Frostburg State Teachers College resumes action tonight by playing Shepherd College at Shepherdstown, W. Va. It will be the Mountaineers third game of the season and their first since December 14. Coach Warner's team has dropped its first two tilts to California Teachers, 96-32, and Shepherd, 50-42.

Frostburg is at home Saturday, battling Mt. St. Mary's College, of Emmitsburg, Md.

Four Interstate League games are on tap tonight. At SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium, commencing at 8 o'clock, the Cumberland Legion will play Fulton Myers Post, John Angellatta officiating, and the K. of C. will play host to the Paw Paw American Legion, with Gil Becker as the whistle tooter.

Lonaconing's pace-setting Legion quint will play the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose on the Central High floor, Herman Koegel and Ed Thompson officiating, while the Cumberland Amvets will test the Mt. Savage VFW at Mullaney's hall, Mt. Savage. Ken Gerard will handle the latter game.

Lapp's Plumbers and Cumberland Heights will collide at 8:30 o'clock in the "Y" court in a Central YMCA Senior League contest. The Plumbers, undefeated, will be angling for their fifth straight victory. Cumberland Heights has failed to crash the win column in four starts.

Market Inches Forward In Slow Recovery From Tuesday Downturn

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—(AP)—The stock market inched forward today in a slow recovery from yesterday's late downturn.

Activity, slow after the opening, picked up on a midday rally, then slackened, with total transactions of 790,000 shares compared with 980,000 Tuesday.

Declaration of an extra dividend and an increased quarterly payment lifted Woolworth two points to 49¾. Announcement that Alleghany Corporation had acquired 162,500 shares of New York Central had little effect on the railroad shares which closed up one-fourth at 18. Schenley recovered 1⅛ to close at 49⅛; United States Steel was up five-eighths at 72; Chrysler seven-eighths at 90⅞, American Smelting 1⅞ at 59, and American Can 1¼ at 93¾. Others in higher ground included United States Rubber, Goodyear, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Phelps Dodge, Pennsylvania Railroad, United Aircraft and General Electric.

American Woolen dropped 1¼ to 31¾; Santa Fe was off one at 95¾, and J. I. Case down five-eighths at 36. Lower were North American Anaconda, Kennecott, du Pont and Union Carbide.

Curb gainers were Segal Lock, Buckeye Pipe Line, Sterling, Inc., Barium Steel, Raytheon and Electric Bond and Share. Richmond Radiator and American Gas and Electric dipped. Turnover here was 230,00 shares against 290,000 Tuesday.

The bond market wavered over an irregular course with considerable activity revolving around liens of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway and the new telephone 2¾ per cent debentures.

Transactions totaled $4,250,000, compared with $6,300,000 on Tuesday.

United States governments were steady in light turnover. In the over-the-counter market, the Victory Loan 2½ December '67-72 was 1-32 higher at 102 27-32 bid.

Good News For Folks Who Suffer From

✓ STOMACH GAS
✓ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GREAT ART—FREE

I've seen them all over America, and upon the sea, but here in Florida they are habitual—these Sunsets. Sometimes they are breath-taking in their dramatic display, and at others, indescribable poems — soft and still, like dying music upon the air.

The greatest of writers and poets have tried, and stumbled, in their efforts to adequately describe some of these Sunsets, so that I can only talk about them, their soothing, silent songs of color, and vanishing tones. The builder of Miami Beach, Carl G. Fisher, built his first home here upon the shore of the Atlantic—then he built the one he loved most upon the bay—in his words, "so that I could see the Sunsets."

I watch them from my penthouse sun porch these days — and each one is medicine to my soul. They color up my heart, put a glow into it, and take many an ache out of my mind. That's what Sunsets do! They do much more, too. Their ever-varied beauty enters your blood stream, enriching it, and hiding memories away in secret places.

For an hour or so, when I see one of these Sunsets gathering, forming, and assembling, I lose myself in them. Every moment the gathering clouds move rhythmically and silently, as the lowering Sun spreads its warmth behind them, reflecting every color of the rainbow through their moist fragments, presenting to the eye their painted handiwork. God, the artist—that's all you say.

Sunsets spiritualize one. Their mystic splendor sustains one, somehow. The grays, the pale blues, the brilliant golds and purples, keep associating with one another, supplementing the movement of the whole, until finally the last stroke of art is over, and night is on. Then the Stars (or the Moon) have their inning, until Daybreak whispers that another day is born—and life goes on.

How humble, and reverent, these manifestations of Nature should make us. What a poignant, arresting title it was, that Ann Lendbergh gave to her beautiful book—"Listen, the Wind!"

Hundreds Of Teachers Resigning In West Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—School teachers are resigning at such a rate in West Virginia that an estimated 2,548 will have quit their jobs by the end of the fiscal year June 30, the State Education Association said today.

Reporting the results of a survey covering the last five and a half years, the association said that a total of 8,500 teachers have resigned since July 1, 1941.

"This is equal to a 56 per cent turnover in the entire teaching staff of the state," SEA officials said.

An application for transfer of a Class "D" beer license was made yesterday in Circuit Court by Charles Moyer, U. S. Route 40, "atop Polish mountain," from C. McKenzie, of the same address.

Teachers Union Plans Meeting Here Jan. 27

All Allegany county teachers, including the staff of State Teachers College, Frostburg, have been invited to an open meeting of Local 708, Allegany County Teachers Union, AFL, to be held January 27 in the Cumberland Free Public Library.

At a meeting Monday, the local approved the $2,500 minimum teachers salary recommended by the executive council of the American Federation of Teachers and backed a proposal calling for $6,000 salaries for teachers with doctor's degrees at the state's four teachers colleges.

The AFL group also adopted a resolution commending the National Education Association on its "No contract, no work" policy and urged teachers to refuse to sign contracts until conditions have been remedied.

Financial assistance to teachers on strike at St. Paul, Minn., was voted by the group.

Central Men's Club Plans 1947 Activities

Plans for the 1947 activities of the Men's Club of Central Methodist Church, South George street, were made at a meeting of the group Tuesday night at the home of Calvin S. Keiter, Bedford road, with the president, J. H. Simmons, in charge of the business session.

William H. Kight, chairman of the program and entertainment committee presented a summary of the activities during 1946, outlined the aims of the club for 1947, and conducted an open forum on the objectives of the group.

A. Florian Wilson conducted the singing by the club's choral group and announced the group will furnish special meeting for the evening service at Central Methodist Church Sunday.

Iran Coalition Opposes Oil Concession For Reds

TEHRAN, Jan. 8 (AP) — Rexa Afshar, veteran Iranian politician, announced yesterday the formation of a coalition on a platform of opposition to Premier Ahmed Qavam's plan to give Russia a huge oil concession in the north.

Afshar, a member of three pre-war Parliaments and a principal stockholder in the American-affiliated Iranian Airways, said four political groups, the Radical Socialists, National Unity Party, Peoples Party and the University Students Union—three of them major political parties—had coalesced under the banner of the independent party to oppose Qavam's new National Democratic Party.

Property Deeds Filed

Among the deeds recorded yesterday in the land records office of the clerk of court were the following:

Myron J. Livengood to Ralph C. Isiminger, property on Greene street, for consideration of about $8,800.

Mary A. Starkey to Robert Shroyer, property in Eckhart, for consideration of about $100.

Letha A. Ambose and George E. Ambrose to Richard T. Morgan and Thelma P. Morgan, property on Pennsylvania avenue for consideration of about $5,000.

Market Inches Forward In Slow Recovery From Tuesday Downturn

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—(AP)—The stock market inched forward today in a slow recovery from yesterday's late downturn.

Activity, slow after the opening, picked up on a midday rally, then slackened, with total transactions of 790,000 shares compared with 980,000 Tuesday.

Declaration of an extra dividend and an increased quarterly payment lifted Woolworth two points to 49¾. Announcement that Alleghany Corporation had acquired 162,500 shares of New York Central had little effect on the railroad shares which closed up one-fourth at 18. Schenley recovered 1⅛ to close at 49⅛; United States Steel was up five-eighths at 72; Chrysler seven-eighths at 90⅞, American Smelting 1⅞ at 59, and American Can 1¼ at 93¾. Others in higher ground included United States Rubber, Goodyear, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Phelps Dodge, Pennsylvania Railroad, United Aircraft and General Electric.

American Woolen dropped 1¼ to 31¾; Santa Fe was off one at 95¾, and J. I. Case down five-eighths at 36. Lower were North American Anaconda, Kennecott, du Pont and Union Carbide.

Curb gainers were Segal Lock, Buckeye Pipe Line, Sterling, Inc., Barium Steel, Raytheon and Electric Bond and Share. Richmond Radiator and American Gas and Electric dipped. Turnover here was 230,00 shares against 290,000 Tuesday.

The bond market wavered over an irregular course with considerable activity revolving around liens of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway and the new telephone 2¾ per cent debentures.

Transactions totaled $4,250,000, compared with $6,300,000 on Tuesday.

United States governments were steady in light turnover. In the over-the-counter market, the Victory Loan 2½ December '67-72 was 1-32 higher at 102 27-32 bid.

Lemon Juice Recipe Checks Rheumatic Pain Quickly

If you suffer from rheumatic, arthritis or neuritis pain, try this simple inexpensive home recipe that thousands are using. Get a package of Ru-Ex Compound, a two-week supply, today. Mix it with a quart of water, add the juice of 4 lemons. It's easy. No trouble at all and pleasant. You need only 3 tablespoonfuls two times a day. Often within 48 hours — sometimes overnight — splendid results are obtained. If the pains do not quickly leave and if you do not feel better, return the empty package and Ru-Ex will cost you nothing to try as it is sold by your druggist under an absolute money-back guarantee. Ru-Ex Compound is for sale and recommended by drug stores everywhere.

A Three Days' Cough is Your Danger Signal

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

EVERY HEADACHE SUFFERER SHOULD KNOW THIS ABOUT ASPIRIN
ST. JOSEPH ASPIRIN IS ASPIRIN AT ITS BEST!

At the first trace of a headache, many now take St. Joseph Aspirin. Such a comfort too for painful distress of colds, monthly functional pain. Bottle of 100 for only 35c — and you save one-third!

St. Joseph ASPIRIN STILL ONLY 10¢

CONSTIPATION often results when your GALL BLADDER doesn't send bile every day into your intestines!

People who have suffered from constipation for years are amazed to find that this is often caused by a lack of bile flowing freely every day from the gall bladder into intestines. So speed up that sluggish bile flow with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—made especially for this purpose.

Olive Tablets—used so successfully for years by Dr. F. M. Edwards for his patients with lazy bile flow and constipation—are a purely vegetable product. They're simply wonderful to pep up bile flow from the gall bladder into the intestines to help digest fatty foods, and give gentle yet thorough bowel movements. No griping. Follow label directions. 15¢, 30¢

✓ STOMACH GAS
✓ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

New, Safety-tread ATLAS Tires...
MORE THAN A GOOD RESOLUTION!

You'll drive with added confidence and assurance with sturdy, deep-tread ATLAS Tires on your car—these big, tough, first-quality tires will take slippery pavements in stride!

Be sure to inspect the ATLAS Tire at your nearby Esso Dealer's. Press your hand firmly on the tread and actually feel the tested road grip that can mean so much when the going's tough. Then read the broad, written 12-months' make-good warranty that backs every ATLAS Tire you buy. With over 33,000 dealers throughout the U.S. and Canada behind that warranty, the ATLAS Tire has to be good—and, Mister, it really is!

Start the New Year safer—with ATLAS, "the tire that makes good on the road!"
☑ Extra toughness for extra wear
☑ Wide, deep safety-grip tread
☑ Performance road-proved over 16 years
☑ Broad, written tire-life warranty
☑ On-the-spot service by 33,000 dealers
☑ Backed by ESSO, a name you can depend on

NOTE: If your dealer does not have the size ATLAS Tire you need, place your order now for future delivery.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mr. Agnes Hahne, who died one year ago today.

Mother sleeps at last in peace,
A smile upon her face,
Her love for us will never cease,
She's in a better place.
Her toil worn hands at last at rest,
Her soul is in God's care,
For us she always did her best,
We put the silver in her hair.
Mother sleeps, but not alone,
She sleeps with angels near,
Our sins to her, we now atone
And keep her memory dear.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mr. Agnes Hahne, who died one year ago today.

Mother sleeps at last in peace,
A smile upon her face,
Her love for us will never cease,
She's in a better place.
Her toil worn hands at last at rest,
Her soul is in God's care,
For us she always did her best,
We put the silver in her hair.
Mother sleeps, but not alone,
She sleeps with angels near,
Our sins to her, we now atone
And keep her memory dear.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Ozzie and Harriet

A great many young married couples strain mightily to portray marital bliss on the air but very few of them succeed. One of the most successful and certainly the most convincing of these young couples is Ozzie Nelson and his wife, the former Harriet Hilliard. The word young may be out of place in their connection. The Nelsons have been married 11 years, have two children, and appear to take matrimony more or less for granted. Possibly just force of habit gives their program an easy-going air, missing in most of the other of these connubial affairs.

Harriet Hilliard

Mr. Nelson, it will be recalled, was once a bandleader and a pretty good one. Miss Hilliard was his vocalist. They were married in 1935 and, after Miss Hilliard had a brief fling in the movies, settled down in radio. The couple put in a long period of apprenticeship with Joe Penner and Red Skelton before they got their own program ("Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet" CBS 6 p. m. EST Sundays) two years ago. Originally the idea was for Miss Hilliard to sing once in a while but this idea was dropped and nowadays the Nelsons merely portray married life and make it sound very fetching, too.

It's difficult to catch in print the charm of the Nelson show. Much of Harriet's dialogue consists of such admonitions as "Drink your milk, David" and the children's conversation runs largely toward "golly and "Holy cow." The problems that beset the Nelsons are so minute that you sometimes wonder how in the world they'll last half an hour. They do though, chiefly because the Nelsons devoted a good deal of time coping with the small vexing details which make up much of our lives. They have difficulty getting David off to school, Ozzie up from the sofa, getting waited on in stores, and even finding a place to park the car.

Recently the problem was helping David with a theme that had to be produced at the end of his holidays.

"How much have you got to do?" inquired his mother.

"Not much."

"How much is not much?"

"All of it."

"Really, David, haven't you done any of it? I don't know where you get such habits—such bad habits."

"Oh, it's not so bad," says his father.

"Yes, I do," remarks Mrs. Nelson.

Ozzie, a bland, frequently featherbrained, procrastinating sort of fellow, volunteers to help his son with the theme. He dispatches himself to the public library to do some research on the costumes worn in 1847 although his wife voices the suspicion that he is headed for the movies.

"Do you think I'd sneak off to the movies instead of doing David's research?" he inquires indignantly. "I don't like the tone of what you're not saying."

Unfortunately, on the way to the library, he runs into his old friend Thornbury, who is on his way to "The Killers" at the Rivoli. "No, no, I can't Thorney," says Ozzie, resisting temptation. "I've got to go to the library."

"Why don't you do this, Ozzie. Flip a coin and then it's not your fault. It's fate."

"I haven't got a coin."

"Tell you what we'll do. We'll go to the Rivoli and buy two tickets and then we'll have a coin."

In the end it is Mrs. Nelson who does the research and I'm happy to report David got an A. He is a big-hearted lad and cheerfully gives his father credit for an assist on the A, thought it isn't quite clear what his father did to deserve it.

Ozzie is the spring around which most of the program revolves. He has a nice radio personality which will remind you a little of Jimmy Stewart in the movies. The rest of the family are pretty nice too, including the two kids who play Rickey and David. They manage somehow to avoid that air of precocity which is so irritating in other childish radio actors.

First Of Series On World Affairs On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—First of a series of broadcasts from the Council on World Affairs is to be distributed tonight in its late schedule at 11:30. The speaker will be Howard K. Peterson, assistant secretary of war, a change from a previous announcement.

Broadcasts will be continued Friday night and on Saturday afternoon.

The Mills brothers, now actually three brothers and the dad and veterans in radio and other singing, get back on the air on NBC at 9 as a regular feature. They are replacing the King Cole trio in the Music Hall, in which Eddie Foy recently replaced E. E. Horton as the comedian. Guest on this occasion is to be Paulette Goddard of the films.

America's Town meeting, back in New York, is to argue this question for ABC at 8:30: "Should we have labor-management courts to settle labor disputes?"

Arguing on one side will be Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, while on the other is to be Robert J. Watt of the American Federation of Labor.

Grand Marquee, now a 7:30 show, will turn its drama talent on "Wildcat Strike," described in the preview literature as a light comedy. Lead roles in this series are taken by Olan Soule and Beryl Vaughn.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Ozzie and Harriet

A great many young married couples strain mightily to portray marital bliss on the air but very few of them succeed. One of the most successful and certainly the most convincing of these young couples is Ozzie Nelson and his wife, the former Harriet Hilliard. The word young may be out of place in their connection. The Nelsons have been married 11 years, have two children, and appear to take matrimony more or less for granted. Possibly just force of habit gives their program an easy-going air, missing in most of the other of these connubial affairs.

Harriet Hilliard

Mr. Nelson, it will be recalled, was once a bandleader and a pretty good one. Miss Hilliard was his vocalist. They were married in 1935 and, after Miss Hilliard had a brief fling in the movies, settled down in radio. The couple put in a long period of apprenticeship with Joe Penner and Red Skelton before they got their own program ("Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet" CBS 6 p. m. EST Sundays) two years ago. Originally the idea was for Miss Hilliard to sing once in a while but this idea was dropped and nowadays the Nelsons merely portray married life and make it sound very fetching, too.

It's difficult to catch in print the charm of the Nelson show. Much of Harriet's dialogue consists of such admonitions as "Drink your milk, David" and the children's conversation runs largely toward "golly and "Holy cow." The problems that beset the Nelsons are so minute that you sometimes wonder how in the world they'll last half an hour. They do though, chiefly because the Nelsons devoted a good deal of time coping with the small vexing details which make up much of our lives. They have difficulty getting David off to school, Ozzie up from the sofa, getting waited on in stores, and even finding a place to park the car.

Recently the problem was helping David with a theme that had to be produced at the end of his holidays.

"How much have you got to do?" inquired his mother.

"Not much."

"How much is not much?"

"All of it."

"Really, David, haven't you done any of it? I don't know where you get such habits—such bad habits."

"Oh, it's not so bad," says his father.

"Yes, I do," remarks Mrs. Nelson.

Ozzie, a bland, frequently featherbrained, procrastinating sort of fellow, volunteers to help his son with the theme. He dispatches himself to the public library to do some research on the costumes worn in 1847 although his wife voices the suspicion that he is headed for the movies.

"Do you think I'd sneak off to the movies instead of doing David's research?" he inquires indignantly. "I don't like the tone of what you're not saying."

Unfortunately, on the way to the library, he runs into his old friend Thornbury, who is on his way to "The Killers" at the Rivoli. "No, no, I can't Thorney," says Ozzie, resisting temptation. "I've got to go to the library."

"Why don't you do this, Ozzie. Flip a coin and then it's not your fault. It's fate."

"I haven't got a coin."

"Tell you what we'll do. We'll go to the Rivoli and buy two tickets and then we'll have a coin."

In the end it is Mrs. Nelson who does the research and I'm happy to report David got an A. He is a bighearted lad and cheerfully gives his father credit for an assist on the A, thought it isn't quite clear what his father did to deserve it.

Ozzie is the spring around which most of the program revolves. He has a nice radio personality which will remind you a little of Jimmy Stewart in the movies. The rest of the family are pretty nice too, including the two kids who play Rickey and David. They manage somehow to avoid that air of precocity which is so irritating in other childish radio actors.

First Of Series On World Affairs On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 8—First of a series of broadcasts from the Council on World Affairs is to be distributed tonight in its late schedule at 11:30. The speaker will be Howard K. Peterson, assistant secretary of war, a change from a previous announcement.

Broadcasts will be continued Friday night and on Saturday afternoon.

The Mills brothers, now actually three brothers and the dad and veterans in radio and other singing, get back on the air on NBC at 9 as a regular feature. They are replacing the King Cole trio in the Music Hall, in which Eddie Foy recently replaced E. E. Horton as the comedian. Guest on this occasion is to be Paulette Goddard of the films.

America's Town meeting, back in New York, is to argue this question for ABC at 8:30: "Should we have labor-management courts to settle labor disputes?"

Arguing on one side will be Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, while on the other is to be Robert J. Watt of the American Federation of Labor.

Grand Marquee, now a 7:30 show, will turn its drama talent on "Wildcat Strike," described in the preview literature as a light comedy. Lead roles in this series are taken by Olan Soule and Beryl Vaughn.

$13,000,000 Resort May Locate In Garrett Co.

2,000 Acres Are Leased In Marsh Hill Section

Giant Hotel, Cottage Colony Are Planned

Plans are underway for the development of a 12 to 13 million dollar privately owned resort area in the Marsh Hill section of Deep Creek Lake, The News learned from reliable sources last night.

If present plans are completed and materials are available, construction may begin in the spring, these sources said.

Two thousand acres of land in the Marsh Hill section already have been leased for a 99-year period, The News was told, as a result of negotiations of more than a year and a half.

Location of the resort in the Marsh Hill area, which now is virtually "in the raw" insofar as development is concerned, means that roads will have to be built and the lake shoreline developed, in addition to construction of a giant hotel and other facilities.

Big Financial Return

Garrett County sources indicated that location of such a resort within the county would mean a financial return to the county of thousands of dollars annually. It also was pointed out that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which serves Oakland, would stand to benefit financially.

Proposed plans provide for both summer and winter recreation activities on an undreamed of scale in this section.

Principal building to be constructed is a 500-room hotel, which will be built of completely fireproof materials. It will house a convention theater.

In addition a cottage colony of some 150 to 200 cottages is planned, these, too, to be built of fireproof materials as will be all buildings operated at the resort.

A combination hunting and ski lodge also is proposed along with construction of ski tows and trails.

Golf Course Planned

Likewise planned is an 18-hole golf course as well as at least one swimming pool.

All buildings are to be constructed of brick, stone and glass, according to reliable reports.

While it was considered almost inconceivable that such a resort would be located in a county where the sale of liquor is illegal, Garrett County sources indicated that an effort will be made to obtain some sort of liquor license for the development, inasmuch as the resort very probably would require the right to sell liquor, with certain restrictions.

Grand Jury Terms Pigeons At Court House 'Nuisance'

32 Indictments Are Returned By Body

The Grand Jury of the January Term of Circuit Court returned 32 indictments and recommended some action to rid the Court House of pigeons "which have become a nuisance" in the report submitted to the judges of Circuit Court before their dismissal yesterday afternoon.

Chief Judge William A. Huster thanked the jurymen for their work and said he felt sure that they now know more about the difficulties experienced by the law enforcement officers in running down a case.

Jury Dismissed

The jurors were also informed that while they were being dismissed they would be subject to recall at any time deemed necessary until the April term of court convenes.

In reference to the pigeons the grand jury reported that an inspection of the court house was made, and while conditions were found to be good a recommendation was being made to have the cupola on top of the building closed so that pigeons could not get in.

It was also recommended that some action be taken to rid the Court House of the pigeons, which have become "not only a nuisance but are damaging the building immeasureably."

A recommendation was also made that the sanitary facilities at the County Home be enlarged on the second floor. "We do not believe the institution to be sufficient to take care of the demand that is made upon it," the statement said, "and we recommend that the County Commissioners enlarge this institution at as early a date as conditions will permit."

In reference to law and order, the grand jury reported that police officials from all cities and towns in Allegany County appeared before the grand jury and said that to their knowledge there were no serious violations.

Repairs Recommended

The report also recommended that a leak in the roof of Sylvan Retreat be repaired and other minor matters attended to when materials are available.

The county officials were commended for their work in their respective offices.

The report was signed by William J. Edwards, foreman of the grand jury along with Kenneth S. Hopwood and Howard Perrin, clerks.

No indication was given as to the persons indicted but witnesses seen in the Court House yesterday morning just before the grand jury was dismissed included Milton Bernstein, expected to appear in regard to the recent robbery of the Bernstein Furniture Store, and Phil Fleming, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion. The Legion was recently victimized by four youths who stole seven slot machines from the post home.

Man Gets 6-Month Suspended Term

A suspended sentence of six months in the county jail was imposed on Louis R. Stevenson, 37 Weber street, when he appeared before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday to answer to a charge of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Marie Stevenson.

Stevenson was arrested by Constable Branson Nelson on a warrant obtained by Mrs. Stevenson, who charged that her husband assaulted her January 6 with intent to inflict bodily harm.

Sentence was suspended on condition Stevenson refrain from the use of liquor and pay court costs of $4.45.

Ronald B. Henry, 16, Cresaptown, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of unauthorized use of an automobile and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew. He received a suspended fine of $10 and 75 cents costs for driving without a license.

Berry, court attaches said, admitted taking the parked car of Earl F. Dick, also of Cresaptown, about 11 p. m. Monday from the Atlantic Service Station in Cresaptown, and picking up Robert H. Kerns, 16, Frostburg, who was hitchhikking. No charges were placed against Kerns.

The pair was arrested in Keyser by Police Officer Lawrence McDonald.

Georges Creek Masons Install Officers

At the regular communication of Georges Creek Valley Lodge No. 161, A. F. and A. M., held last night in Lonaconing, officers for 1947 were installed. Thirty-five members were present.

The installation ceremony for the new worshipful master, James McElvie, was conducted by his father, James A. McElvie, Sr., Lonaconing. All of the other officers were installed by A. Wayne Reed, district grand lecturer, assisted by Lewis W. Hicks, district grand inspector. Refreshments were served following the installation ceremonies.

Besides McElvie, new officers are Fred L. Stoudt, senior warden; Ervin D. Lewis, junior warden; Virgil Alexander, senior deacon; Arthur G. Phillips, junior deacon; George C. Gardner, senior steward; Ernest Smith, junior steward; David Miller, tiler; Lowell M. Sowers, chaplain; James A. McElvie, secretary; and Edward A. Patterson, treasurer.

Senator Kimble Assumes Duties In Annapolis

Senator Robert B. Kimble, member of the State Senate from Allegany county since 1935, was sworn in for another term at Annapolis yesterday after being prevented from attending the opening session last week due to illness.

Senator Kimble immediately assumed his duties as minority floor leader, and said he expected to confer with Senate Republicans on suggestions on committee membership.

Earlier, Senate President Byrnes (D-Baltimore, 5th) said he had been withholding announcement of committee memberships until Senator Kimble had made his suggestions.

Traffic Club Sees Motion Picture Of Altoona Works

A motion picture featuring all phases of locomotive building, from the casting stage down to the machining of main side rods and operations of heavy hydraulic presses; the assembly line methods of building freight cars and the many intricate designs in the reconditioning and building of passenger coaches and dining cars.

W. A. Nickol, supervisor of expenditures, Altoona, explained the pictures, following which there was a general round table discussion. H. J. Kleine, master mechanic of the Juniata Shop, one of the three major units of the Altoona works project, in reply to questions from his audience, told of the many tests necessary and compared the results of some of the comparative operations of the steam, electric and diesel types of motive power now in the service on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

While there is at present a definite trend among all of the country's railroads to adopt diesel power, the speaker said, the newer developments in steam engine design, may in time even forge ahead of the diesel and electric types, unless they in turn continue to be improved.

Freight car loadings for the first quarter of 1947 are expected to be 8.8 percent greater than in the same period of 1946, Leo H. Fey, Kelly Springfield Tire Company, said in handling the business docket for the evening.

The Office of Defense Transportation, Ley said, was one of the agencies retained when President Truman declared an end to hostilities on December 31, and its life will depend upon further action by Congress.

Arrangements for the meeting were under the direction of J. A. Sladen, district freight agent, P. R. R., Altoona, Clarence E. Gehr, and John L. Carnochan.

Patrick Carroll Is Ill

Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the Cumberland office of the United States Unemployment Service, was reported "a little better" last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted yesterday at 1:45 a. m. after he suffered a heart attack at his home, 308 Cumberland street.

FIRST TWINS OF NEW YEAR—Mrs. James E. Sittig, 60 Beall street, Frostburg, is seen above proudly holding her twin sons who were born in Allegany Hospital Monday morning. The first boy, weighing five pounds, 13 ounces, made his appearance at 10:45 a. m. and the second, who weighed six pounds, two ounces, arrived one minute later. Mrs. Sittig, the former Miss Louise Chambers, is the wife of James E. Sittig, who is learning to become a machinist in Frostburg under the GI Bill of Rights. He is a veteran of four years of service in World War II. The couple have one other son, James, 4. The second set of twins of the year were born in Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Simpson, Route 3, Bedford, Pa. The girl was born at 3:54 a. m. and the boy at 4:03 a.m.

Mayles Will Head New Association Of Fire Chiefs

William Mayles, chief of the Westernport Fire Department, was elected president of the Allegany and Garrett County Fire Chiefs Association at the organization meeting last night at the home of LaVale Volunteer Fire Department. By laws also were adopted.

Membership is open to chiefs, past chiefs and line officers of volunteer fire companies in the two counties.

Officers elected besides Mayles include E. T. Beachley, LaVale, vice president; Harry Wilson, Baltimore Pike, secretary; Joseph Wenrich, Cresaptown, treasurer; Charles Patterson, Bloomington, John Shoemaker, Accident, Harry Martz, Corriganville, E. M. McKenzie, Cresaptown, and Felix Foote, Lonaconing, trustees.

These officers will serve until the convention, to be held the second Wednesday in May at a place to be decided upon.

Aims of the association are to provide closer fellowship among the fire companies and to become familiar with equipment of other companies so it can be operated by different crews in event of a catastrophe.

Firefighting tactics will be discussed at meetings of the association, and motion pictures of equipment and firemen in action will be shown, among other things.

Meetings will be held the second Wednesday of every month, the next meeting to be held at the home of Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Department on February 12 at 7:30 p. m.

Frostburg Linemen Vote Against Utility Workers

Frostburg line department employes of the Potomac Edison Company voted 14 to 10 yesterday afternoon against being represented for collective bargaining by the Utility Workers Union of America, CIO, James H. Dean, president of Local 331 of the Utility Workers, said last night.

The election was held at Frostburg line department headquarters, Grant street, Frostburg. Line foremen and clerical workers were excluded from voting, and all of the 24 employes eligible to vote did so. Employes on the payroll for the period ending December 31 were eligible.

R. R. Miller, Baltimore, field examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, supervised the election. Ballots were counted immediately. Watcher for the union was Ralph T. McKenzie, a Frostburg line department employe, and John F. Rowe, also a Frostburg employe, was watcher for the company.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Appold, of Paw Paw, W. Va., Saturday in Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Darus Zehrbach, 702 Gephart Drive, announce the birth of a son Wednesday morning in Memorial Hospital.

Wilkinson Orders Lock At Court House Changed

Keys Workers Have Now Are Useless

The old keys to the front doors of Allegany County Court House were useless last night, after lock combinations were changed on an order from C. N. "Jerry" Wilkinson, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, and employes were wondering how to get to their offices henceforth.

Commissioner Wilkinson, (who with Commissioner William Lemmert), have attempted to evict the county tax collector and his help from their office, refused to make any comment on the change of lock combinations other than to say it "has been considered for sometime."

What was confusing most of the employes of the court house, was the fact that they are frequently required to return to their offices at night, but Jonas Myers, night watchman, said he would admit no one without a key.

Bruce Wilson, local contractor, said he changed the combination on the locks yesterday afternoon, after being hired to do so by Wilkinson, and added that he also "recut" one of the old keys to fit the locks and gave it to Alvin V. Snider, day custodian at the court house.

Order Applies To All

Myers, who was on duty last night, said his orders when he was hired to admit no one without a key at night, and he was abiding by it. He admitted that as far as he was concerned the order applied to judges, the clerk of court or any one else.

Alban Thompson, assistant county tax collector, said yesterday that he felt the order to change lock combinations were really aimed at Lucian C. Radcliffe, county tax collector, and himself, since the commissioners have already issued orders for them to quit the office they are now using to make collections.

James Holmes, the third member of the County Commissioner's Board, said last night that he had heard nothing about the order, and added "I have attended every board meeting since the new commissioners have taken office and it was never mentioned."

Usually such changes are discussed by the commissioners, Holmes said, before they are made. The sudden change was termed a "little irregular," by Holmes.

Yesterday afternoon some of the employes were forced to leave by the cellar door because a key is required to open the front doors from the inside as well as out. Joseph C. Boden, employed in the clerk of court's office, said he went out by the cellar door for the first time in 27 years.

Myers said only one person, a man he could not identify, asked to be admitted to the court house last night to "complete some work in his office." He was refused, Myers said because he didn't have a key that would fit the lock.

All of the clerks and employes agreed that the possibility of being locked out and prevented from doing night work may cause a backlog of records of pile up, if the order is kept in force.

Local attorneys said the Court House should be open to the clerk and judges 24 hours a day for such work as issuing writs of habas corpus. One attorney said such action as refusing admittance to court workers many constitute contempt of court.

Will Cut Another Key

Wilson said he will cut another key today but did not say to whom it would be given. A note was left for the night man, however, informing him that he should call today to receive a key.

Commissioner Lemmert, when informed of the situation last night, said he knew that some repair work to the doors had been planned, but denied any knowledge of combination changes on the locks. Asked if it may be aimed at the tax collector's office, he replied "I know nothing about the change, but feel sure no such thing was intended."

Prior to the change most of the employes had keys to permit them to enter the building when they desired, but unless new keys are issued that privilege will be denied them now.

Wilson would not say if the locks were defective when he changed the

DEATHS

MRS BESSIE SMITH

Mrs. Bessie Smith, 54, wife of Thaddeus Smith, Green Ridge farmer, died last night about 8 o'clock in Allegany Hospital where she had been a patient for a week.

She was a native of Piney Grove, a daughter of the late George and Susan Smith Nolan.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Flossie Lawrence, Baltimore, and Mrs. Nellie Ault, Green Ridge; two sons, Bruce Smith, Baltimore, and Carl Smith, at home; two sisters, Mrs. George Nagel, Baltimore, and Mrs. Betty Smith, Green Ridge, and two brothers, George and Tait Nolan, both of this city.

HENDRICKSON RITES

Funeral services for Charles M. Hendrickson, 70, retired Baltimore pike farmer who died Sunday in Allegany Hospital, were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. in the Kight Funeral Home.

Rev. Richard H. Bready, pastor of Pleasant Grove Methodist Church, and Rev. B. F. Hartman officiated and interment was in Pleasant Grove Cemetery. Pallbearers were Franklin Perrin, Leslie Wilson, John and Robert Reed, Roy Athey and Howard Messick.

CHARLES W. THOMAS

The body of Charles W. Thomas, 132 North Centre street, who died in the Embassy Theater Tuesday night, is at the Stein Funeral Home.

Mr. Thomas was found dead after the theater closed and Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death resulted from a heart condition.

He was a lifelong resident of this city and was formerly employed as a laborer here. He was about 75 years old, authorities believed.

Survivors were listed last night as two sons, James Thomas, with the Army, and Charles Thomas, address unknown, and two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Palmer, address unknown, and Mrs. Cora Purnell, Washington, D. C.

SIRBAUGH RITES

Funeral services for Alfred Sirbaugh, 32, Paw Paw, W. Va., a veteran of World War II, who died Monday in Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered in a fall here Saturday, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. in Woodrow, W. Va., Union Church.

Rev. Adam Grimm will officiate. Military rites will be accorded at the burial service in the church cemetery.

A native of Woodrow, he was a son of Mrs. Myrtle Sirbaugh, who married Harry Alderton, Woodrow, after the death of her first husband, Frank J. Sirbaugh.

Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Luzze Sirbaugh, Baltimore; one child; a brother, Charles Sirbaugh, this city, and five sisters, Mrs. Charles McElfish, this city; Mrs. Conn Ryan and Mrs. Rodney Miller, both of Woodrow; Mrs. Clifton McDonald, Paw Paw, and Mrs. Helena Smith, Baltimore.

GEORGE HILE RITES

Funeral services for George L. "Bill" Hile, 61, a former resident of this city, who died yesterday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Rosenburg, Neptune, N. J., will be conducted there Saturday at 4 p. m.

Mr. Hile came to Cumberland when the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company began operations and was a foreman there for several years. He later was custodian of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks for about 10 years.

In failing health for several years, he left Cumberland several months ago to reside with his sister.

CARMICHAEL RITES

Funeral services for Col. John Carmichael, 70, former resident of this city and superintendent of stores of the Western Maryland Railway in Hagerstown, who died of a heart condition at his home in Hagerstown Tuesday, will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the home in Hagerstown. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery there.

Born May 17, 1875, in Lexington, Va., Col. Carmichael had been associated with the railway since 1902. Prior to that time he was employed by the B. and O. Railroad Company.

Union Seeks New Contract With 5 Dairies Of Area

Jack Moore To Head Milk Drivers Local

Representatives of Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, will meet Tuesday, January 14, at 7 p. m. at the Queen City Dairy here to continue negotiations on a contract with five dairies of the Cumberland area.

Jack F. Moore, president and business agent of the local, said all issues in the agreement have been settled except for the wage clause and a union request for a 30-day reopening clause in the contract which will be retroactive to January 1 and continue until April 1, 1948.

The meeting will be attended by managers of the Queen City, Farmers, Liberty, Llewellyn and Mason dairies, and by Commissioner G. Harry Young, Harrisburg, Pa., representing the conciliation service.

Moore said negotiations for the contract began December 13 and said meetings were held December 13, 16, 20 and 27 and on last Friday, when Commissioner Young entered the negotiations.

The 18 months contract, union officials said, was agreed upon by the union and dairies so that newly elected officers of the local might participate actively in the contract talks. Officers are elected in November and December and contracts have been ending at the last of the year. Future contracts will be for 12 months, union officials said.

The new officers installed January 2, include: Moore, president and business agent; Ernest Screen, vice president; Joseph J. Garlitz, secretary-treasurer, and Aubra Beeghly, re-elected as recording secretary.

Committee To Plan For YMCA Dinner

Plans for the annual dinner of Central YMCA, set for Tuesday, January 28, will be made at a meeting of the committee on arrangements today at 4 p. m. at the "Y", according to Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary.

Sisson returned early yesterday morning after a week's absence, during which he visited his parents in Binghamton, N. Y., and attended a one-day conference of the Association of Secretaries of the Central Atlantic Area, YMCA, held Tuesday in Trenton, N. J.

Lloyd Rawlings, immediate past president of the "Y", is chairman of the committee arranging for the dinner. He will be assisted by Rev. William A. Eisenberger, Victor D. Heisey and Sisson.

Sisson announced last night that Spencer Miller, Jr., a member of the New Jersey State Legislature, will be unable to attend the dinner as chief speaker. Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, Baltimore, state supervisor of high schools, has accepted an invitation extended by Rawlings to give the principal address at the event.

Approximately 800 ballots have been mailed to all members of Central YMCA over 16 years of age, who are eligible to vote for 10 members of the board of directors whose terms will begin this year. The ballots should be returned to the "Y" not later than Monday, January 20, so that they can be tabulated in readiness for announcement of new board members at the dinner meeting.

The regular Rec Club dance will be held tomorrow at 9 p. m. in the "Y" gymnasium, Sisson said.

C. E. Geis Will Post Bond Today

Indicted by the federal grand jury in Baltimore on seven charges of embezzlement, Charles E. Geis, 45, Frostburg, former window clerk in the Cumberland branch office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, will appear before Deputy United States Clerk C. Edgar Keller at 9:45 a. m. today to post bond of $1,000, Howard P. Loughrie, deputy United States marshal, said last night.

Geis, a former miner in the Frostburg section, was brought to Cumberland yesterday by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, Loughrie said, from Kingwood, W. Va., where he has been employed recently by the Jenkins Coal Company.

Geis was to have appeared to post bond yesterday, but a bench warrant issued in Baltimore was not received here. In the meantime he was released in custody of his attorney.

Anthony Pudcell, assistant United States district attorney, said Geis is charged with seven embezzlements of income tax payments, and that a total of $1,606.86 was misappropriated.

Educational Program Is Outlined By Kopp

Narrow traditions and superficial points of view must be shaken off and the meaning of life studied more deeply, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools declared in the opening broadcast over WTBO, of a 22 program schedule.

The task of keeping abreast of and meeting educational needs in a constantly changing world is not a simple one, Kopp declared, adding that today's schools are a far cry from the first high school established in Boston during 1634.

The kind of education that will best serve the interest of students who do not go to college, or seek higher learning, is a matter of major concern to educators, he pointed out, adding that "we must be keenly conscious that the youth of today become the full-fledged citizens of tomorrow."

Solid Americans must work in unity to rear a generation of youth to possess clear heads and stout hearts, and this must be the endeavor of all he explained.

No Progress Reported At Celanese Wage Meet

McCauley-Cosner Petitions Argued In Supreme Court

Judge See Defends His Jury Action

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—Two sensational Eastern Panhandle murder cases reached the State Supreme Court today, with counsel for one of the principals under sentence of death arguing his client's conviction was improper because he did not know right from wrong.

Attorney R. G. Shores told the court that Mark Roy McCauley, 30-year-old strip coal miner of Davis under sentence to be hanged January 17, never had recovered from a mental illness which at one time turned him into a "raving maniac."

In the other case, Circuit Judge Ernest A. See defended as both constitutional and proper his action in summoning jurors from Tucker county for the murder trial in the adjoining county of Mineral of Oscar Cosner, 36-year-old Keyser mail carrier indicted for murder after his wife was found beaten to death with a baseball bat.

McCauley is under death sentence for the slaying of State Policeman Sgt. Joseph Horne who with Tucker County Sheriff O. Gay Hovatter was killed and Hovatter's son injured when they sought to arrest the miner last September 9 at Emoryville, Mineral County, charged with stealing a truck.

Since the trial, Shores said evidence had been discovered that McCauley was confined as a "raving maniac" in a Stockton, Cal., mental institution.

Shores said the defendant was then suffering and continues to be afflicted by syphilis and that if given the opportunity at a second trial it could be shown that McCauley "has never been cured of his condition, and that this syphilitic condition has affected his brain to such an extent that he cannot distinguish between right and wrong."

When Cosner was brought to trial last November, the Circuit Court examined 96 prospective jurors without qualifying a panel of 20, whereupon Judge See directed that 48 prospective jurors be summoned from neighboring Tucker County.

Attorneys for Cosner brought the Supreme Court action on the premise their client should be "tried in the county where he was born and reared, where he is known and where the witnesses who will testify against him are known."

They argued the point—denied by Judge See—that the recent conviction in Mineral County for Mark McCauley, a Tucker countian, for first degree murder after the slaying of State Police Sgt. Joseph Horne and Tucker Sheriff Hovatter would tend to prevent a fair trial by a Tucker jury.

The purpose of all law, said counsel for Judge See, "is to secure for the accused and the state a jury completely impartial in order that justice may be done both to the accused and to the public."

"The facts of this case are such," Judge See continued, "that it was obvious that an impartial and competent jury could not be conveniently obtained, but could be obtained only with great difficulty and great expense, if at all."

'Life With Father' To Be Presented Here This Evening

Tonight at 8:15 "Life With Father" will be unfolded on the stage of Fort Hill High School before what is expected to be a large audience. No recent event in Cumberland has been anticipated more eagerly than the performance of this highly praised comedy, which has been so aptly labeled "America's No. 1 entertainment."

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club, which has arranged the local presentation of the play as a benefit for its Sunshine Camp Fund for underpivileged children reports a successful sale of tickets.

James W. Bishop, chairman of the Kiwanis committee handling the arrangements for the show, said last night there are still good seats left for tonight's performance. He added that tickets can be purchased at Rosenbaum's store until 5 p. m. today and at the box office at Fort Hill auditorium tonight prior to the show.

The touring production, under the guidance of Cargill, Kling and Jones, promises to be a faithful copy of the one that has kept audiences laughing in New York and on the road for the past seven years. Its company of Broadway actors and and actresses is headed by two distinguished players, Brandon Peters and Alice Thomson, (Mrs. Peters), who are the third husband-and-wife team to portray Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Day (Father and Vinnie) in this piece of "superb entertainment".

Directors Of Nurses Will Attend Meeting

Miss Frances L. Loftus, director of nurses at Memorial Hospital, and Sister Fidelis, director of nurses at Allegany Hospital, said yesterday that they plan to attend the mid-winter session of the Maryland State Nurses Association in Baltimore January 23 and 24.

Other representatives of the two local hospitals are also expected to attend the meeting.

Union And Company Plan Session Friday

Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the rayon division of Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, reported last night that "no progress" was made yesterday afternoon in the negotiations for an 18 cent wage increase for the 8,500 members of Local 1874, TWUA, employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

The meeting, arranged by Conciliator James Crockett of the Department of Labor, lasted from 2 to 5 p. m. and was held at the Celanese plant.

Cook said the union's negotiating committee will meet with officials of the company again tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Cook, who led the union delegation at the negtiations, said the union cited the 15 cent increase negotiated for some 29,000 workers in the woolen industry as an example of what th rayon industry should do.

Another Meeting Planned

Company officials did not comment on the wage negotiations yesterday except to say that the session lasted about three hours and that Commissioner Crockett had made arrangements for the meeting Friday.

The negotiation committee of the union rejected a five cent hourly wage boost offered by the company early in December and did not present that offer to the membership when the members unanimously voted, at meetings last Wednesday and Thursday, to empower the committee to call a work stoppage at the Amcelle plant when it feels that further negotiations on the 18 cent wage demand are useless.

Union officials said the five cents offered here by the Celanese Corporation is the highest wage boost offered for record in the industry. Negotiations are now in progress for 35,000 of the 40,000 rayon workers.

It is understood that 10 and 12 cent increases have been offered "off the record" by other companies of the rayon industry but neither company nor union officials would confirm the report.

Offers Arbitration

William Boyd Coleman, TWUA president, said the union yesterday suggested that if the company would grant a 10 cent increase and submit to arbitration the difference between 10 and 18 cents, the negotiation committee would recommend the offer to the membership.

The union again offered to arbitrate the whole wage issue in the interest of continued industrial peace in Cumberland, Coleman added.

Union officials said the company declined to consider arbitration in any form on the wage question and company officials confirmed the action last night.

Cook presented a report on the negotiations here as well as other units of the rayon industry at a well attended membership meeting last night.

Both company and union officials reported operations at the plant were normal yesterday after a brief work stoppage Tuesday when about 100 downtwist workers protested the discharge of an employe. Production was not delayed by the stoppage, company officials said.

Operations at the plant were reported normal yesterday following a work stoppage in the Downtwist Department in protest against the discharge of an employe, accused of sleeping on the job.

B. & O. Brakeman Is Injured In Fall

A local B. and O. brakeman who was struck by a passing freight car and knocked in front of the car on which he was riding at the eastbound hump yesterday at 1 p. m. was reported "resting fairly well" last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for treatment of back injuries.

The workman, Ben J. Bittner, 31, 924 Kent avenue, was admitted at 1:15 p. m. and members of the family said they were told that X-rays taken yesterday afternoon showed no fractures.

Bittner was reported to have been riding a car on the hump when he leaned over to adjust the brake and was struck by a car on an adjoining track. He was knocked from the car and fell on his back on the rail but managed to roll out of the way, the family was told.

Mrs. Effie Weber, 60, wife of George Weber, 31 Ridgeway terrace, was admitted to the same hospital at 11:05 a. m. for treatment of a possible fracture of the left shoulder. Attaches were told Mrs. Weber was injured when she fell down a flight of steps at a local restaurant. Attaches reported her condition good after a cast was applied.

One Inch Of New Snow Reported In Grantsville

Although the mercury stood at 34 degrees here last night, with cloudy weather, the temperature was down to 20 degrees at Deal, Pa., with two inches of old snow still on the ground, and 24 at Thomas, W. Va. Cloudy weather was reported at both places.

Highways in both Garrett and Allegany counties were reported clear, but high winds, snowfall of one inch and falling temperatures were reported from Grantsville. The new fall was in addition to the six or seven inches of snow which blanketed Garrett county Sunday night.

The low temperature in Cumberland was 32 degrees yesterday, while the high was 42 in the afternoon.

Fair and somewhat colder weather was forecast today, with increasing cloudiness and moderately cold weather tomorrow.

2,000 Acres Are Leased In Marsh Hill Section

Giant Hotel, Cottage Colony Are Planned

Plans are underway for the development of a 12 to 13 million dollar privately owned resort area in the Marsh Hill section of Deep Creek Lake, The News learned from reliable sources last night.

If present plans are completed and materials are available, construction may begin in the spring, these sources said.

Two thousand acres of land in the Marsh Hill section already have been leased for a 99-year period, The News was told, as a result of negotiations of more than a year and a half.

Location of the resort in the Marsh Hill area, which now is virtually "in the raw" insofar as development is concerned, means that roads will have to be built and the lake shoreline developed, in addition to construction of a giant hotel and other facilities.

Big Financial Return

Garrett County sources indicated that location of such a resort within the county would mean a financial return to the county of thousands of dollars annually. It also was pointed out that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which serves Oakland, would stand to benefit financially.

Proposed plans provide for both summer and winter recreation activities on an undreamed of scale in this section.

Principal building to be constructed is a 500-room hotel, which will be built of completely fireproof materials. It will house a convention theater.

In addition a cottage colony of some 150 to 200 cottages is planned, these, too, to be built of fireproof materials as will be all buildings operated at the resort.

A combination hunting and ski lodge also is proposed along with construction of ski tows and trails.

Golf Course Planned

Likewise planned is an 18-hole golf course as well as at least one swimming pool.

All buildings are to be constructed of brick, stone and glass, according to reliable reports.

While it was considered almost inconceivable that such a resort would be located in a county where the sale of liquor is illegal, Garrett County sources indicated that an effort will be made to obtain some sort of liquor license for the development, inasmuch as the resort very probably would require the right to sell liquor, with certain restrictions.

Man Gets 6-Month Suspended Term

A suspended sentence of six months in the county jail was imposed on Louis R. Stevenson, 37 Weber street, when he appeared before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday to answer to a charge of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Marie Stevenson.

Stevenson was arrested by Constable Branson Nelson on a warrant obtained by Mrs. Stevenson, who charged that her husband assaulted her January 6 with intent to inflict bodily harm.

Sentence was suspended on condition Stevenson refrain from the use of liquor and pay court costs of $4.45.

Ronald B. Henry, 16, Cresaptown, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of unauthorized use of an automobile and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew. He received a suspended fine of $10 and 75 cents costs for driving without a license.

Berry, court attaches said, admitted taking the parked car of Earl F. Dick, also of Cresaptown, about 11 p. m. Monday from the Atlantic Service Station in Cresaptown, and picking up Robert H. Kerns, 16, Frostburg, who was hitchhikking. No charges were placed against Kerns.

The pair was arrested in Keyser by Police Officer Lawrence McDonald.

Georges Creek Masons Install Officers

At the regular communication of Georges Creek Valley Lodge No. 161, A. F. and A. M., held last night in Lonaconing, officers for 1947 were installed. Thirty-five members were present.

The installation ceremony for the new worshipful master, James McElvie, was conducted by his father, James A. McElvie, Sr., Lonaconing. All of the other officers were installed by A. Wayne Reed, district grand lecturer, assisted by Lewis W. Hicks, district grand inspector. Refreshments were served following the installation ceremonies.

Besides McElvie, new officers are Fred L. Stoudt, senior warden; Ervin D. Lewis, junior warden; Virgil Alexander, senior deacon; Arthur G. Phillips, junior deacon; George C. Gardner, senior steward; Ernest Smith, junior steward; David Miller, tiler; Lowell M. Sowers, chaplain; James A. McElvie, secretary; and Edward A. Patterson, treasurer.

Senator Kimble Assumes Duties In Annapolis

Senator Robert B. Kimble, member of the State Senate from Allegany county since 1935, was sworn in for another term at Annapolis yesterday after being prevented from attending the opening session last week due to illness.

Senator Kimble immediately assumed his duties as minority floor leader, and said he expected to confer with Senate Republicans on suggestions on committee membership.

Earlier, Senate President Byrnes (D-Baltimore, 5th) said he had been withholding announcement of committee memberships until Senator Kimble had made his suggestions.

Grand Jury Terms Pigeons At Court House 'Nuisance'

32 Indictments Are Returned By Body

The Grand Jury of the January Term of Circuit Court returned 32 indictments and recommended some action to rid the Court House of pigeons "which have become a nuisance" in the report submitted to the judges of Circuit Court before their dismissal yesterday afternoon.

Chief Judge William A. Huster thanked the jurymen for their work and said he felt sure that they now know more about the difficulties experienced by the law enforcement officers in running down a case.

Jury Dismissed

The jurors were also informed that while they were being dismissed they would be subject to recall at any time deemed necessary until the April term of court convenes.

In reference to the pigeons the grand jury reported that an inspection of the court house was made, and while conditions were found to be good a recommendation was being made to have the cupola on top of the building closed so that pigeons could not get in.

It was also recommended that some action be taken to rid the Court House of the pigeons, which have become "not only a nuisance but are damaging the building immeasureably."

A recommendation was also made that the sanitary facilities at the County Home be enlarged on the second floor. "We do not believe the institution to be sufficient to take care of the demand that is made upon it," the statement said, "and we recommend that the County Commissioners enlarge this institution at as early a date as conditions will permit."

In reference to law and order, the grand jury reported that police officials from all cities and towns in Allegany County appeared before the grand jury and said that to their knowledge there were no serious violations.

Repairs Recommended

The report also recommended that a leak in the roof of Sylvan Retreat be repaired and other minor matters attended to when materials are available.

The county officials were commended for their work in their respective offices.

The report was signed by William J. Edwards, foreman of the grand jury along with Kenneth S. Hopwood and Howard Perrin, clerks.

No indication was given as to the persons indicted but witnesses seen in the Court House yesterday morning just before the grand jury was dismissed included Milton Bernstein, expected to appear in regard to the recent robbery of the Bernstein Furniture Store, and Phil Fleming, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion. The Legion was recently victimized by four youths who stole seven slot machines from the post home.

Traffic Club Sees Motion Picture Of Altoona Works

A motion picture featuring all phases of locomotive building, from the casting stage down to the machining of main side rods and operations of heavy hydraulic presses; the assembly line methods of building freight cars and the many intricate designs in the reconditioning and building of passenger coaches and dining cars.

W. A. Nickol, supervisor of expenditures, Altoona, explained the pictures, following which there was a general round table discussion. H. J. Kleine, master mechanic of the Juniata Shop, one of the three major units of the Altoona works project, in reply to questions from his audience, told of the many tests necessary and compared the results of some of the comparative operations of the steam, electric and diesel types of motive power now in the service on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

While there is at present a definite trend among all of the country's railroads to adopt diesel power, the speaker said, the newer developments in steam engine design, may in time even forge ahead of the diesel and electric types, unless they in turn continue to be improved.

Freight car loadings for the first quarter of 1947 are expected to be 8.8 percent greater than in the same period of 1946, Leo H. Fey, Kelly Springfield Tire Company, said in handling the business docket for the evening.

The Office of Defense Transportation, Ley said, was one of the agencies retained when President Truman declared an end to hostilities on December 31, and its life will depend upon further action by Congress.

Arrangements for the meeting were under the direction of J. A. Sladen, district freight agent, P. R. R., Altoona, Clarence E. Gehr, and John L. Carnochan.

Patrick Carroll Is Ill

Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the Cumberland office of the United States Unemployment Service, was reported "a little better" last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted yesterday at 1:45 a. m. after he suffered a heart attack at his home, 308 Cumberland street.

FIRST TWINS OF NEW YEAR—Mrs. James E. Sittig, 60 Beall street, Frostburg, is seen above proudly holding her twin sons who were born in Allegany Hospital Monday morning. The first boy, weighing five pounds, 13 ounces, made his appearance at 10:45 a. m. and the second, who weighed six pounds, two ounces, arrived one minute later. Mrs. Sittig, the former Miss Louise Chambers, is the wife of James E. Sittig, who is learning to become a machinist in Frostburg under the GI Bill of Rights. He is a veteran of four years of service in World War II. The couple have one other son, James, 4. The second set of twins of the year were born in Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Simpson, Route 3, Bedford, Pa. The girl was born at 3:54 a. m. and the boy at 4:03 a.m.

Mayles Will Head New Association Of Fire Chiefs

William Mayles, chief of the Westernport Fire Department, was elected president of the Allegany and Garrett County Fire Chiefs Association at the organization meeting last night at the home of LaVale Volunteer Fire Department. By laws also were adopted.

Membership is open to chiefs, past chiefs and line officers of volunteer fire companies in the two counties.

Officers elected besides Mayles include E. T. Beachley, LaVale, vice president; Harry Wilson, Baltimore Pike, secretary; Joseph Wenrich, Cresaptown, treasurer; Charles Patterson, Bloomington, John Shoemaker, Accident, Harry Martz, Corriganville, E. M. McKenzie, Cresaptown, and Felix Foote, Lonaconing, trustees.

These officers will serve until the convention, to be held the second Wednesday in May at a place to be decided upon.

Aims of the association are to provide closer fellowship among the fire companies and to become familiar with equipment of other companies so it can be operated by different crews in event of a catastrophe.

Firefighting tactics will be discussed at meetings of the association, and motion pictures of equipment and firemen in action will be shown, among other things.

Meetings will be held the second Wednesday of every month, the next meeting to be held at the home of Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Department on February 12 at 7:30 p. m.

Frostburg Linemen Vote Against Utility Workers

Frostburg line department employes of the Potomac Edison Company voted 14 to 10 yesterday afternoon against being represented for collective bargaining by the Utility Workers Union of America, CIO, James H. Dean, president of Local 331 of the Utility Workers, said last night.

The election was held at Frostburg line department headquarters, Grant street, Frostburg. Line foremen and clerical workers were excluded from voting, and all of the 24 employes eligible to vote did so. Employes on the payroll for the period ending December 31 were eligible.

R. R. Miller, Baltimore, field examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, supervised the election. Ballots were counted immediately. Watcher for the union was Ralph T. McKenzie, a Frostburg line department employe, and John F. Rowe, also a Frostburg employe, was watcher for the company.

Wilkinson Orders Lock At Court House Changed

Keys Workers Have Now Are Useless

The old keys to the front doors of Allegany County Court House were useless last night, after lock combinations were changed on an order from C. N. "Jerry" Wilkinson, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, and employes were wondering how to get to their offices henceforth.

Commissioner Wilkinson, (who with Commissioner William Lemmert), have attempted to evict the county tax collector and his help from their office, refused to make any comment on the change of lock combinations other than to say it "has been considered for sometime."

What was confusing most of the employes of the court house, was the fact that they are frequently required to return to their offices at night, but Jonas Myers, night watchman, said he would admit no one without a key.

Bruce Wilson, local contractor, said he changed the combination on the locks yesterday afternoon, after being hired to do so by Wilkinson, and added that he also "recut" one of the old keys to fit the locks and gave it to Alvin V. Snider, day custodian at the court house.

Order Applies To All

Myers, who was on duty last night, said his orders when he was hired to admit no one without a key at night, and he was abiding by it. He admitted that as far as he was concerned the order applied to judges, the clerk of court or any one else.

Alban Thompson, assistant county tax collector, said yesterday that he felt the order to change lock combinations were really aimed at Lucian C. Radcliffe, county tax collector, and himself, since the commissioners have already issued orders for them to quit the office they are now using to make collections.

James Holmes, the third member of the County Commissioner's Board, said last night that he had heard nothing about the order, and added "I have attended every board meeting since the new commissioners have taken office and it was never mentioned."

Usually such changes are discussed by the commissioners, Holmes said, before they are made. The sudden change was termed a "little irregular," by Holmes.

Yesterday afternoon some of the employes were forced to leave by the cellar door because a key is required to open the front doors from the inside as well as out. Joseph C. Boden, employed in the clerk of court's office, said he went out by the cellar door for the first time in 27 years.

Myers said only one person, a man he could not identify, asked to be admitted to the court house last night to "complete some work in his office." He was refused, Myers said because he didn't have a key that would fit the lock.

All of the clerks and employes agreed that the possibility of being locked out and prevented from doing night work may cause a backlog of records of pile up, if the order is kept in force.

Local attorneys said the Court House should be open to the clerk and judges 24 hours a day for such work as issuing writs of habas corpus. One attorney said such action as refusing admittance to court workers many constitute contempt of court.

Will Cut Another Key

Wilson said he will cut another key today but did not say to whom it would be given. A note was left for the night man, however, informing him that he should call today to receive a key.

Commissioner Lemmert, when informed of the situation last night, said he knew that some repair work to the doors had been planned, but denied any knowledge of combination changes on the locks. Asked if it may be aimed at the tax collector's office, he replied "I know nothing about the change, but feel sure no such thing was intended."

Prior to the change most of the employes had keys to permit them to enter the building when they desired, but unless new keys are issued that privilege will be denied them now.

Wilson would not say if the locks were defective when he changed the

DEATHS

MRS BESSIE SMITH

Mrs. Bessie Smith, 54, wife of Thaddeus Smith, Green Ridge farmer, died last night about 8 o'clock in Allegany Hospital where she had been a patient for a week.

She was a native of Piney Grove, a daughter of the late George and Susan Smith Nolan.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Flossie Lawrence, Baltimore, and Mrs. Nellie Ault, Green Ridge; two sons, Bruce Smith, Baltimore, and Carl Smith, at home; two sisters, Mrs. George Nagel, Baltimore, and Mrs. Betty Smith, Green Ridge, and two brothers, George and Tait Nolan, both of this city.

HENDRICKSON RITES

Funeral services for Charles M. Hendrickson, 70, retired Baltimore pike farmer who died Sunday in Allegany Hospital, were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. in the Kight Funeral Home.

Rev. Richard H. Bready, pastor of Pleasant Grove Methodist Church, and Rev. B. F. Hartman officiated and interment was in Pleasant Grove Cemetery. Pallbearers were Franklin Perrin, Leslie Wilson, John and Robert Reed, Roy Athey and Howard Messick.

CHARLES W. THOMAS

The body of Charles W. Thomas, 132 North Centre street, who died in the Embassy Theater Tuesday night, is at the Stein Funeral Home.

Mr. Thomas was found dead after the theater closed and Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death resulted from a heart condition.

He was a lifelong resident of this city and was formerly employed as a laborer here. He was about 75 years old, authorities believed.

Survivors were listed last night as two sons, James Thomas, with the Army, and Charles Thomas, address unknown, and two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Palmer, address unknown, and Mrs. Cora Purnell, Washington, D. C.

SIRBAUGH RITES

Funeral services for Alfred Sirbaugh, 32, Paw Paw, W. Va., a veteran of World War II, who died Monday in Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered in a fall here Saturday, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. in Woodrow, W. Va., Union Church.

Rev. Adam Grimm will officiate. Military rites will be accorded at the burial service in the church cemetery.

A native of Woodrow, he was a son of Mrs. Myrtle Sirbaugh, who married Harry Alderton, Woodrow, after the death of her first husband, Frank J. Sirbaugh.

Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Luzze Sirbaugh, Baltimore; one child; a brother, Charles Sirbaugh, this city, and five sisters, Mrs. Charles McElfish, this city; Mrs. Conn Ryan and Mrs. Rodney Miller, both of Woodrow; Mrs. Clifton McDonald, Paw Paw, and Mrs. Helena Smith, Baltimore.

GEORGE HILE RITES

Funeral services for George L. "Bill" Hile, 61, a former resident of this city, who died yesterday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Rosenburg, Neptune, N. J., will be conducted there Saturday at 4 p. m.

Mr. Hile came to Cumberland when the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company began operations and was a foreman there for several years. He later was custodian of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks for about 10 years.

In failing health for several years, he left Cumberland several months ago to reside with his sister.

CARMICHAEL RITES

Funeral services for Col. John Carmichael, 70, former resident of this city and superintendent of stores of the Western Maryland Railway in Hagerstown, who died of a heart condition at his home in Hagerstown Tuesday, will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the home in Hagerstown. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery there.

Born May 17, 1875, in Lexington, Va., Col. Carmichael had been associated with the railway since 1902. Prior to that time he was employed by the B. and O. Railroad Company.

Union Seeks New Contract With 5 Dairies Of Area

Jack Moore To Head Milk Drivers Local

Representatives of Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, will meet Tuesday, January 14, at 7 p. m. at the Queen City Dairy here to continue negotiations on a contract with five dairies of the Cumberland area.

Jack F. Moore, president and business agent of the local, said all issues in the agreement have been settled except for the wage clause and a union request for a 30-day reopening clause in the contract which will be retroactive to January 1 and continue until April 1, 1948.

The meeting will be attended by managers of the Queen City, Farmers, Liberty, Llewellyn and Mason dairies, and by Commissioner G. Harry Young, Harrisburg, Pa., representing the conciliation service.

Moore said negotiations for the contract began December 13 and said meetings were held December 13, 16, 20 and 27 and on last Friday, when Commissioner Young entered the negotiations.

The 18 months contract, union officials said, was agreed upon by the union and dairies so that newly elected officers of the local might participate actively in the contract talks. Officers are elected in November and December and contracts have been ending at the last of the year. Future contracts will be for 12 months, union officials said.

The new officers installed January 2, include: Moore, president and business agent; Ernest Screen, vice president; Joseph J. Garlitz, secretary-treasurer, and Aubra Beeghly, re-elected as recording secretary.

Committee To Plan For YMCA Dinner

Plans for the annual dinner of Central YMCA, set for Tuesday, January 28, will be made at a meeting of the committee on arrangements today at 4 p. m. at the "Y", according to Robert L. Sisson, general YMCA secretary.

Sisson returned early yesterday morning after a week's absence, during which he visited his parents in Binghamton, N. Y., and attended a one-day conference of the Association of Secretaries of the Central Atlantic Area, YMCA, held Tuesday in Trenton, N. J.

Lloyd Rawlings, immediate past president of the "Y", is chairman of the committee arranging for the dinner. He will be assisted by Rev. William A. Eisenberger, Victor D. Heisey and Sisson.

Sisson announced last night that Spencer Miller, Jr., a member of the New Jersey State Legislature, will be unable to attend the dinner as chief speaker. Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, Baltimore, state supervisor of high schools, has accepted an invitation extended by Rawlings to give the principal address at the event.

Approximately 800 ballots have been mailed to all members of Central YMCA over 16 years of age, who are eligible to vote for 10 members of the board of directors whose terms will begin this year. The ballots should be returned to the "Y" not later than Monday, January 20, so that they can be tabulated in readiness for announcement of new board members at the dinner meeting.

The regular Rec Club dance will be held tomorrow at 9 p. m. in the "Y" gymnasium, Sisson said.

C. E. Geis Will Post Bond Today

Indicted by the federal grand jury in Baltimore on seven charges of embezzlement, Charles E. Geis, 45, Frostburg, former window clerk in the Cumberland branch office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, will appear before Deputy United States Clerk C. Edgar Keller at 9:45 a. m. today to post bond of $1,000, Howard P. Loughrie, deputy United States marshal, said last night.

Geis, a former miner in the Frostburg section, was brought to Cumberland yesterday by his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, Loughrie said, from Kingwood, W. Va., where he has been employed recently by the Jenkins Coal Company.

Geis was to have appeared to post bond yesterday, but a bench warrant issued in Baltimore was not received here. In the meantime he was released in custody of his attorney.

Anthony Pudcell, assistant United States district attorney, said Geis is charged with seven embezzlements of income tax payments, and that a total of $1,606.86 was misappropriated.

Educational Program Is Outlined By Kopp

Narrow traditions and superficial points of view must be shaken off and the meaning of life studied more deeply, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools declared in the opening broadcast over WTBO, of a 22 program schedule.

The task of keeping abreast of and meeting educational needs in a constantly changing world is not a simple one, Kopp declared, adding that today's schools are a far cry from the first high school established in Boston during 1634.

The kind of education that will best serve the interest of students who do not go to college, or seek higher learning, is a matter of major concern to educators, he pointed out, adding that "we must be keenly conscious that the youth of today become the full-fledged citizens of tomorrow."

Solid Americans must work in unity to rear a generation of youth to possess clear heads and stout hearts, and this must be the endeavor of all he explained.

No Progress Reported At Celanese Wage Meet

Union And Company Plan Session Friday

Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the rayon division of Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, reported last night that "no progress" was made yesterday afternoon in the negotiations for an 18 cent wage increase for the 8,500 members of Local 1874, TWUA, employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

The meeting, arranged by Conciliator James Crockett of the Department of Labor, lasted from 2 to 5 p. m. and was held at the Celanese plant.

Cook said the union's negotiating committee will meet with officials of the company again tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Cook, who led the union delegation at the negtiations, said the union cited the 15 cent increase negotiated for some 29,000 workers in the woolen industry as an example of what th rayon industry should do.

Another Meeting Planned

Company officials did not comment on the wage negotiations yesterday except to say that the session lasted about three hours and that Commissioner Crockett had made arrangements for the meeting Friday.

The negotiation committee of the union rejected a five cent hourly wage boost offered by the company early in December and did not present that offer to the membreship when the members unanimously voted, at meetings last Wednesday and Thursday, to empower the committee to call a work stoppage at the Amcelle plant when it feels that further negotiations on the 18 cent wage demand are useless.

Union officials said the five cents offered here by the Celanese Corporation is the highest wage boost offered for record in the industry. Negotiations are now in progress for 35,000 of the 40,000 rayon workers.

It is understood that 10 and 12 cent increases have been offered "off the record" by other companies of the rayon industry but neither company nor union officials would confirm the report.

Offers Arbitration

William Boyd Coleman, TWUA president, said the union yesterday suggested that if the company would grant a 10 cent increase and submit to arbitration the difference between 10 and 18 cents, the negotiation committee would recommend the offer to the membership.

The union again offered to arbitrate the whole wage issue in the interest of continued industrial peace in Cumberland, Coleman added.

Union officials said the company declined to consider arbitration in any form on the wage question and company officials confirmed the action last night.

Cook presented a report on the negotiations here as well as other units of the rayon industry at a well attended membership meeting last night.

Both company and union officials reported operations at the plant were normal yesterday after a brief work stoppage Tuesday when about 100 downtwist workers protested the discharge of an employe. Production was not delayed by the stoppage, company officials said.

Operations at the plant were reported normal yesterday following a work stoppage in the Downtwist Department in protest against the discharge of an employe, accused of sleeping on the job.

McCauley-Cosner Petitions Argued In Supreme Court

Judge See Defends His Jury Action

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 8 (AP)—Two sensational Eastern Panhandle murder cases reached the State Supreme Court today, with counsel for one of the principals under sentence of death arguing his client's conviction was improper because he did not know right from wrong.

Attorney R. G. Shores told the court that Mark Roy McCauley, 30-year-old strip coal miner of Davis under sentence to be hanged January 17, never had recovered from a mental illness which at one time turned him into a "raving maniac."

In the other case, Circuit Judge Ernest A. See defended as both constitutional and proper his action in summoning jurors from Tucker county for the murder trial in the adjoining county of Mineral of Oscar Cosner, 36-year-old Keyser mail carrier indicted for murder after his wife was found beaten to death with a baseball bat.

McCauley is under death sentence for the slaying of State Policeman Sgt. Joseph Horne who with Tucker County Sheriff O. Gay Hovatter was killed and Hovatter's son injured when they sought to arrest the miner last September 9 at Emoryville, Mineral County, charged with stealing a truck.

Since the trial, Shores said evidence had been discovered that McCauley was confined as a "raving maniac" in a Stockton, Cal., mental institution.

Shores said the defendant was then suffering and continues to be afflicted by syphilis and that if given the opportunity at a second trial it could be shown that McCauley "has never been cured of his condition, and that this syphilitic condition has affected his brain to such an extent that he cannot distinguish between right and wrong."

When Cosner was brought to trial last November, the Circuit Court examined 96 prospective jurors without qualifying a panel of 20, whereupon Judge See directed that 48 prospective jurors be summoned from neighboring Tucker County.

Attorneys for Cosner brought the Supreme Court action on the premise their client should be "tried in the county where he was born and reared, where he is known and where the witnesses who will testify against him are known."

They argued the point—denied by Judge See—that the recent conviction in Mineral County for Mark McCauley, a Tucker countian, for first degree murder after the slaying of State Police Sgt. Joseph Horne and Tucker Sheriff Hovatter would tend to prevent a fair trial by a Tucker jury.

The purpose of all law, said counsel for Judge See, "is to secure for the accused and the state a jury completely impartial in order that justice may be done both to the accused and to the public."

"The facts of this case are such," Judge See continued, "that it was obvious that an impartial and competent jury could not be conveniently obtained, but could be obtained only with great difficulty and great expense, if at all."

'Life With Father' To Be Presented Here This Evening

Tonight at 8:15 "Life With Father" will be unfolded on the stage of Fort Hill High School before what is expected to be a large audience. No recent event in Cumberland has been anticipated more eagerly than the performance of this highly praised comedy, which has been so aptly labeled "America's No. 1 entertainment."

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club, which has arranged the local presentation of the play as a benefit for its Sunshine Camp Fund for underpivileged children reports a successful sale of tickets.

James W. Bishop, chairman of the Kiwanis committee handling the arrangements for the show, said last night there are still good seats left for tonight's performance. He added that tickets can be purchased at Rosenbaum's store until 5 p. m. today and at the box office at Fort Hill auditorium tonight prior to the show.

The touring production, under the guidance of Cargill, Kling and Jones, promises to be a faithful copy of the one that has kept audiences laughing in New York and on the road for the past seven years. Its company of Broadway actors and and actresses is headed by two distinguished players, Brandon Peters and Alice Thomson, (Mrs. Peters), who are the third husband-and-wife team to portray Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Day (Father and Vinnie) in this piece of "superb entertainment".

Directors Of Nurses Will Attend Meeting

Miss Frances L. Loftus, director of nurses at Memorial Hospital, and Sister Fidelis, director of nurses at Allegany Hospital, said yesterday that they plan to attend the midwinter session of the Maryland State Nurses Association in Baltimore January 23 and 24.

Other representatives of the two local hospitals are also expected to attend the meeting.

B. & O. Brakeman Is Injured In Fall

A local B. and O. brakeman who was struck by a passing freight car and knocked in front of the car on which he was riding at the eastbound hump yesterday at 1 p. m. was reported "resting fairly well" last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted for treatment of back injuries.

The workman, Ben J. Bittner, 31, 924 Kent avenue, was admitted at 1:15 p. m. and members of the family said they were told that X-rays taken yesterday afternoon showed no fractures.

Bittner was reported to have been riding a car on the hump when he leaned over to adjust the brake and was struck by a car on an adjoining track. He was knocked from the car and fell on his back on the rail but managed to roll out of the way, the family was told.

Mrs. Effie Weber, 60, wife of George Weber, 31 Ridgeway terrace, was admitted to the same hospital at 11:05 a. m. for treatment of a possible fracture of the left shoulder. Attaches were told Mrs. Weber was injured when she fell down a flight of steps at a local restaurant. Attaches reported her condition good after a cast was applied.

One Inch Of New Snow Reported In Grantsville

Although the mercury stood at 34 degrees here last night, with cloudy weather, the temperature was down to 20 degrees at Deal, Pa., with two inches of old snow still on the ground, and 24 at Thomas, W. Va. Cloudy weather was reported at both places.

Highways in both Garrett and Allegany counties were reported clear, but high winds, snowfall of one inch and falling temperatures were reported from Grantsville. The new fall was in addition to the six or seven inches of snow which blanketed Garrett county Sunday night.

The low temperature in Cumberland was 32 degrees yesterday, while the high was 42 in the afternoon.

Fair and somewhat colder weather was forecast today, with increasing cloudiness and moderately cold weather tomorrow.
